The text examines the environmental impacts of organic chemicals. History of pollution, environmental effects of chemicals, effects of chemicals on marine biota and chemicals of potential concern are described. The compilation also underscores the sources of pesticides in the North Sea, environmental impacts of PCBs in the marine environment and contamination of the North Sea by the production and utilization of organic chemicals. The book also looks at environmental protection strategies for organic chemicals, assessment of environmental impacts of nutrients in the North Sea from the perspectives of the fertilizer and detergents industries and pathology of fish diseases in the North Sea. It particularly focuses on the role of the Union in advancing the broader marine governance framework in the region. Questions investigated include in what way does the Union participate in or otherwise influence the activities of States, international organisations and other actors involved in BSR cooperation and regulation and what is the importance and substantive outcome of the Union's specific role in this respect. How has the membership of eight out of nine Baltic Sea coastal States in the EU affected cooperation in the region in terms of substance as well as procedure and what is the influence of the BSR over the EU? These questions are discussed from different perspectives by leading experts in both the fields of EU law and the law of the BSR.
