Vlachos,2009-01-01 First Corinthians 15 56 The sting of death is sin and the power of sin is the law is both puzzling and neglected It is puzzling since there appears to be no precursor in 1 Corinthians to the law critical statement found there It is neglected because of its size Nevertheless the short verse offers the opportunity to analyze in a rudimentary state Paul s law sin notion that appears full blown in Romans and the absence of a polemical setting allows scholars to examine a law critical statement issued during a polemical lull In The Law and Knowledge of Good and Evil Vlachos weighs attempts to explain the presence of 1 Cor 15 56 in 1 Corinthians and argues that the Genesis Fall narrative where the tempter plied his seductions by way of the commandment provides the theological substructure to Paul s understanding of the law s provocation of sin In doing so Vlachos contends that Paul reaches the historical high water mark of his polemic against the salvific efficacy of the law by locating a law sin nexus in Eden and contrary to some recent perspectives on Paul he argues that the edenically informed axiom in 1 Cor 15 56 suggests that Paul s fundamental concern with the law was rooted in primordial rather than ethnic soil While studies of Paul and the law have tended to bypass Eden The Law and Knowledge of Good and Evil breaks ground by moving the argument beyond Second Temple Judaism to the Genesis Fall account where the prohibition against partaking of the knowledge of good and evil led to the knowledge of sin Official Year Book of the Union South Africa.
