Unraveling Somalia Catherine Besteman, 2014-01-27 In 1991 the Somali state collapsed Once heralded as the only true nation state in Africa the Somalia of the 1990s suffered brutal internecine warfare At the same time a politically created famine caused the deaths of a half a million people and the flight of a million refugees During the civil war scholarly and popular analyses explained Somalia's disintegration as the result of ancestral hatreds played out in warfare between various clans and subclans In Unraveling Somalia Catherine Besteman challenges this view and argues that the actual pattern of violence inflicted disproportionately on rural southerners contradicts the prevailing model of ethnic homogeneity and clan opposition She contends that the dissolution of the Somali nation state can be understood only by recognizing that over the past century and a half there emerged in Somalia a social order based on principles other than simple clan organization a social order deeply stratified on the basis of race status class region and language

Schleiner Unive Rethinking Modern Polish Identities Agnieszka Pasioka, Paweł Rodak, 2023 A critical examination of the category of Polishness that is the formation redefinition and performance of various kinds of Polish identities from a wide range of disciplinary perspectives Inspired by new research in the humanities and social sciences as well as recent scholarship on national identities this volume offers a rigorous examination of the idea of Polishness Offering a diversity of case studies and methodological theoretical approaches it demonstrates a profound connection between national and transnational processes and places the Polish case in a broader context This broader context stretches from a larger Eastern European one a usual frame of comparison to the overseas immigrant communities The authors renowned scholars from Europe and the United States thus demonstrate that an understanding of modern Polish identity means crossing not only historical but also geographical boundaries Consequently the narrative on Polish identity that unfolds in the volume is a personalized and multivocal one that presents the perspectives of a wide range of subjects peasants workers migrants ethnic and sexual minorities that is all those actors who have been absent in grand national narratives As such the examination of Polishness sheds light on the identity question more broadly emphasizing the interplay of pluralizing and homogenizing tendencies and fostering a reflection on national identity as encompassing both sameness and difference The Oxford Handbook of the History of Terrorism Carola Dietze, Claudia Verhoeven, 2022 The Oxford Handbook of the History of Terrorism presents a re evaluation of the major narratives in the history of terrorism exploring the emergence and the use of terrorism in world history from antiquity up to the twenty first century The volume presents terrorism as a historically specific form of political violence that was generated by modern Western culture and then transported around the globe where it interacted with and was transformed in accordance with local conditions It offers cogent arguments and well documented case studies that support a reading of terrorism as a modern phenomenon as well as sustained analyses of the challenges involved in the application of the theories and practices of modernity and terrorism to non Western parts of the world both for historical actors and academic commentators Artifactual Elizabeth Anne Davis, 2023-07-14 In Artifactual Elizabeth Anne Davis explores how Cypriot researchers scientists activists and artists process and reckon with civil and state violence that led to the enduring division of the island using forensic and documentary materials to retell and recontextualize conflicts between and within the Greek Cypriot and Turkish Cypriot communities Davis follows forensic archaeologists and anthropologists who attempt to locate identify and return to relatives the remains of Cypriots killed in those conflicts She turns to filmmakers who use archival photographs and footage to come to terms with political violence and its legacies In both forensic science and documentary filmmaking the dynamics of secrecy and revelation shape how material remains such as bones and archival images are given meaning Throughout Davis demonstrates how Cypriots navigate the tension between

