Soldiers ,1990 Daily Life in Ancient and Modern Rome Joan D. Barghusen,1999-01-01 A historical exploration of events and daily life in Rome in both ancient and modern times Legions in Crisis: The Transformation of the Roman Soldier - 192 to 284 Paul Elliot ,2014-05-10 The third century AD was a turbulent and testing time for the Roman Empire A new and powerful foe in the east had risen up to challenge Rome directly Barbarians on the northern frontiers were now more aggressive and more numerous than before and internally the population of the empire had to contend with rampant inflation and a series of terrible plagues Unfortunately the chaos became magnified by a lack of continuity on the imperial throne The army had real political power in the third century making and unmaking emperors as it saw fit It had been aided in this by Septimius Severus the African emperor who had won out in the civil wars following Commodus assassination He increased the army s pay and granted other privileges While the army gained rapidly in size stature and political savvy during the reign of Septimius Severus it also accelerated a material transformation Armour shields helmets swords and javelins all began to be replaced with new styles Legions in Crisis looks closely at the new styles of arms and armour comparing their construction use and effectiveness to the more familiar types of Roman kit used by soldiers fighting the earlier Dacian and Marcomannic Wars What did this transformation in military technology mean for the tactical choices used on the battlefield Although the outcome had looked in doubt the army and the empire it protected weathered the storm to emerge into the fourth century fully able to tackle the challenges of a new age British Celtic Warrior vs Roman Soldier William Horsted,2022-07-21 An illustrated study of the British tribal warriors and Roman auxiliaries who fought in three epic battles for control of Britain in the 1st century AD Following the Roman invasion of Britain in AD 43 the tribes of the west and north resisted the establishment of a Roman peace led in particular by the chieftain Caratacus. Even in the south east resentment of Roman occupation remained exploding into the revolt of Boudicca's Iceni in AD 60. Roman auxiliaries from two particular peoples are known to have taken part in the invasion of Britain: the Tungrians from what is now Belgium and the Batavians from the delta of the River Rhine in the modern Netherlands. From the late 80s AD units of both the Batavians and the Tungrians were garrisoned at a fort at Vindolanda in northern Britain. The so-called Vindolanda tablets provide an unparalleled body of material with which to reconstruct the lives of these auxiliary soldiers in Britain. Featuring full colour maps and specially commissioned battlescene and figure artwork plates, this book examines how both the British warriors and the Roman auxiliaries experienced the decades of conflict that followed the invasion. Their recruitment, training, leadership, motivation, culture and beliefs are compared alongside an assessment of three particular battles: the final defeat of Caratacus in the hills of Wales in AD 50, the Roman assault on the island of Mona Anglesey in AD 60 and the battle of Mons Graupius in Scotland in AD 83.
