Friendship and Social Relations in Children Hugh Carrie Foot, Anthony J. Chapman, Jean R. Smith, Rebuilding Family Relations for Children and Youth Separated from Family Sarah Hean, Vanessa Heaslip, Jonathan Parker, Pravin Tembjerg, 2024-10-16 This edited volume explores a range of causes for separation of children and young people from family the impact of these causes and methods that both professionals and families may employ to build or rebuild these relations In particular contributions focus on six high priority crises through which children and young people become either permanently or temporarily separated from their families removal by child welfare services migration family breakdown placement into institutional care incarceration and or the death of a parent Authors emphasize the feelings of grief and loss experienced both by the child and their family whatever the separation context and the eventual impact on the young person s mental health They conclude that reunification with the family is not always possible or desirable and permanent alternative sources of care and or attachment may be required But if reunification is possible it is a complex and a multidimensional pathway as children move from one care context to the next Innovation coproduction with the birth family and tackling stigma and discrimination associated with family separations is a high priority Participation, Citizenship and Intergenerational Relations in Children and Young People's Lives J. Parenting Beliefs, Behaviors, and Parent-Child Relations Kenneth H. Rubin, Ock Boon Chung, 2013-09-05 The purpose of this book is to present a rather simple argument Parents thoughts about childrearing and the ways in which they interact with children to achieve particular parenting or developmental goals are culturally determined Within any culture children are shaped by the physical and social settings within which they live culturally regulated customs and childrearing practices and culturally based belief systems The psychological meaning attributed to any given social behavior is in large part a function of the ecological niche within which it is produced Clearly it is the case that there are some cultural universals All parents want their children to be healthy and to feel secure However healthy and unhealthy at least in the psychological sense of the term can have different meanings from culture to culture

Children's Peer Relations: Issues in Assessment and Intervention B. H. Schneider, K. H. Rubin, J. E. Ledingham, 2012-12-06 Willard W Hartup This volume amounts to an anniversary collection It was 50 years ago that Lois Jack 1934 published the findings from what most investigators consider to be the first intervention study in this area The experiment later replicated and extended by Marjorie Page 1936 and Gertrude Chittenden 1942 concerned ascendant behavior in preschool children which was defined to include a The pursuit of one s own purposes against interference and b directing the behavior of others Individual differences in ascendance were assumed to have some stability across time and hence to be important in personality development But ascendance variations were also viewed as a function of the immediate situation Among the conditions assumed to determine ascendance were the individual s status in the group as expressed in others attitudes toward him his conception of these attitudes and his previously formed social habits Jack 1934 p 10 Dr Jack s main interest was to show that nonascendant children identified on the basis of observations in the laboratory with another child were different from their more ascendant companions in one important respect They lacked self confidence And having demonstrated that Dr Jack devised a procedure for teaching the knowledge and skill to nonascendant children that the play materials required She guessed correctly that this training would bring about an increase in the ascendance scores of these children
