Rookwood And The Industry Of Art Women Culture And Commerce 18801913:

Rookwood and the Industry of Art Nancy Elizabeth Owen,2001 Rookwood and the Industry of Art is a critical appreciation of Rookwood s rise to its commerical pinnacle assessing the labor practices and production of ceramic ware as a way to explore anxiety about women s roles outside the home as well as about industrialization immigration and urbanization BOOK JACKET

Rookwood and the American Indian Anita J. Ellis,Susan L. Meyn,2007 The nation s premier private collection of Rookwood art pottery featuring American Indian portraiture is on display at the Cincinnati Art Museum from October 2007 to January 2008 Rookwood and the American Indian Masterpieces of American Art Pottery from the James J Gardner Collection is a remarkable exhibition catalogue that will be of interest well beyond the exhibition because of its unique subject matter Fifty two pieces produced by the Rookwood Pottery Company are showcased many accompanied by black and white photographs of the American Indians portrayed by the ceramic artist In addition the catalogue includes a brief biography of each artist as well as curators comments about the Rookwood pottery and the Indian apparel seen in the portraits The catalogue also presents two essays The first Enduring Encounters Cincinnatians and American Indians to 1900 by ethnologist and co curator Susan Labry Meyn describes American Indian activities in Cincinnati from the time of the first settlers to 1900 and relates these events to national policy such as the 1830 Indian Removal Act Rookwood and the American Indian by art historian Anita J Ellis concentrates on Rookwood s fascination with the American Indian and the economic implications of producing that line Rookwood and the American Indian blends anthropology with art history to reveal the relationships between the white settlers and the Native Americans in general between Cincinnati and the American Indian in particular and ultimately between Rookwood artists and their Indian friends

The Practice of Her Profession Susan Butlin,2009-03-01 In The Practice of Her

Profession Susan Butlin draws on unpublished letters and family memoirs to recount Carlyle's personal and professional life. She explores Carlyle's artistic influences, her relationships with artist colleagues and encounters with the cultural worlds of Paris, New York and early twentieth century Canada and provides a detailed examination of Carlyle's paintings. Butlin's vivid description of the artistic life of women of this era, from access to art training to the important role of women's art societies, introduces readers to Carlyle's many accomplished contemporaries: Helen McNicoll, Mary Reid, Laura Muntz, Sarah Holden, Sydney Tully, Elizabeth McGillivray, Knowles and others. Professional Pursuits Catherine W. Zipf, 2007. Zipf focuses on five gifted women in various parts of the country. In San Diego, Hazel Wood Waterman parlayed her Arts and Crafts training into a career in architecture. Cincinnati's Mary Louise McLaughlin expanded on her interest in Arts and Crafts pottery by inventing new ceramic technology. New York's Candace Wheeler established four businesses that used Arts and Crafts production to help other women earn a living. In Syracuse, both Adelaide Alsop Robineau and Irene Sargent were responsible for disseminating Arts and Crafts related information through the movement's publications. Each woman's story is different but each played an important part in the creation of professional opportunities for women in a male dominated society. Craft and Heritage Susan Surette, Elaine Cheasley Paterson, 2021-10-21. This collection of 19 original essays argues for a critical and sustained engagement between the fields of craft and heritage. The book's interdisciplinary and international array of authors consider how heritage and craft institutions, policies, practices and audiences encounter the constraints and opportunities of production, recognition and exhibition. Case studies spanning 125 years raise and address questions concerning authenticity and commodification, innovation and improvisation, diasporas and decolonization, global economies and national and professional identities. Authors also analyse mechanisms through which craft mobilises and has been harnessed by heritage processes and designations. Examples range from an Irish village at the 1893 Chicago World's Fair and the role of chronopolitics in contemporary Vietnamese pottery to the invisibility of crochet within Swedish heritagisation processes and the application of game theory in a ceramics museum. With section one considering citizenship and identity, section two sustainability and section three dynamic craft in cultural institutions, Craft and Heritage interrogates how craft objects, makers and processes intersect with current heritage concerns and practices. The Indian Craze Elizabeth Hutchinson, 2009-03-23. An historical examination of the early twentieth century Indian Craze, a widespread interest in Native American art that explores its importance for Native Americans, Euro Americans and the history of modernism.

Embracing the East Mari Yoshihara, 2003. As exemplified by Madame Butterfly, East-West relations have often been expressed as the relations between the masculine dominant West and the feminine submissive East. Yet this binary model does not account for the important role of white women in the construction of Orientalism. Mari Yoshihara's study examines a wide range of white women who were attracted to Japan and China in the late nineteenth and early twentieth century and shows how, through their engagement with Asia, these women found new forms of expression, power and freedom that were often denied to them in other realms of their lives in America She demonstrates how white women s attraction to Asia shaped and was shaped by a complex mix of exoticism for the foreign admiration for the refined desire for power and control and love and compassion for the people of Asia Through concrete historical narratives and careful textual analysis she examines the ideological context for America s changing discourse about Asia and interrogates the power and appeal as well as the problems and limitations of American Orientalism for white women s explorations of their identities Combining the analysis of race and gender in the United States and the study of U S Asian relations Yoshihara s work represents the transnational direction of scholarship in American Studies and U S history In addition this interdisciplinary work brings together diverse materials and approaches including cultural history material culture visual arts performance studies and literary analysis Embracing the East was the winner of the 2003 Hiroshi Shimizu Award of the Japanese Association for American Studies best book in American Studies by a junior member of the association
