

PAKISTAN and the BOMB

Public Opinion and Nuclear Options
SAMINA AHMED AND DAVID CORTRIGHT, EDITORS

Through the lens of a comprehensive survey of Pakistani public attitudes toward nuclear weapons policy, this volume provides an in-depth view of the nuclear choices facing Pakistan. Based on the most thorough survey of Pakistani public opinion on nuclear policy ever conducted, Pakistan and the Bomb examines the factors that brought a de facto nuclear arms competition to South Asia. A majority of the Pakistani elites surveyed support their country's official position of keeping the nuclear option open—neither renouncing nuclear weapons nor acquiring them—while almost one-third of those surveyed favored an overt policy of going nuclear. Fear of a possible threat from India is the principal factor underlying support for the nuclear option.

The survey also explored the conditions that might persuade Pakistani elites to renounce the nuclear weapons option. The prospect of improved relations with India and a verifiable renunciation of New Delhi's nuclear program would be important factors in this decision. By far the most significant consideration in persuading Pakistanis to forego the nuclear option would be a final settlement with India on the Kashmir dispute.

Pakistan and the Bomb democratizes the debate over nuclear weapons in South Asia by highlighting a new generation of young Pakistani authors. The chapters in the book examine the nuclear policy choices facing Pakistan, from nuclear abstinence to outright weaponization, and apply the findings of the public opinion poll to evaluate a level of popular support for each option. Pakistan and the Bomb offers a new vision for evaluating the nuclear standoff in South Asia and identifying the steps that can lead to a more secure, nuclear-weapon-free future.

SAMINA AHMED is a research analyst with the Institute of Regional Studies in Islamabad, Pakistan, and has published numerous scholarly articles in the United States, Pakistan, India, Bangladesh, Nepal, and Sri Lanka.

DAVID CORTRIGHT is the president of the Fourth Freedom Forum since 1992. He is also a senior fellow at the Joan B. Pakistan's Nuclear Policy Zafar Khan, 2014-07-17 In May 1998 in reaction to India's nuclear weapons tests Pakistan tested six nuclear weapons Following this the country opted for a policy of minimum deterrence and within a year Pakistan had altered its policy stance by adding the modifier of minimum credible deterrence This book looks at how this seemingly innocuous shift seriously impacted on Pakistan's nuclear policy direction and whether the concept of minimum has lost its significance in the South Asian region's changed changing strategic environment After providing a brief historical background exploring why and how Pakistan carried out the nuclear development program the book questions why Pakistan could not sustain the minimum deterrence that it had conceptualized in the immediate aftermath of the 1998 test It examines the conceptual theoretical framework of the essentials of minimum deterrence in order to question whether Pakistan's nuclear policy remained consistent with this as well as to discover the rudimentary factors that are responsible for the inconsistencies with regard to minimum deterrence conceived in this study The book goes on to look at the policy options that Pakistan had after acquiring the nuclear capability and what the rationale was for selecting minimum deterrence The book not only highlights Pakistan's deterrent force building but also analyzes closely Pakistan's doctrinal posture of first use option Furthermore it examines the policy towards arms control and disarmament and discusses whether these individual policy orientations are consistent with the minimum deterrence Conceptually providing a deeper understanding of Pakistan's post 1998 nuclear policy this book critically examines whether the minimum deterrence conceived could be sustained both at the theoretical and operational levels It will be a useful contribution in the field of Nuclear Policy Security Studies Asian Politics Proliferation Non Proliferation Studies and Peace Studies This book will be of interest to policy makers scholars and students of nuclear policy nuclear proliferation and arms control related research Pakistan's Nuclear Disorder Garima Singh,2006 Non proliferation concerns have often been shrugged off by nations for short term and short sighted strategic interests The present relationship between Pakistan and the US is a case in point Though a member of the NPT coupled with non proliferation as its foreign policy the US has been turning a blind eye to Pakistan s long and avid quest for nuclear weapons primarily to serve its own short term strategic interests in the region Pakistan well aware of this has exploited the situation to full The focus of this work is to determine whether the Western experts apprehensions on the safety and security of Pakistan s nuclear installations and fissile material are well founded or an exaggeration The decades old nuclear trade between Pakistan and other countries has also been discussed with a view to highlighting the fact that A Q Khan s proliferation linkages did not come as a surprise to the US emphasizing the point that Washington had been turning a blind eye to the nuclear linkages and programmes for its own strategic interests The study also holds that NPT has been unsuccessful in controlling nuclear proliferation and suggests ways to curb further proliferation South Asian Security and International Nuclear Order Professor Mario Esteban Carranza,2013-03-28 Mario Carranza studies in depth the linkages between Indo Pakistani nuclear relations and the International Nuclear Order He critically analyzes the de facto recognition by the United States of India and Pakistan as nuclear weapon states and looks at the impact of that recognition on the International Nuclear Order and its linchpin the Nuclear Non Proliferation Treaty NPT The book provides a critical analysis of the New International Nuclear Order sponsored by the United States after the September 11 terrorist attacks and the place of India and Pakistan in that order The author considers the survival of India and Pakistan in relation to a strategy of nuclear deterrence and debates the possibility of establishing a robust nuclear arms control regime in South Asia as part of a broader effort to revive global nuclear arms control and disarmament negotiations South Asian Cultures of the Bomb Itty Abraham,2009-03-26 Since their founding as independent nations nuclear issues have been key elements of nationalism and the public sphere in both India and Pakistan Yet the relationship between nuclear arms and civil society in the region is seldom taken into account in conventional security studies These original and provocative essays examine the political and ideological components of national drives to possess and test nuclear weapons Equal coverage for comparable issues in each country frames the volume as a genuine dialogue across this contested boundary Nuclear Politics Alexandre Debs,Nuno P. Monteiro,2017 A comprehensive theory of the causes of nuclear proliferation alongside an in depth analysis of sixteen historical cases of nuclear development The Nuclear Shadow over South Asia, 1947 to the Present Kaushik Roy,2017-03-02 This collection of seminal articles illustrates the reasons for the spiraling nuclear race in the Asian subcontinent and introduces the principal debates in the field Authors discuss whether the acquisition of nuclear weapons by the South Asian powers has raised the likelihood of a nuclear war in the subcontinent or reduced the chance of a conventional war breaking out They examine whether a small nuclear arsenal or a nuclear triad as declared by India is suitable for bringing stability to the region as well as the risk of an accidental nuclear conflagration The first section charts the evolution of nuclear programmes on the basis of realpolitik and the second section analyses nuclear policies on the basis of religious and cultural ethos A few essays turn the spotlight on the role of external powers in accelerating decelerating and mediating the ongoing nuclear tension between India and Pakistan

South Asia's Nuclear Security Dilemma Lowell Dittmer, 2015-04-08 The nuclear test explosions in India and Pakistan in 1998 followed by the outbreak of hostilities over Kashmir in 1999 marked a frightening new turn in the ancient bitter enmity between the two nations Although the tension was eclipsed by the events of 9 11 and the subsequent American attacks on Afghanistan and Iraq it has not disappeared as evidenced by the 2001 attack in the Indian Parliament by Islamic fundamentalists out of Kashmir By 2002 these two nuclear armed neighbors seemed to be once again on the brink of war This book outlines the strategic structure of the rivalry and the dynamic forces driving it and investigates various possible solutions The expert contributors focus on the India Pakistan rivalry but also consider the China factor in South Asia's nuclear security dilemma Although essentially political strategic in its approach the book includes coverage of opposing military arsenals and the impact of local terrorism on the delicate balance of power
