Museums For A New Millennium Concepts Projects And Buildings:

Museums for a New Millennium Stanislaus von Moos, Friedrich Achleitner, 1999 Contemporary museum buildings are often pure manifestations of the architectural concepts of their designers making them interesting not only as functional buildings but as a seismograph of architectural culture as well Museums for a New Millennium Vittorio Magnago Lampugnani, Angeli Sachs, 1999 Contemporary museum buildings are often pure manifestations of the architectural concepts of their designers making them interesting not only as functional buildings but as a seismograph of architectural culture as well Museums for a New Millennium ,2003* Reshaping Museum Space Suzanne Macleod, 2005-10-09 Reshaping Museum Space pulls together the views of an international group of museum professionals architects designers and academics highlights the complexity significance and malleability of museum space and provides reflections upon recent developments in museum architecture and exhibition design Various chapters concentrate on the process of architectural and spatial reshaping and the problems of navigating the often contradictory agendas and aspirations of the broad range of professionals and stakeholders involved in any new project Contributors review recent new build expansion and exhibition projects questioning the types of museum space required at the beginning of the twenty first century and highlighting a range of possibilities for creative museum design Essential reading for anyone involved in creating designing and project managing the development of museum exhibits and vital reading for students of the discipline Museum Revolutions Simon Knell, Suzanne MacLeod, Sheila Watson, 2007-09-12 Capturing the richness of the museum studies discipline Museum Revolutions is the ideal text for museum studies courses providing a wide range of interlinked themes and the latest thought and research from experts in the field Museum Architecture Suzanne MacLeod, 2013-04-12 Recent decades have witnessed an explosion of museum building around the world and the subsequent publication of multiple texts dedicated to the subject Museum Architecture A new biography focuses on the stories we tell of museum buildings in order to explore the nature of museum architecture and the problems of architectural history when applied to the museum and gallery Starting from a discussion of the key issues in contemporary museum design the book explores the role of architectural history in the prioritisation of specific stories of museum building and museum architects and the exclusion of other actors from the history of museum making These omissions have contemporary relevance and impact directly on the ways in which the physical structures of museums are shaped Theoretically the book places a particular emphasis on the work of Pierre Bourdieu and Henri Lefebvre in order to establish an understanding of buildings as social relations the outcome of complex human interactions and relationships The book utilises a micro history an in depth case study of the National Gallery of the North the Walker Art Gallery in Liverpool to expose the myriad ways in which museum architecture is made Coupled with this detailed exploration is an emphasis on contemporary museum design which utilises the understanding of the social realities of museum making to explore ideas for a socially sustainable museum architecture fit for the twenty first century A Companion to Museum Studies Sharon Macdonald, 2011-08-24 A Companion to Museum Studies captures the multidisciplinary approach to the study of the development roles and significance of museums in contemporary society. Collects first rate original essays by leading figures from a range of disciplines and theoretical stances including anthropology art history history literature sociology cultural studies and museum studies Examines the complexity of the museum from cultural political curatorial historical and representational perspectives Covers traditional subjects such as space display buildings objects and collecting and more contemporary challenges such as visiting commerce community and experimental exhibition forms

Museum Thresholds Ross Parry, Ruth Page, Alex Moseley, 2018-05-11 Museum Thresholds is a progressive interdisciplinary volume and the first to explore the importance and potential of entrance spaces for visitor experience Bringing together an international collection of writers from different disciplines the chapters in this volume offer different theoretical perspectives on the nature of engagement interaction and immersion in threshold spaces and the factors which enable and inhibit those immersive possibilities Organised into themed sections the book explores museum thresholds from three different perspectives Considering them first as a problem space the contributors then go on to explore thresholds through different media and finally draw upon other subjects and professions including performance gaming retail and discourse studies in order to examine them from an entirely new perspective Drawing upon examples that span Asia North America and Europe the authors set the entrance space in its historical social and architectural contexts Together the essays show how the challenges posed by the threshold can be rethought and reimagined from a variety of perspectives each of which have much to bring to future thinking and design Combining both theory and practice Museum Thresholds should be essential reading for academics researchers and postgraduate students working in museum studies digital heritage architecture design studies retail studies and media studies It will also be of great interest to museum practitioners working in a wide variety of institutions around the globe

