Patterns of Power and Authority in English Education Frank Musgrove, 2019-07-31 First published in 1971 this book argues that schools at the time were underpowered due partly to circumstances within contemporary educational institutions but chiefly to their relationships with the wider social environment It suggests that schools lacked bargaining power and that their position deteriorated because they had marketed an ev English Popular Education 1780-1975 David

Wardle, 1976-08-12 An account of the development of education in England from the closing years of the eighteenth century when an attempt was first made to provide an education for all children The author looks in turn at the children being taught the teachers who taught them the methods they used the curriculum and the social and intellectual influences which affected them Teacher Decision-Making in the Classroom John Eggleston, 2018-10-03 Making decisions is one of the main activities of the teacher s work Considered or apparently unconsidered these decisions significantly affect the lives of all who work in classrooms both children and the teachers themselves Originally published in 1979 the aim of this collection of papers was to achieve greater understanding of classroom decision making and its consequences to identify and map existing knowledge and to indicate where it might be augmented The contributors were researchers and teachers from schools universities and colleges at the time and they examine the process of teacher decision making from sociological psychological economic and other perspectives The book includes a detailed analysis of life in the classroom from a phenomenological perspective explorations based on micro economic techniques and structural perspectives on the role of the teacher in the school The concluding papers examine the possibilities for social change given the constraints on the work of the teacher

Policy, Leadership and Professional Knowledge in Education Michael Strain, Dr William F Dennison, Dr Janet Ouston, Dr Valerie Hall, 1998-11-25 For those who want to wallow in the past this is a comfortable book that sets one s own experiences in context For those who will still be working into the next century here are the issues we must face as leaders For those PhD and EdD students seeking topics to research there are all the controversial issues here that still need investigation and it has a stunning list of references a roll call of all the great and the good in the last 25 years of educational administration International Studies in Educational Administration The book is a challenge to everyone concerned with the present and future state of public education in the UK and the rest of the developed world The issues are of special concern to those who are expected to provide leadership in schools and colleges and for those with public and political responsibilities How should our conception of learning and its contribution to a Learning Society be defined How can education and other aspects of social care and nurturing enhance our lives as people irrespective of our performance capabilities What is the role of teachers who also manage learning This book contributes formatively to current debate What can educationists do about the discontinuous changes which threaten parents and professionals alike Must education submit to the stranglehold of economic rationalism It is hoped that this book will assist all those working to promote education s humane and learning aspirations in authors have chosen representative examples which illustrate the main trends in the development of school design and construction

Political Relationship and Narrative Knowledge Peter B. Armitage, 2000-06-30 Armitage taught for one year in a British grammar school from 1971 to 1972 when the school amalgamated with a secondary modern school to form a comprehensive school He followed the political practices and episodes of the amalgamation in relation to their political and educational significance The amalgamation seemed to result in an ineffective and underperforming school and he tried to introduce practical and constructive changes His narrative describes his political struggle to reform the school in the face of an anti democratic and authoritarian culture The causes of failure are analyzed and the real complex and messy functioning of a school system uncovered The need to understand the politics and culture of schooling is advocated A model of micropolitical action and responsibility is demonstrated that could help result in improvement of educational institutions
