Patrick O'Brian's Bodies at Sea Michael Leigh Sinowitz,2014-08-05 An exploration of the complex roles that bodies both literally and figuratively play in the 21 volume Aubrey Maturin series reveals much about the novels many meditations on mind and body Beginning with a consideration of genre norms and the bodies of the novels main characters the book s focus shifts to the ways the series offers interconnections between the human body and history More literal considerations of the body examine O Brian s depictions of drug use particularly the opium addiction that afflicts Stephen Maturin and human sexuality in its many guises The work then focuses on Desolation Island the fifth novel in the series in light of the discussions above but also in terms of political and psychological tropes that draw upon the relationship of mind and body Questions are examined about the relationship of reader to author and what sustains such a long narrative and what continues to bring a reader back again and again

The Joy of Reading Charles Van Doren,2008-04-01 Charles Van Doren has laid a feast before all of us that is irresistible Mortimer J Adler This engaging love letter to reading follows the great authors and classics that transformed the world from Aristotle and Herodotus in ancient Greece to Salinger and Heinlein in 20th century America Like a professor whose enthusiasm enwraps his students Van Doren explains what s wonderful in the books you ve missed and awakens your desire to reopen the books you already know Divided chronologically by the periods in which these classics were written each book is put in its historical context and brought to life by Van Doren s brilliant analysis The Joy of Reading delves into a wide range of genres fiction poetry drama children s books philosophy history and science This is the one book that brings together everything you need to know about the classics you missed and ignites your passion to read and reread the greatest books the world has ever known This book is the fruit of a lifelong love affair Reading I believe is my favorite thing to do books and I have been inseparable almost as long as I can remember To this day I become distressed if I am anywhere without a book a magazine a newspaper any scrap of paper to read I like the smell of books certainly the feel of them Life without books would be for me a vacant horror Charles Van Doren Nothing recommends the joy of reading better than the communication of it by a person who has spent a lifetime enriched by the delights of reading Charles Van Doren is that kind of reader He has laid a feast before us that is irresistible Mortimer J Adler author of How to Read a Book Mr Van Doren is that rarity a truly well read man who reads not for professional purposes but for pleasure His book spurs us on to explore more deeply and joyfully the infinitely varied terrain of good books Clifton Fadiman author of The New Lifetime Reading Plan The Classical Guide to World Literature Lives of the Novelists Carl Rollyson, 2005-10-21 Is there a right way to write a literary life In this collection of columns from the New York Sun Carl Rollyson explores the relationship between narrative and literary analysis Should biographies be written in the style and form of novels How to balance the life and the work How much literary criticism can a biography absorb into its narrative Rollyson proposes a number of apologies for biography including the thought that in the right hands the literary biography is a continuation of the writer's work and life In such instances there seems to be a symbiosis between biographer and subject In other cases biographies spearhead the rediscovery of important writers He rejects the idea that literary figures are not good subjects for biography because they are not men and women of action That literary biography is a kind of strip mining a pathography laying bare the subject's life to no good purpose is another canard this book demolishes The pieces here also expose the genre's weak points a proclivity for overstatement and excessive length the failure of biographers to build upon their predecessors' work Rollyson invents a term biographology in order to discuss the biographical tradition

The Sea in World History Stephen K. Stein, 2017-04-24 This two volume set documents the essential role of the sea and maritime activity across history from travel and food production to commerce and conquest In all eras water transport has served as the cheapest and most efficient means of moving cargo and people over any significant distance Only relatively recently have railroads and aircraft provided an alternative Most of the world's bulk goods continue to travel primarily by ship over water Even today 95 percent of the cargo that enters and leaves the United States does so by ship Similarly people around the world rely on the sea for food and in recent years the sea has become an important source of oil and other resources with the longterm effects of our continuing efforts to extract resources from the sea further highlighting environmental concerns that range from pollution to the exhaustion of fish stocks This chronologically organized two volume reference addresses the history of the sea beginning with ancient civilizations 4000 to 1000 BCE and ending with the modern era 1945 to the present day Each of the eight chapters is further broken down into sections that focus on specific nations or regions offering detailed descriptions of that area of the world and shorter entries on specific topics individuals and events The book spans maritime history covering major seafaring peoples and nations famous explorers travelers and commanders events battles and wars key technologies including famous ships important processes and ongoing events such as piracy and the slave trade and more Readers will benefit from dozens of primary source documents ranging from ancient Egyptian tales of seafaring to texts by renowned travelers like Marco Polo Zheng He and Ibn Battuta that provide firsthand accounts from the age of discovery as well as accounts of battle from World War I and II and more modern accounts of the sea

The Intersectionality of Women's Lives and Resistance Dawn L.
