Boom Town Blues: Elliot Lake Anne-Marie Mawhinney, Jane Pitblado, 1999-09-01 Boom Town Blues Collapse and Revival in a Single Industry Community tells of the Northern Ontario city of Elliot Lake once the uranium capital of the world which was devastated by the closing of the uranium mines operated by Denison and Rio Algom. The closures and mass layoffs were first announced in 1990 with the layoffs occurring from then until June 1996. Throughout the period after the layoffs were announced, several major research projects were undertaken. One, the Elliot Lake Tracking and Adjustment Study, follows approximately 1 000 of the laid off miners and 530 of their spouses through their adjustment processes. Another, the Seniors Needs Assessment, examines the human resource and service needs of the increasing numbers of seniors moving to Elliot Lake as part of the community's economic strategy. In addition to these social scientific studies, several land and environmental reclamation research projects have been undertaken. Boom Town Blues: Collapse and Revival in a Single Industry Community tells the reader about the results of these studies and gives a variety of community based perspectives on the Elliot Lake story. The book highlights the struggles and successes of families and of the community as a whole. Boom Town Blues is about one community's struggle to survive, to shift its economic base from mining to one where retirement living for seniors, mine decommissioning and a community based research facility would be among several economic survival strategies. The book is of interest to readers throughout Northern Ontario and indeed wherever single industry towns are threatened by major shifting in their economic base and are struggling to survive. The book also provides an excellent case study for teachers, students, policy makers and politicians. Federal Register, 2014. Social Network Analysis of Disaster Response, Recovery, and Adaptation Eric C Jones, A.J. Faas, 2016-09-09. Social Network Analysis of Disaster Response, Recovery, and Adaptation covers systematic social network analysis and how people and institutions function in disasters after disasters and the ways they adapt to hazard settings. As hazards become disasters, the opportunities and constraints for maintaining a safe and secure life and livelihood become too strained for many people. Anecdotally and through many case studies, we know that social interactions exacerbate or mitigate those strains, necessitating a concerted intellectual effort to understand the variation in how ties within and outside communities respond and are affected by hazards and disasters. Examines the role of societal relationships in a disaster context, incorporating theory and case studies by experts in the field. Integrates research in the areas of social network analysis and inter organizational networks. Presents a range of studies from around the world, employing different approaches to network analysis in disaster contexts. America's Promise Don E. Eberly, 1998. Noted scholar and activist Don Eberly details the history, achievements and goals of the civil society movement. He demonstrates why civil society is crucial to the preservation of democratic values and institutions and he explains why the concern over America's moral decay must be our major priority. Our society, argues Eberly, cannot thrive and perhaps cannot survive without strong social institutions, a vibrant moral order and an active intellectual grass roots dimension. Public Papers of the Presidents of the United States United States, President, 1993. Containing the public messages, speeches and statements of the President, 1956-1992. COVID-19 and Psychological Distress in Africa Yamikani Ndasauka, 2024-01-09. This timely book draws on unique African experiences to explore the intersection between mental health and African communitarianism in the context of COVID 19 giving voice to the perspectives of vulnerable populations facing pre existing challenges such as depression anxiety and stress Advancing knowledge and contributing to the global debate about the effects of the pandemic on the psychological well being of African people chapters critique the role of media information misinformation and disinformation during this period on individual and community based mental health Using a holistic approach the book highlights the need to prioritise the localising of mental health systems and clinical services to provide a better standard of care and comprehensive context specific mental health interventions that consider the heterogeneity within and between African regions The book demonstrates through nuanced evidence and analysis that communitarian perspectives allow African societies to balance collective solidarity with individual well being to benefit overall mental health Ultimately drawing on communal values and localised knowledge to cultivate resilience to fight the psychosocial impacts of COVID 19 in Africa the book will be of interest to scholars postgraduate students and researchers exploring psychology philosophy of mental health and public health policy more broadly as well as and cultural studies and the sociology of pandemics The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license     Public Papers of the Presidents of the United States, William J.