The Architecture of Art Museums Ronnie Self, 2014-04-16 As a building type art museums are unparalleled for the opportunities they provide for architectural investigation and experimentation They are frequently key components of urban revitalization and often push the limits of building technology Art museums are places of pleasure education and contemplation They are remarkable by their prominence and sheer quantity and their lessons are useful for all architects and for all building types This book provides explicit and comprehensive coverage of the most important museums built in the first ten years of the 21st Century in the United States and Europe By dissecting and analyzing each case Ronnie Self allows the reader to get under the skin of each design and fully understand the process behind these remarkable buildings Richly designed with full technical illustrations and sections the book includes the work of Tadao Ando Zaha Hadid Peter Cook Colin Fournier Renzo Piano Yoshi Taniguchi Herzog de Meuron Jean Nouvel SANAA Daniel Libeskind Diller Scofidio Renfro Steven Holl Coop Himmelblau Bernard Tschumi Sauerbruch Hutton and Shigeru Ban Jean de Gastines Together these diverse projects provide a catalogue of design solutions for the contemporary museum and a snapshot of current architectural thought and culture One of few books on this subject written by an architect Self's analysis thoroughly and critically appraises each project from multiple aspects and crucially takes the reader from concept to building This is an essential book for any professional engaged in designing a museum

Dwell, 2002-08 At Dwell we're staging a minor revolution We think that it's possible to live in a house or apartment by a bold modern architect to own furniture and products that are exceptionally well designed and still be a regular human being We think that good design is an integral part of real life And that real life has been conspicuous by its absence in most design and architecture magazines

Museum Space Kali Tzortzi, 2016-03-09 Museums are among the iconic buildings of the twenty-first century as remarkable for their architectural diversity as for the variety of collections they display But how does the architecture of museums affect our experience as visitors This book proposes that by seeing space as common ground between architecture and museology and so between the museum building and its display we can illuminate the individuality of each museum and the distinctive experience it offers for example how some museums create a sense of personal exploration while others are more intensely didactic and how the visit in some cases is transformed into a spatial experience and in other cases into a more social event The book starts with an overview of the history of museum buildings and display strategies and a discussion of theoretical and critical approaches It then focuses on specific museums as in-depth case studies and uses methods of spatial analysis to look at the key design choices available to architects and curators and their effects on visitors' behaviour Theoretically grounded methodologically original and richly illustrated this book will equip students researchers and professionals in the fields of architecture museum studies curating exhibition design and cultural studies with a guide for studying museums and a theoretical framework for their interpretation

The Museums of Contemporary Art J. Pedro Lorente, 2016-03-03 Where how by whom and for what were the first museums of contemporary art created These are the key questions addressed by J. Pedro Lorente in this new book In it he explores the concept and history of museums of contemporary art and the shifting ways in which they have been imagined and presented Following an introduction that sets out the historiography and considering questions of terminology the first part of the book then examines the paradigm of the Musée des Artistes Vivants in Paris and its equivalents in the rest of Europe during the nineteenth century The second part takes the story forward from 1930 to the present presenting New York's Museum of Modern Art as a new universal role model that found emulators or contramodels in the rest of the Western world during the twentieth century An epilogue reviews recent museum developments in the last decades Through its adoption of a long-term worldwide perspective the book not only provides a narrative of the development of museums of contemporary art but also sets this into its international perspective By assessing the extent to which the great museum capitals Paris London and New York in particular created their own models of museum provision as well as acknowledging the influence of such models elsewhere the book uncovers fascinating perspectives on the practice of museum provision and reveals how present cultural planning initiatives have often been shaped by historical uses Tourism in European Cities John Ebejer,2021-09-14

Tourism in European Cities explores the relationship between tourist activity and the architecture and built environment within which it takes place This is the first book to consider urban tourism with a particular focus on European cities Tourism in European Cities considers the tourist experience and the various elements that shape it In many cities the historic core plays a crucial role in tourism either as the location of the more important attractions or as an attraction in its own right The book dedicates a chapter to urban heritage and its relationship to tourism including urban conservation and UNESCO World Heritage Sites Another chapter considers contemporary architecture and debates some cities efforts to use iconic architecture in particular to enhance their attractiveness in the context of increased competition between cities In the context of competition many cities are resorting to events as a strategy to reposition and differentiate themselves from other cities Major events are accompanied by major investment in event venues and in urban infrastructure The city often serves as a backdrop to the urban festival as activities and performances are staged in the city s urban spaces This book is essential reading for students of tourism and urban geography It is also of interest to students of urban planning and architecture and anyone keen to learn more about tourism and European cities David Chipperfield David Chipperfield,2003-06