Faubion, George E. Marcus, 2011-10-15 Over the past two decades anthropologists have been challenged to rethink the nature of ethnographic research the meaning of fieldwork and the role of ethnographers Ethnographic fieldwork has cultural social and political ramifications that have been much discussed and acted upon but the training of ethnographers still follows a very traditional pattern this volume engages and takes its point of departure in the experiences of ethnographers in the making that encourage alternative models for professional training in fieldwork and its intellectual contexts The work done by contributors to Fieldwork Is Not What It Used to Be articulates at the strategic point of career making research features of this transformation in progress Setting aside traditional anxieties about ethnographic authority the authors revisit fieldwork with fresh initiative In search of better understandings of the contemporary research process itself they assess the current terms of the engagement of fieldworkers with their subjects address the constructive open ended forms by which the conclusions of fieldwork might take shape and offer an accurate and useful description of what it means to become and to be an anthropologist today Dust of the Zulu Louise Meintjes, 2017-07-20 In Dust of the Zulu Louise Meintjes traces the political and aesthetic significance of ngoma a competitive form of dance and music that emerged out of the legacies of colonialism and apartheid in South Africa Contextualizing ngoma within South Africa's history of violence migrant labor the HIV epidemic and the world music market Meintjes follows a community ngoma team and its professional subgroup during the twenty years after apartheid's end She intricately ties aesthetics to politics embodiment to the voice and masculine anger to eloquence and virtuosity relating the visceral experience of ngoma performances as they embody the expanse of South African history Meintjes also shows how ngoma helps build community cultivate responsible manhood and provide its participants with a means to reconcile South Africa's past with its postapartheid future Dust of the Zulu includes over one hundred photographs of ngoma performances the majority taken by award winning photojournalist TJ Lemon Shadows in the Field Gregory F. Barz, Timothy J. Grant,2020-10-06 At the outset of the twentieth century the Nivkhi of Sakhalin Island were a small population of fishermen under Russian dominion and an Asian cultural sway The turbulence of the decades that followed would transform them dramatically While Russian missionaries hounded them for their pagan ways Lenin praised them while Stalin routed them in purges Khrushchev gave them respite and while Brezhnev organized complex resettlement campaigns Gorbachev pronounced that they were free to resume a traditional life But what is tradition after seven decades of building a Soviet world Based on years of research in the former Soviet Union Bruce Grant's book draws upon Nivkh interviews newly opened archives and rarely translated Soviet ethnographic texts to examine the effects of this remarkable state venture in the construction of identity With a keen sensitivity Grant explores the often paradoxical participation by Nivkhi in these shifting waves of Sovietization and poses questions about how cultural identity is constituted and reconstituted restructured and dismantled Part chronicle of modernization part saga of memory and forgetting In the Soviet House of Culture is an interpretive ethnography of one people's attempts to recapture the past as they look toward the future This is a book that will appeal to anthropologists and historians alike as well as to anyone who is interested in the people and politics of the former Soviet Union Building Fortress Europe Karolina S. Follis,2012-07-24 What happens when a region accustomed to violent shifts in borders is subjected to a new peaceful partitioning Has the European Union spent the last decade creating a new Iron Curtain at its fringes Building Fortress Europe The Polish Ukrainian Frontier examines these questions from the perspective of the EU's new eastern external boundary Since the Schengen Agreement in 1985 European states have worked together to create a territory free of internal borders and with heavily policed external boundaries In 2004 those boundaries shifted east as the EU expanded to include eight postsocialist countries including Poland but excluding neighboring Ukraine Through an analysis of their shared frontier Building Fortress Europe provides an ethnographic examination of the human social and political consequences of developing a specialized targeted and legally advanced border regime in the enlarged EU Based on fieldwork conducted with border guards officials and migrants shuttling between Poland and Ukraine as well as extensive archival research Building Fortress Europe shows how people in the two countries are adjusting to living on opposite sides of a new divide Anthropologist Karolina S Follis argues that the policing of economic migrants and asylum seekers is caught between the contradictory imperatives of the European Union s border security economic needs of member states and their declared commitment to human rights The ethnography explores the lives of migrants and their patterns of mobility as framed by these contradictions It suggests that only a political effort to address these tensions will lead to the creation of fairer and more humane border policies

Integral Europe Douglas R. Holmes, 2010-07-01 Over the past 15 years the project of advanced European integration has followed a complex secular and cosmopolitan agenda As that agenda has evolved however so have various hard line populist movements with goals diametrically opposed to the ideals of a harmonious European Union Spearheaded by figures such as Jean Marie Le Pen the controversial leader of France s National Front party these radical movements have become increasingly influential and because of their philosophical affinities with fascism and national socialism politically worrisome In Integral Europe anthropologist Douglas Holmes posits that such movements are philosophically rooted in integralism a sensibility that in its most benign form enables people to maintain their ethnic identity and solidarity within the context of an increasingly pluralistic society Taken to irrational extremes by people like Le Pen integralism is being used to inflame people s feelings of alienation and powerlessness the by products of impersonal transnational fast capitalism The consequences are an invidious politics of exclusion that spawns cultural nationalism racism and social disorder The analysis moves from northern Italy to Strasbourg and Brussels the two venues of the European Parliament and finally to the East End of London This multi sited ethnography provides critical perspective on integralism as a form of intimate cultural practice and a violent idiom of estrangement It combines a wide ranging review of modern and historical scholarship with two years of field research that included personal interviews with right wing activists among them Le Pen and neo Nazis in inner London Fascinating provocative and sobering Integral Europe offers a rare inside look at one of modern Europe s most unsettling political trends
