Cohen, Philip Salapatek, 2013-10-22 Infant Perception From Sensation to Cognition Volume II Perception of Space Speech and Sound covers comprehensive programmatic examinations which are arranged along a continuum from basic sensory and neurophysiological functioning to information processing and memory This volume is organized into two parts encompassing six chapters and begins with the difficulties prior research has had in assessing infant perception of depth or space The next chapters provide a link between infants' perception of space and their perception of objects and evaluate both psychometric studies of object concept development and studies focusing specifically on Piaget's theory. These topics are followed by discussions of the infant's development of the concept of self and that concept is used to explain the infant's perception of other persons. The final chapters deal with the infant vision and audition. These chapters specifically describe the developmental anatomy of the auditory pathway and the electrophysiological functioning and capacity. A series of studies on the infant's receptiveness for the segmental units of speech, the ability to perceive phonemic feature contrasts and the manner in which this perception occurs is also provided. This book will prove useful to developmental psychologists and biologists.

Cutting Loose Howard Halpern, 1990-04-15 With more than thirty-five years of experience in psychotherapy, Dr. Halpern enables the adult child to understand his or her parent and foster a positive, healthy adult relationship. In all respects, you appear to be well-adjusted, reasonably successful adult, but in the presence of your parents, you feel vulnerable, dependent, guilty, insecure, childlike. They manipulate you, smother you, demand your attention or elicit your resentment. In clear, nonclinical terms, renowned psychotherapist Dr. Howard Halpern shows you how to break these familiar family routines so that you can build healthy, rewarding parent-child relationships. He teaches you, for example, how to handle martyred mothers, despotic fathers and moralistic, unloving or seductive parents. He also addresses the sensitive topics of how to deal with aging, divorced or dying parents. Resolving conflicts with your parents will enable you, finally, to cut loose, to start being yourself, rather than your parent's child. Without guilt, revenge or fear as your motives, you will be able to make the choices in love, work and values that do justice to who you are.

With more than thirty-five years of experience in psychotherapy, Dr. Halpern enables the adult child to understand his or her parent and foster a positive, healthy adult relationship.
