Action Performance Art Modern Art grade 1 0 University of Dusseldorf Heinrich Heine Anglistik II language English abstract

The paper focuses on the audience's participation in Abramović's The Artist is Present. It will be analysed in terms of its constitution further as to what extent the audience unknowingly plays an active role in simply being present. The central part of this paper is set on the relationship between artist and viewer. It will deal with how co-subjectivity, embodiment and presence as well as the audience's suggestibility work together to create a unique form of community during the performance. An analytical basis for this closer examination will be provided through the 2012 published documentary by the same title Marina Abramović: The Artist is Present. First, this paper will shortly discuss performativity, embodiment and presence and will give definitions based on primarily Erika Fischer-Lichte's Ästhetik des Performativen in order to establish a general understanding of key factors regarding performance art. Secondly, the most important aspects of Abramović's performance will be presented. The relationship between artist and audience will be analysed and discussed according to the concerns given above. As a result, the unique character of the established community between artist and audience in this specific performance piece will be made clear. Ultimately, it will become apparent as to how the relationship between artist and audience is established through embodiment and presence.

Performance: pt. 1. Identity and the self Philip Auslander, 2003. This collection reflects not only the multidisciplinary nature of current thinking about performance but also the complex and contested nature of the concept itself.

The performance of the artist Marina Abramović in the MoMA - Museum of Modern Art, N.Y. as a mirror of zeitgeist Felicitas Aull, 2011-04-19. Seminar paper from the year 2010 in the subject Art Installation, Action Performance Art, Modern Art, grade 1 0, European University Viadrina, Frankfurt/Oder, course Performing Arts and Spectacles in a Contemporary Multicultural World, language English, abstract.

A woman is sitting on a chair 7 hours a day, almost 3 months. What is this about? The description is confusing. The simplicity stumps the spectator and meanwhile arouses the curiosity: what could be behind that simple concept? 1 565 persons sat in front of Marina Abramović, getting an impression of the spectacle and much more persons even just watched the whole scenario. But what is it exactly that catches our attention that brought so many journalists and the media in motion to speak and write about it? Is it simply our curiosity or is there something more deep and secret to be seen? What is a body even a body that is not moving just sitting possible to tell us? How is it transporting the things it wants to say or the mind behind the body intends to tell? And how can we understand the speech we are going to see? My work became through time more simple and thus more difficult. Three months keeping that mental status face to face with the public feels like opening your soul. Marina Abramović. Maybe it is that citation that sets an inkling of what is happening through this piece of performance. There is a human being opening its soul in the middle of New York, a city with 8 million inhabitants, more than 20 different nations, 12 languages and a status that we can call multiethnic megacity, a symbol for a globalised world that opens its limits and seems to become one fast and continuous movement. The following paper tries to analyse the performance piece The Artist is Present by Marina Abramović.

Teaching Ritual Catherine Bell, 2007-05-11 Many teachers share an interest in bringing a better appreciation of ritual into their religious studies classes but are uncertain how to do it Religious studies faculty know how to teach texts but they often have difficulty teaching something for which the meaning lies in the doing How do you teach such doing How much need be done How does the teacher talk about the religiosity that exists in personalized relationships not textual descriptions or prescriptions These practical issues also give rise to theoretical questions Giving more attention to ritual effectively suggests a reinterpretation of religion itself an understanding less focused on what people have thought and written and more focused on how they engage their universe Many useful analyses of ritual derive from anthropological and sociological premises which may be foreign to religious studies faculty and even seen by some as theologically problematic This is the first resource to address the issues specific to teaching this subject A stellar cast of contributors all scholars of ritual and teachers experienced in using ritual in a wide variety of courses and settings explain what has worked for them in the classroom what has not and what they have learned from the experience of being more real about religion Their voices range from personal to formal their topics from ways to use field trips to the role of architecture The result is a rich guide for teachers who are new to the subject as well as the experienced willing to think about new angles and fresh approaches
