played by art in the formation of Deleuze's thought. By reproducing Deleuze's social and intellectual references, Sauvagnargues is able to construct a precise map of the totality of Deleuze's work, pinpointing where key Deleuzian concepts first emerge and eventually disappear. This innovative methodology, which Sauvagnargues calls periodization, provides a systematic historiography of Deleuze's philosophy that remains faithful to his affirmation of the principle of exteriority. By analyzing the external relations between Deleuze's self-proclaimed three philosophical periods, Sauvagnargues gives the reader an inside look into the conceptual and artistic landscape that surrounded Deleuze and the creation of his philosophy. With extreme clarity and precision, Sauvagnargues provides an important glimpse into Deleuze's philosophy by reconstructing the social and intellectual contexts that contributed to the trajectory of his thought. This book is the product of insightful and careful research, which has not been made available to English readers of Deleuze before now. Toni Morrison's Art. A Humanistic Exploration of The Bluest Eye and Beloved Sumedha Bhandari, 2017-02-08

Toni Morrison, the eighth American to receive the Nobel Prize in Literature, is perhaps the most formally sophisticated novelist in the history of African American literature. Astutely, she describes aspects of human lives and, unlike many other writers, reveals the hope and beauty that underlines the world's ugliness. Her artistic excellence lies in achieving a perfect balance between black literature and writing about the universal truth. Although firmly grounded in the cultural heritage and social concerns of black Americans, her work transcends narrowly prescribed conceptions of ethnic literature, exhibiting universal mythical patterns and overtones. Her novels thus mourn on universal concerns. The endeavor in this study is to scrutinize the unspoken lexis of Toni Morrison's works and to unveil the layers of humanistic concerns that provide denotations to her words. Earlier studies on this writer have concentrated on adjudging her as a writer addressing problems of black people. However, this book tries to extend this notion to encompass the problems of the whole human community by assimilating blacks in the general drama of life. Before dyeing the strings of Morrison's novels with the colour of humanist concerns, this book delineates the term Humanism from which these humanistic concerns arise. The Common Cause, 1913 Literature And Spirit David Patterson, 2021-03-17

If Bakhtin is right, Wayne C. Booth has said, a very great deal of what we western critics have spent our time on is mistaken or trivial or both. In Literature and Spirit, David Patterson proceeds from the premise that Bakhtin is right. Exploring Bakhtin's notions of spirit, responsibility, and dialogue, Patterson takes his reader from the narrow arena of literary criticism to the larger realm of human living and human loving. True to the spirit of Bakhtin, he draws the Russian into a vibrant dialogue with other thinkers, including Foucault, Berdyaev, Gide, Lacan, Levinas, and Heidegger. But he does not stop there. He engages Bakhtin in his own insightful and unique dialogue, meeting the responsibility and taking the risk summoned by dialogue. Literature and Spirit therefore is not a typically cool and detached exercise in academic curiosity. Instead, it is a passionate and penetrating endeavor to respond to literature and spirit as the links in life's attachment to life. The author demonstrates that in deciding something about literature, we decide something about the substance and meaning of our lives.

Far from being a question of commentary or explication he argues our relation to literature is a matter of spiritual life and death The reader who comes before a literary text encounters the human voice And Patterson enables his reader to hear that voice in all its spiritual dimensions Unique in its questions and in its quest Literature and Spirit addresses an audience that goes beyond the ordinary academic categories It appeals not only to students of literature philosophy and religion but to anyone who seeks an understanding of spiritual presence and meaning in life Through his affirmation of what is dear Patterson responds to the needful question And in his response he puts the question to his audience Where are you Literature and Spirit thus speaks to those who face the task of answering Here I am
