The Interior Building David W. Look,1986 Earth Songs, Moon Dreams Patricia Janis Broder,2013-12-10 Earth Songs Moon Dreams Paintings by American Indian Women is a celebration of the contributions of Native American women to America s cultural heritage Focusing on both traditional and modern art and offering an historical and stylistic overview Broder s book includes the work of Native American women belonging to more than forty tribes across the United States and Canada Earth Songs Moon Dreams features historically important works by pioneer artists of the early twentieth century classic examples of the Indian School tradition examples of the first successful attempts to interpret the techniques of modernism as compatible with the symbols and stylistic conventions of traditional Indian art and examples of the work of the most innovative and accomplished Native American women painting today Includes over 100 gorgeous full color reproductions Broder has prepared an introduction on each artist and then presents one or two samples of her work The American Indian Craft Book Marz Minor,1978-01-01 Historical information and descriptions of Indian crafts of different tribes Connected Communities Matthew A. Peeples,2018-02-20 The Cibola region on the Arizona New Mexico border has fascinated archaeologists for more than a century The region s core is recognized as the ancestral homeland of the contemporary Zuni people and the area also spans boundaries between the Ancestral Puebloan and Mogollon culture areas The complexity of cross cutting regional and cultural designations makes this an ideal context within which to explore the relationship between identity and social change at broad regional scales In Connected Communities Matthew A Peeples examines a period of dramatic social and political transformation in the ancient Cibola region ca A D 1150 1325 He analyzes archaeological data generated during a century of research through the lens of new and original social theories and methods focused on exploring identity social networks and social transformation In so doing he demonstrates the value of comparative synthetic analysis The book addresses some of the oldest enduring questions in archaeology How do large scale social identities form How do they change How can we study such processes using material remains Peeples approaches these questions using a new set of methods and models from the broader comparative social sciences relational sociology and social networks to track the trajectories of social groups in terms of both networks of interactions relations and expressions of similarity or difference categories He argues that archaeological research has too often conflated these different kinds of social identity and that this has hindered efforts to understand the drivers of social change In his strikingly original approach Peeples combines massive amounts of new data and comparative explorations of contemporary social movements to provide new insights into how social identities formed and changed during this key period Food and Drink Jim Harter,2012-12-03 Over 350 illustrations of different foods people eating utensils banquets menus wine lists Beautifully reproduced 19th century line drawings depict every conceivable activity concerned with the preparation display and consumption of food and drink Rustic and Rough-hewn Alphabets Dan X.
