Patrology: The golden age of Greek patristic literature Johannes Quasten, 1960 Early Christian Latin Poets Carolinne White, 2002-01-04 Christian Latin poetry from the fourth to sixth centuries was hugely influential on English and French medieval literature In this the first substantial overview of this poetry Carolinne White sets the works in their literary and historical context including translations of over thirty poems and excerpts many never translated into English before

The Reformation of the Literal Erik Lundeen, 2025-01-23 What does it mean to read the Bible literally Recent debates on the Protestant reformers have focused on whether they were stridently literal interpreters or maintained a place for allegorical readings However in this nuanced book Lundeen argues that the question of what in fact constituted the Bible's literal sense was also a key question in early modern debates There is no clean binary of literal versus allegorical instead reformers subtly produced a variety of competing literalisms There was not one literal sense in the Reformation but many To make this case Lundeen comparatively analyzes Reformation era commentaries on the prophet Isaiah He further highlights the little known but influential works of the Basel reformer Johannes Oecolampadius who was the first Christian to publish commentaries on most of the biblical prophets in the sixteenth century By placing Oecolampadius in conversation with a host of his better known Christian and Jewish predecessors and contemporaries this book reframes a central aspect of Reformation era biblical exegesis while also providing a constructive resource for those who seek to read the Bible's ancient prophets as Christian scripture today The Resurrection of the Body in Western Christianity, 200-1336 Caroline Walker Bynum, 2017-11-21 A classic of medieval studies The Resurrection of the Body in Western Christianity 200 1336 traces ideas of death and resurrection in early and medieval Christianity Caroline Walker Bynum explores problems of the body and identity in devotional and theological literature suggesting that medieval attitudes toward the body still shape modern notions of the individual This expanded edition includes her 1995 article Why All the Fuss About the Body A Medievalist s Perspective which takes a broader perspective on the book s themes It also includes a new introduction that explores the context in which the book and article were written as well as why the Middle Ages matter for how we think about the body and life after death today Light to the Isles Douglas Dales, 2010-10-29 In this book Dales succeeds in shedding new light on the theological approach to the evangelism of The British Isles and the work of missionaries to and from the British Isles in the Western church throughout the period 400 800 AD Although the historical value of the literary texts analysed is substantial this study gives them an inherent theology pre eminence This reprint is thus an examination of particular people and the beliefs they shared with those who remembered them and who caused these texts to be written Through these pages we discover that the origin of hagiographical literature in this specific area comes from a remote and singular period when the memory of the Roman era and of the church fathers was ever present It was because of the barbarous condition that the Church faced that the stream that fought to keep Latin Christian culture alive to nurture monastic education missionary activity and the ascetic cultivation of sanctity remained hidden St Augustine and His Opponents J. Baun, M. Vinzent, 2010-05-05 Papers presented at the Fifteenth International Conference on Patristic Studies held in Oxford 2007 see also Studia Patristica 44 45 46 47 and 48 The successive sets of Studia Patristica contain papers delivered at the International Conferences on Patristic Studies which meet for a week once every four years in Oxford they are held under the aegis of the Theology Faculty of the University Members of these conferences come from all over the world and most offer papers These range over the whole field both East and West from the second century to a section on the Nachleben of the Fathers The majority are short papers dealing with some small and manageable point they raise and sometimes resolve questions about the authenticity of documents dates of events and such like and some unveil new texts The smaller number of longer papers put such matters into context and indicate wider trends The whole reflects the state of Patristic scholarship and demonstrates the vigour and popularity of the subject Tradition and Theology in St John Cassian A. M. C. Casiday, 2007 John Cassian d c 435 brought the teachings of the Egyptian desert fathers to the Latin West A M C Casiday offers a revisionist account of his work restoring the stories he tells to a position of importance as an integral part of his monastic theology Handbook on the New Testament Use of the Old Testament G.
