Tracing the Trails in the Medieval World Albrecht

Classen, 2020-10-11 Every human being knows that we are walking through life following trails whether we are aware of them or not Medieval poets from the anonymous composer of Beowulf to Marie de France Hartmann von Aue Gottfried von Strassburg and Guillaume de Lorris to Petrarch and Heinrich Kaufringer predicated their works on the notion of the trail and elaborated on its epistemological function We can grasp here an essential concept that determines much of medieval and early modern European literature and philosophy addressing the direction which all protagonists pursue as powerfully illustrated also by the anonymous poets of Herzog Ernst and Sir Gawain and the Green Knight Dante's Divina Commedia in fact proves to be one of the most explicit poetic manifestations of the fundamental idea of the trail but we find strong parallels also in powerful contemporary works such as Guillaume de Deguileville's Plerinage de la vie humaine and in many mystical tracts

Derrida, Kristeva, and the Dividing Line Juliana De Nooy, 2013-08-21 Both Jacques Derrida and Julia Kristeva have made an enormous impact throughout the humanities with their work on signification identity and difference and yet the nature of the relation between their theories seems oddly indeterminate they have sometimes been regarded as more or less indistinguishable and sometimes as incompatible This book aims at establishing precisely how Kristeva's and Derrida's writings may be articulated tracing intersections and divergences parallels and discontinuities between them But how do you compare two theories of the production of difference What conception of difference do you use to go about it Any search for a dividing line between Derrida and Kristeva already engages with their preoccupations Should the juxtaposition of these practices be conceived as a face to face confrontation or rather a gap a hiatus Could it be a dialectic or a difference Should it be thought of in terms of Kristeva's work or Derrida's Accessible and lively this book studies the theories on their own terms in terms of one another and with regard to the literary text a privileged object of their attention It demonstrates that the articulation of the theories shifts under different discursive conditions such that a Derridean reading of the relation is unlikely to coincide with a Kristevan interpretation It shows why there is no single answer to the question of how the two fit together And it investigates what is at stake in the strategic uses to which their work is put whether separately or together
