Geoff Rodoreda, Eva Bischoff

Mabo What The High Court Said:

Aboriginal Customary Law: A Source of Common Law Title to Land Ulla Secher, 2014-12-01 Described as ground breaking in Kent McNeil's Foreword this book develops an alternative approach to conventional Aboriginal title doctrine. It explains that aboriginal customary law can be a source of common law title to land in former British colonies whether they were acquired by settlement or by conquest or cession from another colonising power. The doctrine of Common Law Aboriginal Customary Title provides a coherent approach to the source, content, proof and protection of Aboriginal land rights which overcomes problems arising from the law as currently understood and leads to more just results. The doctrine's applicability in Australia, Canada and South Africa is specifically demonstrated. While the jurisprudential underpinnings for the doctrine are consistent with fundamental common law principles, the author explains that the Australian High Court's decision in Mabo provides a broader basis for the doctrine, a broader basis which is consistent with a re-evaluation of case law from former British colonies in Africa as well as from the United States, New Zealand and Canada. In this context, the book proffers a reconceptualisation of the Crown's title to land in former colonies and a reassessment of conventional doctrines including the doctrine of tenure and the doctrine of continuity. With rare exceptions, the existing literature does not probe as deeply or question fundamental assumptions as thoroughly as Dr Secher does in her research. She goes to the root of the conceptual problems around the legal nature of Indigenous land rights and their vulnerability to extinguishment in the former colonial empire of the Crown. This book is a formidable contribution that I expect will be influential in shifting legal thinking on Indigenous land rights in progressive new directions. Voices in the Wilderness Michael Meadows, 2000-12-30 This book examines race relations in Australia through various media representations over the past 200 years. The early colonial press perpetuated the image of aboriginal people as framed by early explorers and stereotypes, and assumptions still prevail. Print and television news accounts of several key events in recent Australian history are compared and reveal how indigenous sources are excluded from stories about their affairs. Journalists wield extraordinary power in shaping the images of cultures and people, so indigenous people like those in North America have turned away from mainstream media and have acquired their own means of cultural production through radio, television and multimedia. This study concludes with suggestions for addressing media practices to reconcile indigenous and non-indigenous people. This study will appeal to students and scholars studying mass media, particularly journalism and public relations, Australian history and sociology.

Contesting Native Title David Ritter, 2020-08-26 This book debunks in spectacular fashion some of the most treasured, over-inflated claims of the benefits of native title. Professor Mick Dodson, ANU Centre for Indigenous Studies, David Ritter's fascinating account of the evolution of the native title system is elegant and incisive, scholarly and sceptical, above all unfailingly intelligent. Professor Robert Manne, La Trobe University. An unsentimental, richly informed account of a fascinating period in the history of Australia's relationships with its indigenous people From the Foreword by Chief Justice Robert French After the historic Mabo judgement in 1992 Aboriginal communities had high hopes of obtaining land rights around Australia What followed is a dramatic story of hard fought contests over land resources money and power yielding many frustrations and mixed outcomes Based on extensive research enriched by intimate experience as a lawyer and negotiator David Ritter offers both an insider's perspective and a cool headed and broad ranging account of the native title system In lucid prose Ritter examines the contributions of the players that contested and adjudicated native title Aboriginal leaders and their communities multinational resource companies pastoralists courts and tribunals politicians and bureaucrats His account lays bare the conflicts compromises and conceits beneath the surface of the native title process The American Empire and the Fourth World Anthony J. Peoples, Colonialism and International Law Irene Watson,2014-10-17 This work is the first to assess the legality and impact of colonisation from the viewpoint of Aboriginal law rather than from that of the dominant Western legal tradition It begins by outlining the Aboriginal legal system as it is embedded in Aboriginal people s complex relationship with their ancestral lands This is Raw Law a natural system of obligations and benefits flowing from an Aboriginal ontology This book places Raw Law at the centre of an analysis of colonisation thereby decentring the usual analytical tendency to privilege the dominant structures and concepts of Western law From the perspective of Aboriginal law colonisation was a violation of the code of political and social conduct embodied in Raw Law Its effects were damaging It forced Aboriginal peoples to violate their own principles of natural responsibility to self community country and future existence But this book is not simply a work of mourning Most profoundly it is a celebration of the resilience of Aboriginal ways and a call for these to be recognised as central in discussions of colonial and postcolonial legality Written by an experienced legal practitioner scholar and political activist AboriginalPeoples Colonialism and International Law Raw Law will be of interest to students and researchers of Indigenous Peoples Rights International Law and Critical Legal Theory Annual Bibliography Australian

Refugees Suzanne Little,Samid Suliman,Caroline Wake,2022-12-30 This book offers a unique Australian perspective on the global crisis in refugee protection Using performance as both an object and a lens this volume explores the politics and aesthetics of migration control border security and refugee resistance The first half of the book titled On Stage examines performance objects such as verbatim and documentary plays children s theatre immersive performance slam poetry video art and feature films Specifically it considers how refugees and their artistic collaborators assert their individuality agency and authority as well as their resistance to cruel policies like offshore processing through performance The second half of the book titled Off Stage employs performance as a lens to analyse the wider field of refugee politics including the relationship between forced migrants and the forced displacement of First Nations peoples that underpins the settler colonial state philosophies of cosmopolitanism the role of the canon in art history and the spectacle of bordering practices In doing so it illuminates the strategic performativity and nonperformativity of the law philosophy the state and the academy more broadly in the exclusion and control of refugees Taken together the chapters in this volume draw on and contribute to a wide range of disciplines including theatre and performance studies cultural studies border studies and forced migration studies and will be of great interest to students and scholars in all four fields

