Pakistan's Arms Procurement and Military Buildup, 1979-99 A. Siddiqua-Agha, 2001-03-20 The strategic imperative is held as the primary explanation for Pakistan's military buildup This book presents a fundamental departure in presenting an analysis of the internal dynamics of defence management and decisionmaking in Pakistan a new nuclear weapon state This is an in depth study of Pakistan's security link with its arms suppliers and defence industrial capacity and the influence of Pakistan's Army on conventional and non conventional defence decisions The analysis is backed with numerous case studies of defence decisions carried out from 1979-99 The Routledge Handbook of Security Studies Myriam Dunn Cavelty, Victor Mauer, 2009-12-16 Focusing on contemporary challenges this major new Handbook offers a wide ranging collection of cutting edge essays from leading scholars in the field of Security Studies The field of Security Studies has undergone significant change during the past twenty years and is now one of the most dynamic sub disciplines within International Relations It now encompasses issues ranging from pandemics and environmental degradation to more traditional concerns about direct violence such as those posed by international terrorism and inter state armed conflict A comprehensive volume comprising articles by both established and up and coming scholars the Handbook of Security Studies identifies the key contemporary topics of research and debate today This Handbook is a benchmark publication with major importance both for current research and the future of the field It will be essential reading for all scholars and students of Security Studies War and Conflict Studies and International Relations

Pakistan's National Security Approach and Post-Cold War Security Arshad Ali, 2021-03-31 This book analyzes the paradox that despite being a national security state Pakistan has become even more insecure in the post Cold War era It provides an in depth analysis of Pakistan's foreign and security policies and their implications for the overall state and society The book identifies the immediate security challenges to Pakistan and charts the distinctive evolution of Pakistan's national security state in which the military elite became the dominant actor in the political sphere of government during and after the Cold War period By examining the national security state militarization democracy and security proxy wars and the hyper military industrial complex the author illustrates how the vanguard role of the military created considerable structural sociopolitical economic and security problems in Pakistan Furthermore the author argues that the mismatch between Pakistan's national security stance and the transformed security environment has been facilitated and sustained by the embedded interests of the country's military industrial complex A critical evaluation of the role of the military in the political affairs of the government and how it has created structural problems for Pakistan this book will be of interest to academics in the field of South Asian Politics and Security South Asian Foreign and Security Policy International Relations Asian Security and Cold War Studies State and Civil Society in Pakistan I. Malik, 1996-11-13 Problems of governance in Pakistan are rooted in a persistently unclear and antagonistic relationship among the forces of authority ideology and ethnicity Based on theoretical and empirical research this book focuses on significant themes such as the oligarchic state structure dominated by the military and bureaucracy civil society Islam and the formation of Muslim identity in British India constitutional traditions and their subversion by coercive policies politics of gender ethnicity and Muslim nationalism versus regional nationalisms as espoused by Sindhi nationalists and the Karachi based Muhajir Qaumi Movement MQM
