Raising Cane The World Of Plantation Hawaii:

Raising Cane Ronald T. Takaki, Rebecca Stefoff, 1994 Looks at early Asian plantation workers in Hawaii and discusses Hawaii's multicultural heritage

Forward Without Fear Derek Taira, 2024-06 Derek Taira argues that during the territorial period many Hawaiians neither subscribed nor succumbed to public schools aggressive efforts to assimilate and Americanize but instead engaged with American education to envision and support an alternate future

Island Queens and Mission Wives Jennifer Thigpen, 2014-03-24 In the late eighteenth century Hawaii's ruling elite employed sophisticated methods for resisting foreign intrusion By the mid nineteenth century however American missionaries had gained a foothold in the islands Jennifer Thigpen explains this important shift by focusing on two groups of women missionary wives and high ranking Hawaiian women Examining the enduring and personal exchange between these groups Thigpen argues that women's relationships became vital to building and maintaining the diplomatic and political alliances that ultimately shaped the islands political future Male missionaries early attempts to Christianize the Hawaiian people were based on racial and gender ideologies brought with them from the mainland and they did not comprehend the authority of Hawaiian chiefly women in social political cultural and religious matters It was not until missionary wives and powerful Hawaiian women developed relationships shaped by Hawaiian values and traditions which situated Americans as guests of their beneficent hosts that missionaries successfully introduced Christian religious and cultural values Incisively written and meticulously researched Thigpen's book sheds new light on American and Hawaiian women's relationships illustrating how they ultimately provided a foundation for American power in the Pacific and hastened the colonization of the Hawaiian nation

The United States Enters the World Stage Christopher Collier, James Lincoln Collier, 2012-12-01 History is dramatic and the renowned award winning authors Christopher Collier and James Lincoln Collier demonstrate this in a compelling series aimed at young readers Covering American history from the founding of Jamestown through present day these volumes explore far beyond the dates and events of a historical chronicle to present a moving illumination of the ideas opinions attitudes and tribulations that led to the birth of this great nation The United States Enters the World Stage covers the years 1867 through 1919 This book gives detailed accounts of America's emergence as a world power from the Alaska Purchase through World War I

The Painted King Glenn Wharton, 2011-11-30 The famous statue of Kamehameha I in downtown Honolulu is one of the state's most popular landmarks Many tourists and residents however are unaware that the statue is a replica the original cast in Paris in the 1880s and the first statue in the Islands stands before the old courthouse in rural Kapa au North Kohala the legendary birthplace of Kamehameha I In 1996 conservator Glenn Wharton was sent by public arts administrators to assess the statue's condition and what he found startled him A larger than life brass figure painted over in brown black and yellow with white toenails and fingernails and penetrating black eyes with small white brush strokes for highlights It looked more like a piece of folk art than a nineteenth century heroic monument The Painted King is Wharton's account of his efforts to conserve the Kohala Kamehameha statue but it is also the story of his journey to understand the statue's meaning for the residents of Kapa au. He learns that the townspeople prefer the more human painted Kamehameha regaling him with a parade, chants and leis every Kamehameha Day, June 11. He meets a North Kohala volunteer who decides to paint the statue's sash after respectfully consulting with kahuna, Hawaiian spiritual leaders, and the statue itself. A veteran of public art conservation, Wharton had never before encountered a community that had developed such a lengthy personal relationship with a civic monument. Going against the advice of some of his peers and ignoring warnings about going native, Wharton decides to involve the people of Kapa au in the conservation of their statue and soon finds himself immersed in complex political, social, and cultural considerations, including questions about representations of the Native Hawaiian past. Who should decide what is represented and how? And once a painting or sculpture exists, how should it be conserved? The Painted King examines professional authority and community involvement while providing a highly engaging and accessible look at activist conservation at work wherever it may be found. American Aloha Heather A. Diamond, 2008-06-03

At the 1989 Smithsonian Folklife Festival, throngs of visitors gathered on the National Mall to celebrate Hawai'i's multicultural heritage through its traditional arts. The education and entertainment spectacle revealed a richly complex Hawai'i few tourists ever see and one never before or since replicated in a national space. The program was restaged a year later in Honolulu for a local audience and subsequently inspired several spin-offs in Hawai'i. In both Washington, D.C. and Honolulu, the program instigated a new paradigm for cultural representation. Based on archival research and extensive interviews with festival organizers and participants, this innovative cross-disciplinary study uncovers the behind-the-scenes negotiations and processes that inform the national spectacle of the Smithsonian Folklife Festival. Intersecting the fields of museum studies, folklore studies, Hawaiian studies, performance studies, cultural studies, and American studies, American Aloha supplies a nuanced analysis of how the carefully crafted staging of Hawai'i's cultural diversity was used to serve a national narrative of utopian multiculturalism, one that collapsed social inequities and tensions, masked colonial history, and subordinated indigenous politics while empowering Hawai'i's traditional artists and providing a model for cultural tourism that has had long-lasting effects. Heather Diamond deftly positions the 1989 program within a history of institutional intervention in the traditional arts of Hawai'i's ethnic groups as well as in relation to local cultural revivals and the tourist industry. By tracing the planning, fieldwork, site design, performance, and aftermath stages of the program, she examines the uneven processes through which local culture is transformed into national culture and raises questions about the stakes involved in cultural tourism for both culture bearers and culture brokers.

