

Marie Kiraly

Brain-Friendly Strategies for Developing Student Writing Skills Anne Hanson,2008-10-14 Aligned with core principles of effective instruction this resource provides brain compatible strategies reflection questions and cross curricular writing activities to boost students writing and achievement After Dracula Alison Peirse,2013-08-28 After Dracula tells of films set in London music halls and Yorkshire coal mines South Sea Islands and Hungarian modernist houses of horror with narrators that survey the outskirts of contemporary Paris and travel back in time to ancient Egypt Alison Peirse argues that Dracula 1931 has been canonised to the detriment of other innovative and original 1930s horror films in Europe and America By casting out the deified vampire she reveals a cycle of films made over the 1930s that straddle both the pre and post regulatory era of the Hays Production Code an stringent censorship from the British Board of Film Censors These films are indepenedent and studio productions literary adaptations folktales and original screenplays and include Werewolf of London The Man Who Changed His Mind Island of Lost Souls and Vampyr The book considers the horror genre s international evolution during this period engaging with a number of European horror films that have hitherto received cursory attention It focuses on the interplay between Continental British and transatlantic contexts and particularly on the intriguing the obscure and the underrated Hooked on Horror Anthony J. Fonseca,June Michele Pulliam,1999 A description of about 1000 contemporary and classic titles in horror fiction There is background information on the history trends and appeal of the genre Works are classified into 13 sub genres keywords are listed with each entry to lead users to related titles and awards are cited The Living Dead James B. Twitchell,1981 In his Preface to The Living Dead A Study of the Vampire in Romantic Literature James Twitchell writes that he is not interested in the current generation of vampires which he finds rude boring and hopelessly adolescent However they have not always been this way In fact a century ago they were often quite sophisticated used by artists varied as Blake Poe Coleridge the Brontes Shelley and Keats to explain aspects of interpersonal relations However vulgar the vampire has since become it is important to remember that along with the Frankenstein monster the vampire is one of the major mythic figures bequeathed to us by the English Romantics Simply in terms of cultural influence and currency the vampire is far more important than any other nineteenth century archetypes in fact he is probably the most enduring and prolific mythic figure we have This book traces the vampire out of folklore into serious art until he stabilizes early in this century into the character we all too easily recognize The Poe Cinema Don G. Smith,2003-05-08 Who can forget haunting tales like The Oblong Box Murders in the Rue Morgue The Pit and the Pendulum and Torture Garden This is a critical filmography of the 81 features from 13 countries that have adapted the literary works of

Edgar Allan Poe Each entry includes the title of the work year of release studio full cast and credits running time and a detailed plot synopsis Production and marketing notes first examine the degree to which the film is faithful to Poe's original work Pertinent career information for the primary actors and filmmakers anecdotes and perspectives from the principals and an overview of the marketing of the movie are next provided A thorough critical analysis including contemporary reviews of the film completes each entry Cyborgs, Santa Claus and Satan Fraser A. Sherman, 2015-09-03 In the three decades since the first SF film produced for television 1968's Shadow on the Land nearly 600 films initially released to television have had science fiction fantasy or horror themes Featuring superheroes monsters time travel and magic these films range from the phenomenal to the forgettable from low budget to blockbuster Information on all such American releases from 1968 through 1998 is collected here Each entry includes cast and credits a plot synopsis qualitative commentary and notes of interest on aspects of the film Appendices provide a list of other films that include some science fiction horror or fantasy elements a film chronology and a guide to alternate titles The Poetics and Politics of the American Gothic Agnieszka Soltysik Monnet, 2016-12-05 Taking as its point of departure recent insights about the performative nature of genre The Poetics and Politics of the American Gothic challenges the critical tendency to accept at face value that gothic literature is mainly about fear Instead Agnieszka Soltysik Monnet argues that the American Gothic and gothic literature in general is also about judgment how to judge and what happens when judgment is confronted with situations that defy its limits Poe Hawthorne Melville Gilman and James all shared a concern with the political and ideological debates of their time but tended to approach these debates indirectly Thus Monnet suggests while slavery and race are not the explicit subject matter of antebellum works by Poe and Hawthorne they nevertheless permeate it through suggestive analogies and tacit references Similarly Melville Gilman and James use the gothic to explore the categories of gender and sexuality that were being renegotiated during the latter half of the century Focusing on The Fall of the House of Usher The Marble Faun Pierre The Turn of the Screw and The Yellow Wallpaper Monnet brings to bear minor texts by the same authors that further enrich her innovative readings of these canonical works At the same time her study persuasively argues that the Gothic's endurance and ubiquity are in large part related to its being uniquely adapted to rehearse questions about judgment and justice that continue to fascinate and disturb Classic Horror Films and the Literature That Inspired Them Ron Backer, 2015-05-11 Classic horror films such as Dracula Frankenstein and The Picture of Dorian Gray are based on famous novels Less well known even to avid horror fans are the many other memorable films based on literary works Beginning in the silent era and continuing to the present numerous horror films found their inspiration in novels novellas short stories and poems though many of these written works are long forgotten This book examines 43 works of literature from the famous to the obscure that provided the basis for 62 horror films Both the written works and the films are analyzed critically with an emphasis on the symbiosis between the two Background on the authors and their writings is provided Commonweal

Family Secrets and the Psychoanalysis of Narrative

Esther Rashkin, 2014-07-14 Family Secrets and the Psychoanalysis of Narrative is the first book to explore the implications of the psychoanalytic theory of the phantom for the study of narrative literature A phantom is formed when a shameful unspeakable secret is unwittingly transmitted through cryptic language and behavior transgenerationally from one family member to another The haunted individual to whom the encrypted secret is communicated becomes the unwitting medium for someone else's voice and the result is speech and conduct that appear incongruous or obsessive in a variety of ways Through close readings of texts by Conrad Villiers de l'Isle Adam Balzac James and Poe Esther Rashkin reveals how shameful secrets concealed within the unspoken family histories of fictive characters can be reconstructed from their linguistic traces and can be shown not only to drive the characters' speech and behavior but also to generate their narratives First articulated by the French psychoanalysts Nicolas Abraham and Maria Torok the theory of the phantom here represents a radical departure from Freudian Lacanian and other psychoanalytic approaches to literary interpretation In Rashkin's hands it also provides a response to structuralist and poststructuralist critiques of character analysis an alternative to deconstructive strategies of reading and a new vantage point from which to consider problems of intertextuality authorship and the formation and origins of narrative Originally published in 1992 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905
