notions of value thereby initiating the search for a new set of values as well as identifying a number of selected computing practices that might evoke new values It articulates a suggestive set of institutions that could support these new values and formulates a group of measurement practices usable for evaluating the proposed institutions The book is grounded in contemporary social science political theory and critical theory It aims to leverage the possibility of alternative futures implied by some computing practices while avoiding hype and technological determinism and uses these computing practices to explicate one possible way to think about the future

Beyond Chutzpah Norman G. Finkelstein, 2020-05-05 In Beyond Chutzpah Norman Finkelstein moves from an iconoclastic interrogation of the new anti-Semitism to a meticulously researched exposé of the corruption of scholarship on the Israel Palestine conflict especially in the work of Alan Dershowitz Pointing to a consensus among historians and human rights organizations on the factual record Finkelstein argues that so much controversy continues to swirl around the conflict because apologists for Israel contrive it This paperback edition includes a new preface examining recent developments in the Israel Palestine conflict and the misuse of anti-Semitism and a new chapter analysing the controversy surrounding Israel's construction of the West Bank wall

Beyond open access: visions for open evaluation of scientific papers by post-publication peer review Nikolaus Kriegeskorte, Diana Deca, A scientific publication system needs to provide two basic services access and evaluation The traditional publication system restricts the access to papers by requiring payment and it restricts the evaluation of papers by relying on just 2-4 pre-publication peer reviews and by keeping the reviews secret As a result the current system suffers from a lack of quality and transparency of the peer review evaluation process and the only immediately available indication of a new paper's quality is the prestige of the journal it appeared in Open access is now widely accepted as desirable and is slowly beginning to become a reality However the second essential element evaluation has received less attention Open evaluation an ongoing post-publication process of transparent peer review and rating of papers promises to address the problems of the current system However it is unclear how exactly such a system should be designed The evaluation system steers the attention of the scientific community and thus the very course of science For better or worse the most visible papers determine the direction of each field and guide funding and public policy decisions Evaluation therefore is at the heart of the entire endeavor of science As the number of scientific publications explodes evaluation and selection will only gain importance A grand challenge of our time therefore is to design the future system by which we evaluate papers and decide which ones deserve broad attention So far scientists have left the design of the evaluation process to journals and publishing companies However the steering mechanism of science should be designed by scientists The cognitive computational and brain sciences are best prepared to take on this task which will involve social and psychological considerations software design and modeling of the network of scientific papers and their interrelationships This Research Topic in Frontiers in Computational Neuroscience collects visions for a future system of open evaluation Because critical arguments about the current system abound these papers will focus on constructive ideas and comprehensive designs for open evaluation systems Design decisions include Should the reviews and ratings be entirely transparent or should some aspects be kept secret Should other information such as paper downloads be included in the evaluation How can scientific objectivity be strengthened and political motivations weakened in the future system Should the system include signed and authenticated reviews and ratings Should the evaluation be an ongoing process such that promising papers are more deeply evaluated How can we bring science and statistics to the evaluation process e g should rating averages come with error bars How should the evaluative information about each paper e g peer ratings be combined to prioritize the literature Should different individuals and organizations be able to define their own evaluation formulae e g weighting ratings according to different criteria How can we efficiently transition toward the future system Ideally the future system will derive its authority from a scientific literature on community based open evaluation We hope that these papers will provide a starting point

Vicos and Beyond Tom Greaves, Ralph Bolton, Florencia Zapata, 2010-10-16 In 1952 Professor Allan Holmberg arranged for Cornell University to lease the Hacienda Vicos an agricultural estate in the central Peruvian highlands on which some 1800 Quechua speaking highland peasants resided Between 1952 and 1957 Holmberg with colleagues and students initiated a set of social economic and agrarian changes and nurtured mechanisms for community based management of the estate by the resident peasants By the end of a second lease in 1962 sufficient political pressure had been brought to bear on a reluctant national government to force the sale of Vicos to its people Holmberg s twin goals for the Vicos Project were to bring about community possession of their land base and to study the process as it unfolded advancing anthropological understanding of cultural change To describe the process of doing both he invented the term participant intervention Despite the large corpus of existing Vicos publications this book contains much information that here reaches print for the first time The chapter authors do not entirely agree on various key points regarding the nature of the Vicos Project the intentions of project personnel and community actors and what interpretive framework is most valid in part these disagreements reflect the relevance and importance of the Vicos Project to contemporary applied anthropologists and the contrasting ways in which any historical event can be explained Some chapters contrast Vicos with other projects in the southern Andean highlands others examine new developments at Vicos itself The conclusion suggests how those changes should be understood within Andean anthropology and within anthropology more generally
