Public Opinion Process How The People Speaks:

The Public Opinion Process Irving Crespi,1997 In The Public Opinion Process How the People Speak Irving Crespi tackles the questions What is public opinion and How can we best study it through the use of a process model that defines public opinion and identifies an approach to studying it The process model presented here serves as a framework for the myriad ideas and facts that until now have been imperfectly related to each other and facilitates further analysis of the public opinion process The Public Opinion Process Irving Crespi,2013-11-05 What is public opinion How can we best study it This work presents a process model that answers these questions by defining public opinion in a way that also identifies an approach to studying it The model serves as a framework into which the findings of empirical research are integrated producing a comprehensive understanding of public opinion that encompasses the congeries of middle range theories that have emerged from empirical research The three dimensional process model and the way it is explicated satisfies the diverse and sometimes divergent needs and interests of political scientists sociologists social psychologists and communication specialists who study public opinion This is achieved by clearly differentiating and interrelating the following individual opinions the judgmental outcomes of a process in which attitudinal systems comprised of beliefs values interests and feelings function as intervening variables that direct and structure perceptions of public issues collective opinions the outcomes of communication from which mutual awareness emerges and that integrate separate individual opinions into a significant social force and political roles of collective and individual opinions the outcomes of the extent to which collective and individual opinions have achieved legitimacy as the basis for governing a people DON T USE THIS PARAGRAPH FOR GENERAL CATALOGS Each dimension of the model has its corresponding subprocess transactions between individuals and their environments communications among individuals and collectives and political legitimation of public opinion Since the process model is by definition interactional none of the three dimensions has theoretical or sequential priority over the others Instead of treating the psychological political and sociological aspects of public opinion as separate stages of an unidirectional process the three aspects are modeled as dimensions of a complex ongoing system in continuous interaction with each other This conceptualization satisfies the need for a truly interdisciplinary theory in that it demands that each dimension be studied in terms of its defining sub process It also avoids the twin errors of reductionism and reification in the study of public opinion Lessons From The Arctic Emily Tsui,Thomas S Axworthy,Sara French,2020-08-06 Lessons from the Arctic The Role of Regional Government in International Affairs is a collection of articles written by twenty six leading and emerging scholars from across the circumpolar region Each author assesses and explores the processes of regional governance in the Arctic from an interdisciplinary perspective The topics include Indigenous internationalism paradiplomacy federalism global institution building and more Encyclopedia of Communication Theory Stephen W. Mehlretter Drury, 2014-03-03 The role of public opinion in American democracy has been a central concern of scholars who frequently examine how public opinion influences policy makers and how politicians especially presidents try to shape public opinion But in Speaking with the People's Voice How Presidents Invoke Public Opinion Jeffrey P Mehlretter Drury asks a different question that adds an important new dimension to the study of public opinion How do presidents rhetorically use public opinion in their speeches In a careful analysis supported by case studies and discrete examples Drury develops the concept of invoked public opinion to study the modern presidents use of public opinion as a rhetorical resource He defines the term as the rhetorical representation of the beliefs and values of US citizens Speaking with the People's Voice considers both the strategic and democratic value of invoked public opinion by analyzing how modern presidents argumentatively deploy references to the beliefs and values of US citizens as persuasive appeals as well as acts of political representation in their nationally televised speeches Eugen Rosenstock-Huessy M.
