German Religious Women in Late Ottoman Beirut Julia Hauser, 2015-04-14 In German Religious Women in Late Ottoman Beirut Competing Missions Julia Hauser offers a critical analysis of the German Protestant Kaiserswerth deaconesses orphanage and boarding school for girls in late Ottoman Beirut as situated within the larger field of educational development in the city Drawing among other sources on the deaconesses largely unpublished letters home her study illuminates that the only way missionary organizations like the deaconesses could succeed was by entering into negotiations with their local environment adapting their agenda in the process Mission therefore was shaped not merely at home but by conflictual negotiations on the periphery a perspective quite different from the top down isolationist perspective of earlier research on missions

Reinventing the American Thoroughbred

Gary A. O'Dell, 2025-06-10 Most equine authorities consider Alexander Keene Richards 1827-1881 one of the nineteenth century's most significant Thoroughbred importers and breeders Born in Georgetown Kentucky and orphaned as a toddler Richards was adopted by his grandfather from whom he inherited not only the family farm in Georgetown but also Transylvania a cotton plantation in East Carroll Parish Louisiana. Horses fascinated Richards from an early age and as his passion deepened he became convinced that the key to improving the stamina of the Thoroughbred in an era when American racing consisted of grueling long distance competitions was to crossbreed American horses with the magnificent steeds of the Middle East. As Reinventing the American Thoroughbred recounts, Richards traveled thousands of miles on expeditions into the heart of Syria to obtain Arabian stock of the purest blood. He became the first American indeed the first Westerner to venture into the desert to bargain directly with nomadic tribesmen for their horses. Richards transported the animals back to his grandfather's farm near Georgetown which he transformed into a premier breeding establishment called Blue Grass Park. He also used his Transylvania plantation in Louisiana for similar purposes. Richards relied on Ansel Williamson, an enslaved horse trainer, to prepare his Thoroughbreds for racing. Williamson developed a reputation as one of the best handlers in the nation. The Civil War interrupted Richards's equine breeding experiment. Dependent on southern cotton produced by enslaved labor for his wealth, Richards sided with the Confederacy and was appointed volunteer aide de camp by General John C. Breckinridge. During his brief military career he served at Vicksburg and later in the attack on Baton Rouge. In late 1862 he received Breckinridge's permission to travel to England to purchase artillery for the general's Kentucky brigade. Richards remained in London for the remainder of the war, returning to the United States after receiving amnesty. Bankrupt, he spent the rest of his life attempting to rebuild Blue Grass Park as a nationally recognized Thoroughbred facility. Richards's life story chronicled here for the first time by Gary A. O'Dell is an epic tale of adventure, experimentation, and devastation that illuminates the grand history of the American Thoroughbred industry in fresh and fascinating ways.
