Peacemaking Susan Allen Nan, Zachariah Cherian Mampilly, Andrea Bartoli, 2011-11-10 In a world where conflict is never ending this thoughtful compilation fosters a new appreciation of the art of peacemaking as it is understood and practiced in a variety of contemporary settings Peacemaking From Practice to Theory is about seeing knowing and learning peacemaking as it exists in the real world Built on the premise that peacemaking is among the most elemental of human experiences this seminal work emphasizes the importance of practice and lived experiences in understanding the process and learning what works to nurture peace To appropriately reflect the diversity of peacemaking practices challenges and innovations these two volumes bring together many authors and viewpoints The first volume consists of two sections Peacemaking in Practice and Towards an Inclusive Peacemaking the second of two additional sections New Directions in Peacemaking and Interpreting Peacemaking As the title states the work moves peacemaking beyond mere theory showcasing peacemaking efforts produced recorded recognized and understood by a variety of individuals and institutions In doing so it refocuses the study of peacemaking and guides readers to a systematic understanding and appreciation of the practices of peacemakers around the globe Conflict Transformation and Peacebuilding Bruce W. Dayton, Louis Kriesberg, 2009-02-11 This book fills a gap in our understanding of the forces that lead to moderation and constructive engagement in the context of violent intrastate conflicts Leashing the Dogs of War Chester A. Crocker, Fen Osler Hampson, Pamela R. Aall, 2007 The definitive volume on the sources of contemporary conflict and the array of possible responses to it Gender and Peacebuilding Maureen P. Flaherty, Thomas G. Matyók, Sean Byrne, Hamdesa Tusso, 2015-10-16 The twenty first century has brought with it a shift from the notion of human security being located in secure national borders to the need to secure the safety freedom and dignity of all Despite efforts to equalize women s status in the world evidenced by changes in many international projects requiring a gender focus women and men experience most of the world in very different ways according to gender Further the reality is that humans who do not all fall neatly into one of these categories male or female often find their lives further challenged In the 1980s Peace and Conflict Studies first began to acknowledge and study the different experiences males and females have during war and peace Since then there have been books about women and war women working at grassroots levels to build peace women and transitional justice women and peace education and women s views of human security All of these works have contributed to the discourse of our changing world This book brings together some of those themes and voices and adds more with the final product being more than the sum of its parts We add to the conversation a book that considers foundational fundamental issues that span from the interpersonal to the global Many of the chapters describe empirical research completed with author and community shared here for the first time Part One is a collection of case studies documenting challenges and responses to peacebuilding by women from various parts of the world Part Two focuses on Peace and Conflict Studies PACS as a discipline examining not only what is but also what should be taught This section critiques today s efforts at teaching Peace and Conflict Studies and provides suggestions of how this important work might be shared in more open and equitable ways Part Three enters territory found even less in the PACS literature In this section our authors confront patriarchy engage in a discussion about the contribution queer theory makes to PACS and tussle with the notion of inclusivity with considerations of both gender and disability It then ends with a discussion about the contribution feminist methodologies make to PACS Multiparty Mediation in Violent Conflict Tetsuro Iji, 2019-09-11 This book presents a conceptual and empirical analysis of the UN led multiparty mediation in the Tajikistan conflict Multiparty mediation has been a significant research topic of international conflict management since the 1990s but in depth case studies on the peacemaking dynamics of violent conflicts are rare particularly in regard to third party roles This volume addresses that gap in the literature by examining the multiparty mediation of the Tajikistan conflict a largely forgotten but notably successful case of UN orchestrated peacemaking in the post Cold War era It argues that several interrelated factors contributed to the success of the Tajik multiparty mediation Russia Iran and other major interveners shared a common interest and reached a broad consensus on the terms of settlement the UN was widely accepted as a lead coordinator by other mediators and succeeded in constructively engaging with them as a consequence there arose positive interconnections between different third party roles The book presents an analytical framework for understanding the complex interplay of these factors not only to evaluate the Tajik case but also to help clarify policy implications for multiparty mediation in other cases of violent conflict particularly civil wars This book will be of much interest to students of conflict resolution civil wars international mediation the UN Central Asian politics and International Relations
