Pulpit And Communion Table:

Liturgical Space Nigel Yates, 2017-05-15 This is the first comprehensive and up to date account of the internal arrangement of church buildings in Western Europe between 1500 and 2000 showing how these arrangements have met the liturgical needs of their respective denominations Catholic and Protestant over this period In addition to a chapter looking at the general impact of the Reformation on church buildings there are separate chapters on the churches of the Lutheran Reformed Anglican and Roman Catholic traditions between the mid sixteenth and mid nineteenth centuries and on the ecclesiological movement of the nineteenth century and the liturgical movement of the twentieth century both of which have impacted on all the churches of Western Europe over the past 150 years The book is extensively illustrated with figures in the text and a series of plates and also contains comprehensive guides to both further reading and buildings to visit throughout Western Europe

Pulpit and Communion Table John Duncan, 1969 Church architecture considered, in relation to the mind of the Church since and before the Reformation: in 2 addresses, to the Down and Connor and Dromore church architecture society, by the lord bishop of the diocese Richard Mant (bp. of Down, Connor and Dromore.), 1843

Preaching, Word and Sacrament Nigel Yates, 2009-02-12 This study follows on from Yates standard work Buildings Faith and Worship the Liturgical Arrangement of Anglican Churches 1600 1900 OUP 1991 revised edition 2000 and Liturgical Space in Western Europe since the Reformation Ashgate 2008 to provide the first detailed study of Scottish post Reformation church interiors for fifty years In the intervening period many of the buildings described by George Hay have been demolished converted to non ecclesiastical use or liturgically reordered However this study goes further to include many surviving examples not noted by Hay and extends his work further into the nineteenth century with a detailed study of buildings up to 1860 and with a more general consideration of later nineteenth and early twentieth century church architecture in Scotland The detailed study of developments in Scotland especially those in the Presbyterian churches are set in the context of comparative developments in other parts of Britain and Europe especially those in the Reformed churches of the Netherlands and Switzerland to create a groundbreaking new study by an established author Altars Restored Kenneth Fincham, Nicholas Tyacke, 2007-11-29 By looking at what happened physically in the local churches in contrast to the formal enactments of government and using sources such as churchwardens accounts and surviving religious artefacts the book recaptures the experience of the ordinary parishioner in this crucial period of religious change Buildings, Faith, and Worship Nigel Yates, 2000 This is the first major study for over forty years of the liturgical arrangement of Anglican churches in the period between the Reformation and the Oxford Movement The study is based both on surviving buildings and on a wide range of archival sources such as seating plans which are used to document internal changes and to suggest reasons behind them In the course of the book Nigel Yates challenges many widely held assumptions about the liturgical outlook of the Pre Tractarian period and about the impact of ecclesiology on the Church of England In particular he emphasizes the existence hitherto disregarded of a Church of England movement for liturgical renewal between 1780 and 1840 which to a degree anticipated some of the ideas previously attributed solely to the ecclesiologists The discussion is firmly set within the context of European Protestantism and comparisons are drawn with the liturgical practices both of Calvinists and Lutherans
