Purchasing To Improve Health Systems Performance:

EBOOK: Purchasing to Improve Health Systems Performance Josep Figueras, Ray Robinson, Elke Jakubowski, 2005-03-16 Purchasing is championed as key to improving health systems performance. However, despite the central role the purchasing function plays in many health system reforms, there is very little evidence about its development or its real impact on societal objectives. This book addresses this gap and provides a comprehensive account of the theory and practice of purchasing for health services across Europe. An up-to-date analysis of the evidence on different approaches to purchasing. Support for policy makers and practitioners as they formulate purchasing strategies so that they can increase effectiveness and improve performance in their own national context. An assessment of the intersecting roles of citizens, the government, and the providers. Written by leading health policy analysts, this book is essential reading for health policy makers, planners, and managers, as well as researchers and students in the field of health studies. Contributors: Toni Ashton, Philip Berman, Michael Borowitz, Helmut Brand, Reinhard Busse, Andrea Donatini, Martin Dlouhy, Antonio Duran, Tamás Evetovits, András P. van den Exter, Josep Figueras, Nick Freemantle, Julian Forder, Peter Gál, Chris Ham, Brian Hardy, Petr Hava, David Hunter, Danguole Jankauskiene, Maris Jesse, Ninel Kadyrova, Joe Kutzin, John Langenbrunner, Donald W. Smith, Elias Mossialos, Irene Papanicolas, Sheila Leatherman, 2010-01-07 In a world where there is increasing demand for the performance of health providers to be measured, there is a need for a more strategic vision of the role that performance measurement can play in securing health system improvement. This volume meets this need by presenting the opportunities and challenges associated with performance measurement in a framework that is clear and easy to understand. It examines the various levels at which health system performance is undertaken, the technical instruments and tools available, and the implications using these may have for those charged with the governance of the health system. Technical material is presented in an accessible way and is illustrated with examples from all over the world. Performance Measurement for Health System Improvement is an authoritative and practical guide for policy makers, regulators, patient groups, and researchers. Health Systems Financing World Health Organization, 2010 This World Health Report was produced under the overall direction of Carissa Etienne and Anarfi Asamoah Baah. The principal writers were David B. Evans et al. Paying for Performance in Health Care: Implications for Health System Performance and Accountability OECD, World Health Organization, 2014-10-06 This report examines recent activation policies in the United Kingdom aimed at moving people back into work. It offers insight into how countries can improve the effectiveness of their employment services and also control spending on benefits. Paying for Performance in Healthcare: Implications for Health System Performance and Accountability Cheryl Cashin, Y-Ling Chi, Michael Borowitz, Sarah Thompson, 2014-09-16 Health spending continues to grow faster than the economy in most OECD countries. In 2010, the OECD published a study of strategies to increase value for money in health care in which pay for performance (P4P) was identified as an innovative tool to improve health system efficiency in several OECD countries. However, evidence that P4P increases value for money, boosts quality of processes in health care, or improves health outcomes is limited. This book explores the many questions surrounding P4P, such as whether the potential power of P4P has been oversold or whether the disappointing results to date are more likely rooted in problems of design and implementation or inadequate monitoring and evaluation. The book also examines the supporting systems and process in addition to incentives that are necessary for P4P to improve provider performance and to drive and sustain improvement. The book utilises a substantial set of case studies from 12 OECD countries to shed light on P4P programs in practice. Featuring both high and middle income countries, cases from primary and acute care settings, and a range of both national and pilot programmes, each case study features Analysis of the design and implementation decisions including the role of stakeholders Critical assessment of objectives versus results Examination of the of net impacts including positive spillover effects and unintended consequences The detailed analysis of these 12 case studies together with the rest of this critical text highlight the realities of P4P programs and their potential impact on the performance of health systems in a diversity of settings As a result this book provides critical insights into the experience to date with P4P and how this tool may be better leveraged to improve health system performance and accountability This title is in the European Observatory on Health Systems and Policies Series OECD Reviews of Health Systems: Mexico 2016 OECD, 2016-01-07 Ten years after the introduction of publically funded universal health insurance the Mexican health system finds itself at a critical juncture Health System Performance Comparison: an Agenda for Policy, Information and Research Irene Papanicolas, Peter Smith, 2013-06-16 International comparison of health system performance has become increasingly popular made possible by the rapidly expanding availability of health data It has become one of the most important levers for prompting health system reform Yet as the demand for transparency and accountability in healthcare increases so too does the need to compare data from different health systems both accurately and meaningfully This timely and authoritative book offers an important summary of the current developments in health system performance comparison It summarises the current state of efforts to compare systems and identifies and explores the practical and conceptual challenges that occur It discusses data and