Law as if Earth Really Mattered Nicole Rogers, Michelle Maloney, 2017-04-21 This book is a collection of judgments drawn from the innovative Wild Law Judgment Project In participating in the Wild Law Judgment Project which was inspired by various feminist judgment projects contributors have creatively reinterpreted judicial decisions from an Earth centred point of view by rewriting existing judgments or creating fictional judgments as wild law Authors have confronted the specific challenges of aligning existing Western legal systems with Thomas Berry s philosophy of Earth jurisprudence through judgment writing and rewriting This book thus opens up judicial decision making and the common law to critical scrutiny from a wild law or Earth centred perspective Based upon ecocentric rather than human centred or anthropocentric principles Earth jurisprudence poses a unique critical challenge to the dominant anthropocentric or human centred focus and orientation of the common law The authors interrogate the anthropocentric and property rights assumptions embedded in existing common law by placing Earth and the greater community of life at the centre of their rewritten and hypothetical judgments Covering areas as diverse as tort law intellectual property law criminal law environmental law administrative law international law native title law and constitutional law this unique collection provides a valuable tool for practitioners and students who are interested in learning more about the emerging ecological jurisprudence movement It helps us to see more clearly what a new system of law might look like one in which Earth really matters

Mabos Cultural Legacy Geoff Rodoreda, Eva Bischoff, 2021-06-08 More than any other event in Australia s legal political and cultural history the High Court of Australia s 1992 Mabo decision challenged previous ways of thinking about land identity belonging the nation and history Now more than a quarter of a century after Mabo this book examines the broader impacts of this landmark legal decision on various forms of Australian culture and cultural practice How is Australia s post Mabo imaginary being reflected refracted and articulated in contemporary film fiction poetry biography and other forms of cultural expression To what extent has the discussion and practice of history linguistics anthropology and other branches of the humanities been challenged or transformed by Mabo While the judges in Mabo recognised native title they also denied Indigenous people sovereignty over the continent how is First Nations sovereignty being articulated and creatively imagined in more recent post Mabo discourse This interdisciplinary book offering a transnational perspective via scholars based in Australia continental Europe and the UK provides an overview of the diverse impact and discursive influence of Mabo on fields of artistic endeavour and cultural practice in Australia today

Hybrid Geographies Sarah Whatmore, 2002-11-04 Hybrid Geographies is one of the most original and important contributions to our field in the last 30 years At once immensley provocative and productive it is written with uncommon clarity and grace and promises to breathe new life not only into geographical inquiry but into critical practice across the spectrum of the humanities and social sciences and beyond An extraordinary achievement Professor Derek Gregory Department of Geography University of British Columbia Hybrid Geographies critically examines the opposition between nature and culture the material and the social as represented in scientific environmental and popular discourses Demonstrating that the world is not an exclusively human achievement Hybrid Geographies reconsiders the relation between human and non human the social and the material showing how they are intimately and variously linked General arguments informed by work in critical geography feminist theory environmental ethics and science studies are illustrated throughout with detailed case study material This exemplifies the two core themes of the book a consideration of hybridity the human non human relation and of the fault lines in the spatial organization of society and nature Hybrid Geographies is essential reading for students in the social sciences with an interest in nature space and social theory

The March of Patriots Paul Kelly, 2011-04-01 Unveiling the inside story of how Paul Keating and John Howard changed Australia this record presents these two personalities as conviction politicians tribal warriors and national interest patriots Divided by belief temperament and party they were united by generation city and the challenge to make Australia into a successful nation for the globalized age The making of policy and the uses of power are explored capturing the authentic nature of Australian politics as distinct from the polemics advanced by both sides Focusing on how these prime ministers altered the nation s direction this study also depicts how they redefined their parties and struggled over Australia s new economic social cultural and foreign policy agendas A sequel to the author s bestselling The End of Certainty this survey is based on more than 100 interviews with the two key players as well as other politicians advisers and public servants

Land Claims and National Parks-- the Makuleke Experience Bertus De Villiers, 1999 The restoration of land rights is a key factor in South Africa s transformation The complexities surrounding the restoration of land rights are often underestimated and the competing interests involved can cause the process to be protracted and emotional Conflict of interest can be particularly great when land claims are instituted against national parks and other conservation areas cherished by the nation While such parks and areas are vital for the local regional economic development of South Africa historical wrings which may have led to the establishment of these parks must also be rectified Many parks and conservation areas or parts thereof were after all established on land that had been expropriated from black people No Small Change Frank Brennan, 2015-05-01 In 1967 Australians voted overwhelmingly in favor of removing from the Constitution two references that discriminated against Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people Though these seemed like small amendments they were an impetus for real change from terra nullius to land rights and from assimilation to self determination Nearly 50 years later there is a groundswell of support for our Indigenous heritage to be formally recognized in the Constitution With the prospect of a new referendum in the near future Frank Brennan considers how far Australians have come and yet how much work lies ahead He looks through the prism of history to examine what we can learn from our successes and failures since 1967 from the efforts of the Council of Aboriginal Affairs to the Gove land rights case and the Aboriginal Tent Embassy He also assesses the way forward how the upcoming referendum might provide fresh momentum for governments and Indigenous Australians to negotiate better outcomes Written by one of the most respected commentators on legal and human rights issues this book makes a vital contribution to the understanding of Indigenous affairs It will generate crucial debate on how Australians should acknowledge the history that for too long has gone unrecognized
