Pathways Through Adolescence:

Pathways Through Adolescence Lisa J. Crockett, Ann C. Crouter, 2014-03-05 Adolescent researchers are increasingly aware that they must examine development both across time and across context To do so however requires new conceptualizations and methodological approaches to the study of development including attention to the pathways young people choose in adolescence and follow into adulthood This volume assembles work by key researchers in the field who are struggling to understand how developmental trajectories are constructed and maintained throughout the adolescent period A complete understanding of developmental pathways requires the recognition that adolescents social contexts family school neighborhood and or peer group are important influences on the choices they make at this developmental period Researchers have traditionally studied contexts in isolation rather than examining the interrelationships among contexts and their implications for adolescent development The present volume seeks to address this gap in the literature with attention given not only to the interrelationships among contexts for white middle class youth but also to these issues for minority adolescents in neighborhoods that vary in terms of access to resources It concludes with an examination of researcher community collaboration as a strategy to move communities toward a greater awareness of adolescent development and the problems facing youth in their community and as a means to promote potential avenues for policy change and intervention psychology sociology and education      Life-span Development Leonie Sugarman,2004-03-01 This thorough revision of the highly successful first edition of Life Span Development offers the reader a wide ranging and thought provoking account of human development throughout the lifespan The lifespan approach emphasises that development does not stop when we cease to be adolescents but goes on throughout adulthood and into old age In initial chapters Leonie Sugarman outlines the issues surrounding the notion of development and how it can be studied including reviews of the work of key theorists Erikson Levinson and Gould She goes on to consider the different ways in which the life course can be construed as a series of age related stages as a cumulative sequence as a series of developmental tasks as a series of key life events and transitions or as a narrative construction which creates a sense of dynamic continuity A final chapter looks at how people cope the resources that are available and the theoretical and practical issues regarding interventions to assist them in the process New to this edition is increased coverage of the topical issue of successful ageing and a new chapter on the increasingly popular narrative approach to lifespan development This edition is also more student friendly with exercises in self reflection that encourage the reader to look at the development of their own lives or those of their current or future clients Boxed material highlighting major theories and clarifying concepts is also included This book will be invaluable for students of developmental and occupational psychology and professionals in the fields of health management education and social work      Transitions Through Adolescence Julia A.
