Paul Arthur Schilpp

Philosophy Of Alfred North Whitehead:

Science and Philosophy Alfred North Whitehead, 2014-11-04 From a discussion of Einstein's theories to an analysis of meaning the philosopher offers a fascinating collection of essays on a wide range of topics This is a collection of many of Whitehead's papers that are scattered elsewhere It was the penultimate book he published and represents his mature thoughts on many topics Philosophical Library has done a great service by publishing a representative collection of his writings on the subjects of Philosophy Education and Science The portion on Philosophy includes five papers Immortality Mathematics and the Good Process and Reality John Dewey and His Influence and the Analysis of Meaning The first three chapters consist of Whitehead's personal reflections illumined by flashes of his lively humor They are picturesque and amusing The remainder of the book consists of chapters on Philosophy Education and Science They cover in depth his positions on many scientific and philosophical matters in an extraordinarily unified way The final section of the book is devoted to excellent surveys of Geometry and Mathematics as well as a paper on Einstein's theories The Philosophy of

Henning, 2019-11-27 In these newly commissioned essays leading Whitehead scholars ask a range of important questions about Whitehead's first year of philosophy lectures Do these lectures challenge or confirm previous understandings of Whitehead's published works What is revealed about the development of Whitehead's thought in the crucial period after London but before the publication of Science and the Modern World What should we make of concepts and terms that were introduced in these lectures but were never incorporated into subsequent publications Also included is the text of Whitehead's first lecture at Harvard recently gifted to the Critical Edition allowing for a clearer understanding of Whitehead's plans and goals for his first course of lectures in philosophy than has previously been possible Whitehead's View of Reality W.

Creighton Peden, 2010-03-08 Whitehead's View of Reality developed from conversations between the authors about the need for a work that would be of assistance to students ready to undertake a study of Alfred North Whitehead's Process and Reality The volume begins with a biographical sketch of Whitehead's life in order that one can understand the various stages in his professional development as well as the radically changing times in which his thought progressed It is hoped that the Whiteheads encounter with Gertrude Stein will provide the student with a stronger feeling of Whitehead as a person Charles Hartshorne undertook the task of placing Whitehead within a historical context The context in which Whitehead is presented is that of being one of the few great philosophers in Western culture who engaged in speculative or metaphysical philosophy The influence of Plato and Leibniz is noted as well as Hartshorne's personal preference for Peirce and Bergson in relation to Whitehead's speculative philosophy Whitehead agreed with all these great metaphysicians that the explanation of matter was to be sought in mind not that of mind in matter Hume Kant Russell and William James are noted as major non-speculative thinkers whose thought received careful consideration by Whitehead Hume the Buddhists and Whitehead agreed that strictly speaking a so-called substance is a new concrete reality each moment It is Hartshorne's judgment that Whitehead does the best job of retaining aspects of truth in our commonsense notions of individual things and persons Hartshorne also discusses the paradoxes that arise as we search for our self-identity He contends that we can escape from these paradoxes if we accept Whitehead's contention that concrete actualities are not in the last analysis enduring changing substances but successive momentary stages of what are called substances or individuals This should lead us to understand that we have an asymmetrical identity with the successive momentary stages of our relations Hartshorne also notes that the basic concepts developed by Whitehead are based on his understanding that actual entities are the real subjects that experience perceive remember and think Thus the basic form of experience is perception Hartshorne further suggests that perhaps Whitehead is the first philosopher to view perception which includes memory as experience of the past rather than of the present In discussing Whitehead's philosophical theology Hartshorne indicates that his view of God was an alternative to the standard metaphysical conception of deity which had prevailed since Aristotle The problem of divine knowledge had been at the core of the problems with classical theism The issue was whether everything I do is decided at my coming to exist If so then we are nothing but a clog in the cosmic machinery Hartshorne suggests that the first theologian to view this issue sharply was Fausto Socinus who took the idea of human decision-making seriously and rejected the notion that divine omnipotence determines human decisions He suggested among others had something in common with the Socinians Hartshorne concludes his remarks focusing on unresolved problems in Whitehead's theism Creighton Peden's responsibility is to present an exposition of Whitehead's philosophy with primary attention at first given to his basic terms as well as to the foundation principles and structure of his method Analysis is then given his metaphysical scheme from the perspective of his method The focus of attention then shifts to Whitehead's doctrine of God and his view of religion Peden concludes with a comparative evaluation of Whitehead's position with traditional Christian thought Consideration is given to three general problems raised by traditional Christians The first point of contention is that Whitehead's God is not the infinite and eternal God of the Universe but is rather a limited God within the Universe In the second case traditional Christian theology would assert that Whitehead's God does not actually save because he does not save the individual The third problem would hold that Whitehead's God is not the or a personal God

Alfred North Whitehead George Louis Kline, 1989 This volume's aim is to clarify criticize and theoretically develop some of Whitehead's major philosophic ideas and insights Eighteen distinguished contributors follow Whitehead in his unique attempt to integrate the often disparate concerns of science including mathematics and mathematical logic art religion social life and common sense They manage to avoid the twin pitfalls of uncritical acceptance and impatient rejection of Whitehead's thought They delineate Whitehead's indebtedness to and divergence from the philosophic traditions of Plato Leibniz Hume Hegel Bergson and others Some of the distinguished philosophers contributing to this volume are Charles Hartshorne William Ernest Hocking Richard M Rorty Gregory Vlastos William A Christian Sr Nathaniel Lawrence Ivor Leclerc Victor Lowe Robert M Palter and Donald W Sherburne Originally published in 1963 by Prentice Hall this edition contains a new preface by the editor

The Harvard Lectures of Alfred North Whitehead, 1925 - 1927 Brian G. Henning, Joseph Petek, George Lucas, 2026-02-28 Newly discovered notes on Whitehead's philosophy lectures 1925 1927 This second volume in the critical edition reproduces more than 170 lectures delivered by Alfred North Whitehead at Harvard during his second and third years For the first time readers will be able to see the development of Whitehead's philosophy during the crucial period between the publication of Science and the Modern World and his delivery of the Gifford lectures that would become Process and Reality as he tests his theories in a classroom setting These student notes provide the long missing window into critical developments in Whitehead's thinking during this time They challenge longstanding speculations about when exactly Whitehead developed some of his most famous metaphysical concepts as well as how those concepts are to be properly interpreted against the wider backdrop of his life and thought Also included is a transcript of the only known lecture Whitehead delivered on the topic of ethics two mid year exams given to his students and nearly 2 000 footnotes that provide additional context for the lectures and alternative student accounts of key passages Brian G Henning Founding Executive Editor of the Critical Edition of Whitehead is Professor of Philosophy and Environmental Studies at Gonzaga University in Spokane Washington Joseph Petek Assistant Editor of the Critical Edition is a doctoral candidate in process studies at Claremont School of Theology George Lucas is Distinguished Chair in Ethics and Professor Emeritus of Philosophy at the US Naval Academy
