Migrants, Television and Australian Stories Kate Darian-Smith, Sue Turnbull, Sukhmani Khorana, Kyle Harvey, 2025-05-26 This book examines the intertwined histories of television and migration in Australia told from the perspectives of migrants who worked in the screen industry and the many more who watched television Their stories demonstrate how Australia s growing cultural diversity has challenged conventional representations of Australianness on television and how ongoing advocacy has supported the growing inclusivity of multiple narratives and diverse experiences on screen Migrants from many backgrounds were instrumental in the establishment in 1956 of Australian television working behind and in front of the cameras as producers directors writers technicians and actors From early broadcasting to the digital present portrayals of cultural differences have often been shaped by appropriation ethnic stereotyping and racism This has occurred across a range of formats from drama to comedy to news and reality shows Many in the industry have responded with resilience and creative adaptation as they have increasingly taken control of the ways that migrant stories are told and diversity is celebrated The first comprehensive Australian study of migrants and television this book considers the ways multicultural audiences have experienced the small screen over seven decades Drawing on rich oral histories it analyses the memories of television in the work school family life and leisure of migrant communities and their broader engagements with Australian culture Research in the archives of broadcasters and production companies reveals how non Anglo Australian characters were constructed and how such portrayals have shifted This new history takes us to digital screen production and consumption today exploring how Australians of many diasporas engage with the global network of screen content in the twenty first century It is essential reading for media professionals advocates students and those interested in the intersections between media cultural diversity and the nation A Concise History of New South Wales John S Croucher, 2020-08-17 Professor John Croucher gives an account of the first and continuing history of the first peoples to live in the region now known as New South Wales as well as its history from the days of British settlement and its more recent history of the waves of other immigrants who have made New South Wales their home Each section in the book focuses on a different cultural or historical aspect which is examined thoroughly from the beginnings of British settlement The complete development of the state is told weaving through these various areas of focus along with the important people and events Remarkable pioneers have helped shape not only the state but the country as a whole and their voices some coming to us via oral history others via historical documents make fascinating reading Historical Dictionary of Australian and New Zealand Cinema Karina Aveyard, Albert Moran, Errol Vieth, 2017-12-26 Filmmakers have honed their skills and many have achieved critical and popular success at home and abroad as have actors and other crew American filmmakers and companies have found it cheaper to make films in Australia because wages and salaries are lower tax rebates have been attractive and the expertise in most areas of filmmaking is comparable to that of anywhere in the world At the same time Australian audiences still enjoy watching Australian films making some of them profitable even if this is a small profit when considered in Hollywood terms New Zealand filmmakers cast and crew have shown that they are equal to the world s best in making films with international themes while other films have shown that the world is interested in New Zealand narratives and settings Increased support for Maori filmmakers and stories has had a significant impact on production levels and on the diversity of stories that now reach the screen It has also helped create more viable career paths for those who continue to be based in their home country This second edition of Historical Dictionary of Australian and New Zealand Cinema contains a chronology an introduction and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 700 cross referenced entries on leading films as well as many directors writers actors and producers It also covers early pioneers film companies genres and government bodies
