Basophil and Mast Cell Degranulation and Recovery Ann M. Dvorak, 2013-06-29 Basophils and mast cells are similar but unique secretory cells with a well documented role in immediate hypersensitivity reactions The presence of these cells in various cell mediated hypersensitivity reactions in tissues of multiple diseases and as a component of the host reaction to injury and repair in numerous circumstances is well known Release of stored and newly generated mediators of inflammation from basophils and mast cells contributes to the cascade of pathogenetic events in circumstances under which these release reactions occur Despite insights acquired through studies of these pathologic events the role of basophils and mast cells and their secretory products in health is not known In this book I review much of the structural information regarding basophils and mast cells of multiple species Ultrastructural studies of rat mast cells historically precede and quantitatively exceed similar studies of basophils and mast cells of other species Therefore I first review these background studies as an entity Then I discuss the contents of two prominent organelles granules and lipid bodies in basophils and mast cells of several species The ultrastructural morphology of basophils and mast cells in three species is presented in detail to establish appropriate guidelines for their recognition and to provide general rules for analysis which are appropriate for the identification of these cells in other species as well

Controversies in the Management of Lymphomas John M. Bennett, 2012-12-06 Where do you begin to look for a recent authoritative article on the diagnosis or management of a particular malignancy The few general oncology textbooks are generally out of date Single papers in specialized journals are informative but seldom comprehensive these are more often preliminary reports on a very limited number of patients Certain general journals frequently publish good in depth reviews of cancer topics and published symposium lectures are often the best overviews available Unfortunately these reviews and supplements appear sporadically and the reader can never be sure when a topic of special interest will be covered Cancer Treatment and Research is a series of authoritative volumes which aim to meet this need It is an attempt to establish a critical mass of oncology literature covering virtually all oncology topics revised frequently to keep the coverage up to date easily available on a single library shelf or by a single personal subscription We have approached the problem in the following fashion First by dividing the oncology literature into specific subdivisions such as lung cancer genitourinary cancer pediatric oncology etc Second by asking eminent authorities in each of these areas to edit a volume on the specific topic on an annual or biannual basis Each topic and tumor type is covered in a volume appearing frequently and predictably discussing current diagnosis staging markers all forms of treatment modalities basic biology and more