methodological challenges as well as broader issues such as the interface between evidence and practice The book draws out the priorities for future work on performance comparison in the development of data sources and measurement instruments analytic methodology and assessment of evidence on performance It concludes by presenting the key lessons and future priorities and in doing so offers a rich source of material for policy makers their analytic advisors international agencies academics and students of health systems Improving Health Sector Performance Hossein Jalilian, Vicheth Sen, 2011 There is growing international evidence that the effectiveness of health services stems primarily from the extent to which the incentives facing providers and consumers are aligned with better health objectives Efficiency in health service provision requires that providers and consumers have incentives to use healthcare resources in ways that generate the maximum health gains Equity in at least one sense requires that consumers requiring the same care are treated equally irrespective of their ability to pay Efficiency in the use of health services requires that consumers are knowledgeable about the services on offer and which are most appropriate to their needs The papers in this volume are selected from an international conference organised by the CDRI Cambodia that tried to deal with some of these issues With participation of international and local experts it aimed at collecting major experiences and innovative solutions from inside and outside the country to improve health sector performance with particular focus on institutions motivations and incentives Manual de pago por desempeño György Bèla Fritsche, Robert Soeters, Bruno Meessen, 2015-07-21 Los enfoques de Pago por Desempeño PPD se han expandido con rapidez

Health Care Policy In East Asia: A World Scientific Reference (In 4 Volumes) , 2019-11-25 During the past three decades health care systems in the East Asian regions of China Japan South Korea and Taiwan have undergone major changes Each system has its unique achievements and challenges Global health care policymakers are increasingly interested in understanding the changes that have taken place in these four systems This four volume reference set is designed to help health care professionals academics policymakers and general readers gain a good grasp of the background and latest developments in the health care systems of China Japan South Korea and Taiwan This reference set provides an in depth comparative health policy analysis and discussion of health care reform strategies in each of these systems One unique feature of this set is that each volume has been edited by a leading scholar who has been deeply involved in the development of the health care system in that particular region. Each of these editors also has invited both scholars and practitioners to provide a first hand description and analysis of key health care reform issues in that system. The many examples provided in each volume demonstrate how findings of evidence based policy research can be implemented into policy practice. Volume 1 describes and discusses China's ambitious and complex journey of health care reform since 2009. The Chinese government has achieved universal health insurance coverage and has embarked on reforms of the service delivery system and provider payment methods that are aimed at controlling health expenditure growth and improving efficiency. This volume includes pilot and social experiments initiated by the government and researchers and their evaluations that have guided the formulation of health reform policies. It provides information on how to make reforms work at the local and provincial levels. The findings detailed in this volume will contribute to a global knowledge base in health care reforms. Volume 2 provides a comprehensive review and evaluation of the Japanese health care system. Japan has a long history of health care system development and provision of universal health coverage with a mature and well developed health care system among East Asian countries. However due to increases in health care costs economic stagnation and the country's rapidly aging population Japan has undergone significant health care reform during the last two decades both in the delivery as well as financing of health services in its hospital sector medical technology sector and long term care insurance. Despite these challenges and reforms health outcomes among the Japanese population have been progressively among the best in the world. This volume shows how policy research can lead to policy analysis implementation and assessment. It also provides valuable lessons learnt for mutual learning among other health care systems. Volume 3 offers a comprehensive review of the developments in South Korea's national health insurance system since 1989 in terms of financing delivery systems and outcomes. The volume analyzes the efficiency of cost and service delivery by public sectors versus private sectors. It points out areas of challenge to future Korean health care reform. Chapter authors in this volume are leading experts involved in Korean health care policy implementation. Volume 4 reviews the development and achievements of Taiwan Health Insurance since 1995. Because of its continuous reform in payment services delivery and pharmaceutical technology Taiwan has been considered a model example of universal health insurance among global health systems. This volume shows the processes used to translate policy research findings into policy changes. While the health care reform in Taiwan is ongoing the Taiwan example provides a real world and practical understanding of health care system changes. In summary this four volume set makes an outstanding contribution to health care system reform and policy research based on solid scholarly work. It also introduces policy researchers and academic communities to current debates about health systems health financing and universal health coverage. This reference volume is a must for anyone keen on East Asia's health care system reform dynamics and changing scene.
