knowledge and practice is crucial for fully understanding the transition from premodern Aristotelian Ptolemaic natural philosophy to modern Newtonian science This removal the author argues was neither obvious nor unproblematic Astrology was not some sort of magical nebulous hodge podge of beliefs Rather astrology emerged in the 13th century as a richly mathematical system that served to integrate astronomy and natural philosophy precisely the aim of the New Science of the 17th century As such it becomes a fundamentally important historical question to determine why this promising astrological synthesis was rejected in favor of a rather different mathematical natural philosophy and one with a very different causal structure than Aristotle s
