Dankert, Eiteljorg Museum of American Indians and Western Art, Dean A. Porter, 1994 Branding the American West Marian Wardle, Sarah E. Boehme, 2016-02-17 Artists and filmmakers in the early twentieth century reshaped our vision of the American West In particular the Taos Society of Artists and the California based artist Maynard Dixon departed from the legendary depiction of the Wild West and fostered new images or brands for western art This volume illustrated with more than 150 images examines select paintings and films to demonstrate how these artists both enhanced and contradicted earlier representations of the West Prior to this period American art tended to portray the West as a wild frontier with untamed lands and peoples Renowned artists such as Henry Farny and Frederic Remington set their work in the past invoking an environment immersed in conflict and violence This trademark perspective began to change however when artists enamored with the Southwest stamped a new imprint on their paintings The contributors to this volume illuminate the complex ways in which early twentieth century artists as well as filmmakers evoked a southwestern environment not just suspended in time but also permanent rather than transient Yet as the authors also reveal these artists were not entirely immune to the siren call of the vanishing West and their portrayal of peaceful yet exotic Native Americans was an expansion rather than a dismissal of earlier tropes Both brands cast a romantic spell on the West and both have been seared into public consciousness Branding the American West is published in association with the Brigham Young University Museum of Art Provo Utah and the Stark Museum of Art Orange Texas Frontiers and Beyond Eiteljorg Museum of American Indians and Western Art, 2005 , Museums and Historic Sites of the American West Victor J. attention on the lived experiences of diverse peoples and communities It also serves as the companion publication for the exhibition Acts of Faith opening fall 2023 at the New York Historical Society Religion and the American West is a story of vibrant innovation and tragic conflict showcasing how historical actors and modern day readers wrestle with the meaning of religious belief in the American West American Cowboy ,1994-07 Published for devotees of the cowboy and the West American Cowboy covers all aspects of the Western lifestyle delivering the best in entertainment personalities travel rodeo action human interest art poetry fashion food horsemanship history and every other facet of Western culture With stunning photography and you are there reportage American Cowboy immerses readers in the cowboy life and the magic that is the great American West Indians in Color Norman K Denzin,2016-12-14 In Indians in Color noted cultural critic Norman K Denzin addresses the acute differences in the treatment of artwork about Native America created by European trained artists compared to those by Native artists In his fourth volume exploring race and culture in the New West Denzin zeroes in on painting movements in Taos New Mexico over the past century Part performance text part art history part cultural criticism part autoethnography he once again demonstrates the power of visual media to reify or resist racial and cultural stereotypes moving us toward a more nuanced view of contemporary Native American life In this book Denzin contrasts the aggrandizement by collectors and museums of the art created by the early 20th century Taos Society of Artists under railroad sponsorship with that of indigenous Pueblo painters shows how these tensions between mainstream and Native art remains today and introduces a radical postmodern artistic aesthetic of contemporary Native artists that challenges notions of the noble savage