Everything starts with space To make space is the first motivation the first responsibility the first problem Space gives form space gives plan The plan is not a generator it is a diagram for a spatial idea Mediators Penelope Dean,2006 Sitte, Hegemann and the Metropolis Charles Bohl,Jean-François Lejeune,2009-06-02 These essays from leading names in the field weave together the parallels and differences between the past and present of civic art Offering prospects for the first decades of the twenty first century the authors open up a broad international dialogue on civic art which relates historical practice to the contemporary meaning of civic art and its application to community building within today s multi cultural modern cities The volume brings together the rich perspectives on the thought practice and influence of leading figures from the great era of civic art that began in the nineteenth century and blossomed in the early twentieth century as documented in the works of Werner Hegemann and his contemporaries and considered fundamental to contemporary practice

Frederick Kiesler Shirley Haines-Cooke,2009-03-26 The material for this book has been taken from the 2006 thesis Frederick Kiesler s Art of This Century in New York 1942 1947 in the Context of the Twentieth Century Art Museum The prime objective was to establish why so few people remember Art of This Century which Kiesler designed for Peggy Guggenheim in 1942 and she ruthlessly closed in 1947 A second aim was to investigate why there has been so research carried out on the Gallery when it was acknowledged as a work of art in its own right at the time of opening Indeed in 2004 Thomas Krens the Guggenheim Foundation s director expressed concern that due to the lack of research it might slip into oblivion Such a statement raises questions as to why it has taken the Guggenheim Foundation over half a century to resurrect Art of This Century in the form of two exhibitions held in Frankfurt and Venice or instigate its own research The book opens with an historical account of the development of the modern art museum as well as an overview of Kiesler's life and multidisciplinary oeuvre. His association with selected contemporary architectural theorists and architects is looked at to establish whether they had any influence on his eclectic thinking. This is followed by a summary of Kiesler's manifesto On Correalism and Biotechnique: A Definition of a New Approach to Building Design (1937-1939). The main body of the work is a detailed description of Art of This Century. The notion that Kiesler's innovative theories and designs might be better understood in a twenty-first century architectural context is finally explored. This book finally restores Frederick Kiesler to his rightful place in the history of twentieth-century art and architecture. By a careful analysis of his sometimes fraught collaboration with the mercurial Peggy Guggenheim Haines Cooke, it uncovers the fascinating story of Kiesler's ground-breaking new vision for the display of abstract art, rendered all the more poignant by its significant yet largely subliminal influence on much of the best in recent museum and gallery architecture. Dr Jonathan Hale, University of Nottingham.

Towards Tate Modern Caroline Donnellan, 2017-09-22 Towards Tate Modern provides a new interdisciplinary account of Tate's shifting position as a national arts institution. The book examines how earlier government directives impacted on Tate, which saw the organisation refocusing its aims and resulted in it pioneering new models for working across the public and private sectors. The decade prior to the opening of Tate Modern witnessed a changing political, economic, cultural and social landscape. As London was rebuilding its own vision, Tate reconfigured its role as a public museum and gallery by engaging with the market. Tate reimagined what a public museum and gallery can do, what it can look like and where it can be, and in doing so responded to a new kind of audience with a larger appetite than before. Recast as a cultural and social forum, Tate Modern turned itself into a popular public event. This research considers how Tate Modern generated a set of new debates and what this might mean for the future role of the public museum and gallery. Towards Tate Modern will be of particular interest to academics and students, art practitioners and policy makers working in the fields of museum studies, policy studies, cultural studies, urban studies and political and economic history, as well as those involved in archival research. It will also engage those wishing to widen their understanding of how an institution such as Tate Modern was created.

Architecture and the Image at the Turn of the 21st Century Sanja Rodeš, 2024-06-28 This book examines architecture, image and media relationships as productive for architecture and architectural discourses. By arguing that the relationships between architecture and media cannot be dismissed via linear criticism of architecture and media or image, these relations are instead seen as a part of a sphere, a mediasphere of complex relationships. In lieu of anything like a consensus on the contemporary condition of architecture, referring to the late twentieth and the twenty-first centuries, the starting point of this book is that the relationships between architecture, media and images continue to multiply owing to continuous technological advancements. Contemporary architecture considered in this book is related to the selected circumstances of high visibility, where architectural images are propelled into visibility and conflated with non-architectural images. This takes architecture outside of architectural only discourse and into the public realm By granting higher visibility to both the architectural images and architecture in the public realm architecture can also be influenced by the various perceptions of the general public and can enter public consciousness via non architectural media With increased visibility architecture s far reaching presence calls for more structured analysis of its nature and potential As the analysed architecture in this book is associated with the discourses outside of architecture some of which relate to terrorism natural disaster and branding and consumption the limits of contemporary architectural discipline are questioned and extended This book is written for academics and students in architectural history theory and criticism particularly those interested in visual and media studies
