

Fertility Regulation

- Fertility is a natural phenomenon. Do we have the right to interfere with it?
In the past,
- Reproductive tract infections, pregnancy wastage and other factors caused reduced fertility.
- High child mortality also necessitated high fertility.
- Now, as a result of improved health care, fertility and child survival have increased. The family size needs planning.
- China- only one child per family, India- two and Sri Lanka- three.
- In our context, the population has declined and the family size must be increased.
