Romanticism And Animal Rights:

Romanticism and Animal Rights David Perkins, 2003-10-23 In England in the second half of the eighteenth century an unprecedented amount of writing urged kindness to animals This theme was carried in many genres from sermons to encyclopedias from scientific works to literature for children and in the poetry of Cowper Wordsworth Coleridge Clare and others Romanticism and Animal Rights discusses the arguments writers used and the particular meanings of these arguments in a social and economic context so different from the present After introductory chapters the material is divided according to specific practices that particularly influenced feeling or aroused protest pet keeping hunting baiting working animals eating them and the various harms inflicted on wild birds The book shows how extensively English Romantic writing took up issues of what we now call animal rights In this respect it joins the growing number of studies that seek precedents or affinities in English Romanticism for our own ecological concerns The Ecology of British Romantic Conservatism, 1790-1837 Katey Castellano, 2013-10-11 Analyzing Romantic conservative critiques of modernity found in literature philosophy natural history and agricultural periodicals this book finds a common theme in the intergenerational imagination This impels an environmental ethic in which obligations to past and future generations shape decisions about inherited culture and land Memorializing Animals during the Romantic Period Chase Pielak, 2016-04-22 Early nineteenth century British literature is overpopulated with images of dead and deadly animals as Chase Pielak observes in his study of animal encounters in the works of Charles and Mary Lamb John Clare Samuel Taylor Coleridge Lord Byron and William Wordsworth These encounters Pielak suggests coincide with anxieties over living alongside both animals and cemeteries in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries Pielak traces the linguistic physical and psychological interruptions occasioned by animal encounters from the heart of communal life the table to the countryside and finally into and beyond the wild cemetery He argues that Romantic period writers use language that ultimately betrays itself in beastly disruptions exposing anxiety over what it means to be human what happens at death the consequences of living together and the significance of being remembered Extending his discussion past an emphasis on animal rights to an examination of animals in their social context Pielak shows that these animal representations are both inherently important and a foreshadowing of the ways we continue to need images of dead and deadly Romantic beasts Natural Rights and the Birth of Romanticism in the 1790s R. White, 2005-11-22 Following the American War of Independence and the French Revolution ideas of the Natural Rights of Man later distinguished into particular issues like rights of association rights of women slaves children and animals were publicly debated in England Literary figures like Wollstonecraft Godwin Thelwall Blake and Wordsworth reflected these struggles in their poetry and fiction With the seminal influences of John Locke and Rousseau these and many other writers laid for high Romantic Literature foundations that were not so much aesthetic as moral and political This new study by R S White provides a reinterpretation of the Enlightenment as it is currently understood Romantic Ecologies and Colonial

Cultures in the British Atlantic World, 1770-1850 Kevin Hutchings,2009-08-01 By addressing these and other intriguing questions Kevin Hutchings highlights significant intersections between Green Romanticism and colonial politics demonstrating how contemporary understandings of animality climate and habitat informed literary and cross cultural debates about race slavery colonialism and nature in the British Atlantic world Revealing an innovative dialogue between British African and Native American writers of the Romantic period this book will be of interest to anyone wishing to consider the interconnected histories of transatlantic colonial relations and environmental thought The Romanticism Handbook

John Keats and Jane Austen as well as lesser known writers such as the graveyard poets and Sarah Scott The contributors develop innovative approaches to Lacanian literary studies focusing on neglected or emergent areas of Lacan's thought and approaching Lacan's best known work in unexpected ways The essay topics include the visible and seeable war the death drive nonhuman sexualities sublimation loss and mourning utopia capitalism fantasy and topology and they range from the mid eighteenth through the early decades of the nineteenth centuries The book reveals new ways of thinking about art and literature with psychoanalytic theory and suggests how theoretical approaches can contribute meaningfully to literary studies in general
