Travel and Colonialism in 21st Century Romantic Historical Fiction Paloma Fresno-Calleja,Hsu-Ming Teo,2024-12-16 Romantic fiction has often involved stories of travel In narratives of the journey towards love romance often involves encounters with exotic places and peoples When history is invoked in such stories the past itself is exoticised and treated as other to the present to serve the purposes of romanticisation a narrative strategy by which all manner of things settings characters costumes customs consumables are made to perform a luxuriant otherness that amplifies the experience of love This volume questions the reparative function of Anglophone romantic historical fiction to ask can plots of travel and discourses of tourism empower women while narrating stories of healing for the wounds of the past This is the first volume to consider how romanticised and exoticised women s historical fiction not only serves the purposes of armchair travel but may also replicate colonial discourse unintentionally positioning readers as neocolonial neo Orientalist cultural voyeurs as well as voyagers The Romance of the Holy Land in American Travel Writing, 1790-1876 Professor Brian Yothers,2013-04-28 This book is the first to engage with the full range of American travel writing about nineteenth century

Ottoman Palestine and the first to acknowledge the influence of the late eighteenth century Barbary captivity narrative on nineteenth century travel writing about the Middle East Brian Yothers argues that American travel writing about the Holy Land forms a coherent if greatly varied tradition which can only be fully understood when works by major writers such as Twain and Melville are studied alongside missionary accounts captivity narratives chronicles of religious pilgrimages and travel writing in the genteel tradition Yothers also examines works by lesser known authors such as Bayard Taylor John Lloyd Stephens and Clorinda Minor demonstrating that American travel writing is marked by a profound intertextuality with the Hebrew and Christian scriptures and with British and continental travel narratives about the Holy Land His concluding chapter on Melville's Clarel shows how Melville's poem provides an incisive critique of the nascent imperial discourse discernible in the American texts with which it is in dialogue
