The Rorschach in Multimethod Forensic Assessment Robert E. Erard, F. Barton Evans, 2016-12-01. This volume demonstrates how multimethod forensic assessment with the Rorschach adds incremental validity, insight and practical value. Case discussions by leading forensic psychologists illustrate the integration of contemporary Rorschach assessment with the MMPI-2 and MMPI-2 RF, the PAI and the HCR-20. This text addresses a wide range of forensic applications including child custody, psychological trauma, personal injury, psychotic offenders, competency evaluations, immigration cases and impression management. It also shows how the recently developed Rorschach Performance Assessment System (R-PAS) effectively enhances the use of the Rorschach in forensic cases while offering guidance for Comprehensive System users as well.

The Handbook of Forensic Rorschach Assessment Carl B. Gacono, Barton Evans, 2007-10-08. In The Handbook of Forensic Rorschach Assessment, editors Carl B. Gacono and Barton Evans underscore the unique contribution the Rorschach makes to forensic practice. The chapters, all of which include the expertise of a licensed practicing forensic psychologist, offer a systematic approach to personality assessment when presenting use of the Rorschach.

A Comprehensive Guide to Child Psychotherapy and Counseling Christiane Brems, 2008-03-19. Christiane Brems, an experienced clinician supervisor and educator, presents a metatheoretical yet practical guide to working with children ages 3 to 12 years. She draws heavily on developmental, interpersonal, family systems and self-psychological schools of thought and integrates the core components of all of these approaches in a clear and concise manner. She stresses the need for intensive assessment to precede conceptualization and treatment planning so that treatment techniques are dictated by the needs of each child and family. Brems has contoured the third edition to meet the practical needs and expectations of students and practitioners. Divided among four sections, the chapters follow the logical development of clinicians, mirroring the natural flow of work with children: from the practitioners' self-exploration to learning about special aspects of children such as diversity and development, to awareness about the special needs and demands of children as related to environmental, legal and ethical issues. Brems prepares clinicians to discover their own personal traits that may facilitate or hinder their work with children.

She walks child therapists and counselors through the initial stages of intake assessment and conceptualization The material on assessment instruments is thoroughly updated discussions refer to the latest versions of instruments and if new instruments emerged that meet one of the purposes deemed essential to child treatment they are included The text contains case examples each illustrating a specific therapeutic technique

The Clinical Assessment of Children and Adolescents Steven R. Smith, Leonard Handler, 2015-09-07 This book highlights assessment techniques issues and procedures that appeal to practicing clinicians Rather than a comprehensive Handbook of various tests and measures The Clinical Assessment of Children and Adolescents is a practitioner friendly text that provides guidance for test selection interpretation and application With topics ranging from personality assessment to behavioral assessment to the assessment of depression and thought disorder the leaders in the field of child and adolescent measurement outline selection and interpretation of measures in a manner that is most relevant to clinicians and graduate students Each chapter makes use of extensive case material in order to highlight issues of applicability

The Psychological Assessment of Abused and Traumatized Children Francis D. Kelly, 1999-03-01 The past decade has seen more and more clinicians involved in the assessment and treatment of abused and traumatized children They have contributed to an impressively large body of literature on the impact of abuse and trauma at all ages the focus of which has been the short and long term sequelae apparent in the child's behavior emotional experience and social interaction But there have been few efforts to investigate the ways in which abuse and trauma damage the intrapsychic systems and structures that often guide direct and inform the child's manifest adjustment and functioning. The need to redress the balance was the major impetus for this book. Kelly offers a clinical paradigm for the personality assessment of abused or traumatized children via projective instruments: the TAT and Rorschach, and shows how various projective measures and indices can be utilized as sensitive barometers of changes in self, object, and ego functioning following therapeutic interventions and other corrective experiences. But further integrating the tenets of trauma theory and those of psychoanalytic theory, he sets this clinical paradigm in a meaningful theoretical context and draws on both theory and clinical experience to develop a comprehensive psychological composite of the child who has been maltreated. Part I provides an overview of theoretical models relevant to the assessment and diagnosis of the maltreated child. Contemporary psychoanalytic theory serves as one frame and is discussed first with particular emphasis on object relations and ego functions. Equal attention is devoted to developmental psychology as another frame. Part II reviews relevant research. The Mutuality of Autonomy Scale (MOA) and the Social Cognition and Object Relations Scale (SCORS) are introduced as examples of reliable and valid instruments readily employed to assess the impact of abuse or trauma on a child's object relations functioning. Additional Rorschach indices, boundary disturbance measures, thought disorder indices, trauma markers, and defensive functions measures are discussed as measures of the impact on different facets of ego functioning. These various projective measures can be utilized as sensitive barometers of changes in self, object, and ego functioning following therapeutic interventions and other corrective experiences. Part III includes a variety of extended clinical illustrations. Seven cases of boys and girls subjected to varying degrees of abuse and trauma are presented to demonstrate the clinical utility of projective material for assessment, diagnosis, and treatment planning. For the clinician who takes the idiographical phenomenological approach, appropriate given the uniqueness of each situation of abuse or trauma and the frequent brevity and barrenness of the protocol, such material can open a window onto a rich vista of the child's psychological terrain. The resulting map can point the way to wise decisions about type, timing, and level of therapeutic intervention, the resolution of such process issues as transference and countertransference, plus additional questions. Two cases of adult women who were abused as children and find themselves continuing to struggle with enduring unresolved issues vis-à-vis their own children are also presented. These cases underscore the value of TAT and Rorschach material and object relations measures in assessing and understanding the abusive and potentially abusive parent.
