

How the Cold War Ended Peacefully

Topic: History | Words: 601 | Pages: 2

One of the most dangerous and bitter rivalries among the great powers in modern history erupted during the cold war. The cold war developed after World War II between the Soviet Union and the United States. The battle was mainly based on economic, political, and propaganda strategies. There was a limited supply of weapons during the period, and those that were available were primarily nuclear weapons (Lund 2019). During the Second World War, the Soviet Union and the United States were allies in the Nazi war against Germany. Still, the union did not last for long as it began to crumble after the war.

The cold war was caused by several factors, including America's refusal to share nuclear weapons manufacture secrets, the United States' fear of communist attack by the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (USSR), dislike of capitalism, and the USSR's actions in the Soviet zone in Germany, and Truman's dislike of Stalin (Morgan 2018). The war mainly rose to determine who was most equipped in terms of arms and exploring space. This led to the creation of the National Aeronautic Space Administration (NASA) and more space exploration expeditions.

One of the factors that propelled the cold war to end peacefully was the newly elected President Richard Nixon, who formulated new approaches to attending to international relations matters. He suggested using diplomacy rather than military actions and advocated for every individual, more so those in power, to view the world as one peaceful community. He encouraged some non-governmental organizations like United Nations to recognize countries like China that practice
