Habits of Mind Across the Curriculum Arthur L. Costa, Bena Kallick, 2009-01-22 Distinguished educators Arthur L. Costa and Bena Kallick present this collection of stories by educators around the world who have successfully implemented the habits in their day to day teaching in K 12 classrooms The collective wisdom and experience of these thoughtful practitioners provide readers with insight into the transdisciplinary nature of the 16 Habits of Mind intelligent behaviors that lead to success in school and the larger world as well as model lessons and suggestions for weaving the habits into daily instruction in language arts music physical education social studies math foreign language and other content areas Readers will come to understand that far from an add on to the curriculum the habits are an essential element for helping students at all grade levels successfully deal with the challenges they face in school and beyond As in all their books on the Habits of Mind Costa and Kallick have a broad and worthwhile goal in mind As they say in the concluding chapter of this volume If we want a future that is much more thoughtful vastly more cooperative greatly more compassionate and a whole lot more loving then we have to invent it That future is in our homes schools and classrooms today The Habits of Mind are the tools we all can use to invent our desired vision of the future

The Discourse of Character Education Peter Smagorinsky, Joel Taxel, 2005-05-06 In this book Peter Smagorinsky and Joel Taxel analyze the ways in which the perennial issue of character education has been articulated in the United States both historically and in the current character education movement that began in earnest in the 1990s The goal is to uncover the ideological nature of different conceptions of character education The authors show how the current discourses are a continuation of discourse streams through which character education and the national purpose have been debated for hundreds of years most recently in what are known as the Culture Wars the intense often passionate debates about morality culture and values carried out by politicians religious groups social policy foundations and a wide range of political commentators and citizens in which the various stakeholders have sought influence over a wide range of social and economic issues including education The centerpiece is a discourse analysis of proposals funded by the United States Department of Education s Office of Educational Research and Improvement OERI Discourse profiles from sets of states that exhibit two distinct conceptions of character are examined and the documents from particular states are placed in dialogue with the OERI Request for Proposals One profile reflects the dominant perspective promoted in the U S based on an authoritarian view in which young people are indoctrinated into the value system of presumably virtuous adults through didactic instruction The other reflects the well established yet currently marginal discourse emphasizing attention to the whole environment in which character is developed and enacted and in which reflection on morality rather than didactic instruction in morality is the primary instructional approach By focusing on these two distinct regions and their conceptions of character the authors situate the character education movement at the turn of the twenty first century in the context of historical notions about the nature of character and regional conceptions regarding the nature of societal organization This enlightening volume is relevant to scholars practitioners policymakers and students across the field of education particularly those involved in character education moral development discourse analysis history and cultural foundations of education and related fields and to the wider public interested in character education The First Tee and Schools United States.
