Punchlines Leon Rappoport, 2005-10-30 The concept of ethnic racial and gender humor is as sensitive a subject today as it has ever been yet at no time in the past have we had such a quantity of this humor circulating throughout society We can see the power of such content manifested continually in our culture's films and stand up comedy routines as well as on popular TV sitcoms where Jewish black Asian Hispanic and gay characters and topics have seemingly become essential to comic scenarios Though such humor is often cruel it can be a source of pride and play among minorities women and gays Leon Rappoport's incisive account takes an in depth look at ethnic racial and gender humor Despite the polarization that is often apparent in the debates such humor evokes the most important melting pot in this country may be the one that we enter when we share a laugh at ourselves

The Anti-Intellectual Presidency Elvin T. Lim,2012-01-01 Why has it been so long since an American president has effectively and consistently presented well crafted intellectually substantive arguments to the American public Why have presidential utterances fallen from the rousing speeches of Lincoln Teddy Roosevelt Wilson and FDR to a series of robotic repetitions of talking points and sixty second soundbites largely designed to obfuscate rather than illuminate In The Anti Intellectual Presidency Elvin Lim draws on interviews with more than 40 presidential speechwriters to investigate this relentless qualitative decline over the course of 200 years in our presidents ability to communicate with the public Lim argues that the ever increasing pressure for presidents to manage public opinion and perception has created a pathology of vacuous rhetoric and imagery where gesture and appearance matter more than accomplishment and fact Lim tracks the campaign to simplify presidential discourse through presidential and speechwriting decisions made from the Truman to the present administration explaining how and why presidents have embraced anti intellectualism and vague platitudes as a public relations strategy Lim sees this anti intellectual stance as a deliberate choice rather than a reflection of presidents intellectual limitations Only
