| 4. Psychiatric damage                                   | When the claimant suffers psychiatric damage – the precise definition is not explored in this element.   |

Four Definitions in general negligence...

When there is no damage to the claimant's property or injury to their person. (All not usually recoverable)

There are 3 categories of pure economic loss.

General rule – first type of pure economic loss not recoverable
1. Economic loss not flowing from damage to person or property
 This type is usually owed in respect of PEL

e.g., bad investment or loss of inheritance

2. Loss arising from damage to the property of another
 (Weller & co v foot & mouth disease research institute)

If a claimant suffers economic loss because of damage to property in which they have no proprietary interest, the loss will be categorised as pure economic loss.

PEL caused by negligent misstatement

Three tests created for establishing duty of care (Hedley byrne v bauer)

3. Defective advice
 One must be satisfied
 (Murphy v Brentwood district council)

1. Reasonable reliance

They have not suffered physical damage as this is when a) the claimant relied on defendant's advice (objective test) b) it was reasonable for the claimant to rely. They have always had the property subject to the defect. In such an

(various factors to consider)
 - special relationship must be available in a contractual claim
 - special skill or knowledge held by the defendant
 (petroleum co ltd v mardon)

Exceptions to the general rule for PEL

1. negligent statements (the society v helle v Heller)

- general context in which advice was given (chaudhry v prabhu)

where the PEL was caused by a negligent statement (also where the claimant was a professional) c) the defendant's negligence was a direct cause, the courts might find a duty of care was owed.

2. Voluntary assumption of responsibility (caparo)

where the statements cause physical harm, then the usual industries plc v dickman & others) the question of duty (Perrett v

a) defendant communicated advice to claimant or knew it would be communicated

b) defendant knew the purpose of their advice

c) defendant knew or reasonably believed claimant would rely on the advice

d) claimant acted upon that advice to their detriment beneficiary (not the testator who suffers a loss, solicitor therefore owes a duty to the beneficiary.

3. Special relationship of trust and confidence

where the relationship is a fiduciary relationship (the others)

exercise such a degree of care where it was reasonable for them to do that and where the other gave advice

when they knew or ought to have known that the enquirer was relying on them.

Tax Treaties: Building Bridges between Law and Economics, 2010 In this book experts from the field of economics take a different view of tax treaty issues than experts from the field of law In order to encourage the much needed communication between these two groups a cross disciplinary conference was held to discuss selected tax treaty issues from both a legal and economic perspective Twenty five conference papers on eight topics were prepared by lawyers and economists The papers on legal issues were presented and discussed by economists and vice versa The interdisciplinary focus of the conference not only allowed an exchange of knowledge between two groups who think differently about similar issues but also made it possible to better grasp the impact of the thinking of one group on the areas of interest to the other group The outcome of the conference is reflected in this book By showing the legal and the economic approaches to an issue this book improves the general understanding of the two disciplines and demonstrates how the decisions in one discipline may influence the other discipline and its concepts Twenty two contributions are included written by the most distinguished academics practitioners and representatives of several international tax administrations and both tax and economic institutions Tort Steve Hedley, 2011-03-03 The Core Text Series provides students with books which cover the core of a particular subject without over simplifying and in a way that is accessible This particular volume in the series looks at the law of tort