Osumare, 2016-09-23 Asserting that hip hop culture has become another locus of postmodernity Osumare explores the intricacies of this phenomenon from the beginning of the Twenty First century tracing the aesthetic and socio political path of the currency of hip hop across the globe

Strangers from a Different Shore, 2012-11 In an extraordinary blend of narrative history personal recollection oral testimony the author presents a sweeping history of Asian Americans He writes of the Chinese who laid tracks for the transcontinental railroad of plantation laborers in the canefields of Hawaii of picture brides marrying strangers in the hope of becoming part of the American dream He tells stories of Japanese Americans behind the barbed wire of U S internment camps during World War II Hmong refugees tragically unable to adjust to Wisconsin s alien climate culture Asian American students stigmatized by the stereotype of the model minority This is a powerful moving work that will resonate for all Americans who together make up a nation of immigrants from other shores

American Capitalism Sven Beckert, Christine Desan, 2018-02-06 The United States has long epitomized capitalism From its enterprising shopkeepers wildcat banks violent slave plantations huge industrial working class and raucous commodities trade to its world spanning multinationals its massive factories and the centripetal power of New York in the world of finance America has come to symbolize capitalism for two centuries and more But an understanding of the history of American capitalism is as elusive as it is urgent What does it mean to make capitalism a subject of historical inquiry What is its potential across multiple disciplines alongside different methodologies and in a range of geographic and chronological settings And how does a focus on capitalism change our understanding of American history American Capitalism presents a sampling of cutting edge research from prominent scholars These broad minded and rigorous essays venture new angles on finance debt and credit women s rights slavery and political economy the racialization of capitalism labor beyond industrial wage workers and the production of knowledge including the idea of the economy among other topics Together the essays suggest emerging themes in the field a fascination with capitalism as it is made by political authority how it is claimed and contested by participants how it spreads across the globe and how it can be reconceptualized without being universalized A major statement for a wide open field this book demonstrates the breadth and scope of the work that the history of capitalism can provoke

The Fight for Asian American Civil Rights Sarah M Griffith, 2018-03-01 From the early 1900s liberal Protestants grafted social welfare work onto spiritual concerns on both sides of the Pacific Their goal to forge links between whites and Asians that countered anti Asian discrimination in the United States Their test uprooting racial hatreds that despite their efforts led to the shameful incarceration of Japanese Americans in World War II Sarah M Griffith draws on the experiences of liberal Protestants and the Young Men's Christian Association in particular to reveal the intellectual social and political forces that powered this movement Engaging a wealth of unexplored primary and secondary sources Griffith explores how YMCA leaders and their partners in the academy and distinct Asian American communities labored to mitigate racism The alliance's early work based in mainstream ideas of assimilation and integration ran aground on the Japanese exclusion law of 1924 Yet their vision of Christian internationalism and interracial cooperation maintained through the World War II internment trauma As Griffith shows liberal Protestants emerged from that dark time with a reenergized campaign to reshape Asian white relations in the postwar era

Repositioning North American Migration History Marc S. Rodriguez, 2004 An in depth look at trends in North American internal migration This volume gathers established and new scholars working on North American immigration transmigration internal migration and citizenship whose work analyzes the development of migrant and state level institutions as well as migrant networks With contemporary migration research most often focused on the development of transnational communities and the ways international migrants maintain relationships with their sending region that sustain the circular flow of people ideas and traditions across national boundaries it is useful to compare these to similar patterns evident within the terrain of internal migration To date however international and internal migration studies have unfolded in relative isolation from one another with each operating within these distinct fields of expertise rather than across them Although there has been some important linking there has not been a recent major consideration of human migration that works across and within the various borders of the North American continent Thus the volume presents a variety of chapters that seek to consider human migration in comparative perspective across the internal international divide Marc S Rodriguez is Assistant Professor of History at Princeton University Donna R Gabbaccia is the Mellon Professor of History at the University of Pittsburgh James R Grossman is the Vice President of Research and Education at the Newberry Library Chicago Contributors Josef Barton Wallace Best Donna Gabbaccia James Gregory Tobias Higbie Mae Ngai Walter Nugent Annelise Orleck Kunal Parker Kimberly Phillips Bruno Ramirez Marc Rodriguez Repositioning North American Migration History is a volume in Studies in Comparative History sponsored by Princeton University s Shelby Cullom Davis Center for Historical Studies □□□□ ,1995 A quarterly of comparative studies of Chinese and foreign literatures

Raising Cane in the 'Glades Gail M. Hollander,2009-11-15 Over the last century the Everglades underwent a metaphorical and ecological transition from impenetrable swamp to endangered wetland At the heart of this transformation lies the Florida sugar industry which by the 1990s was at the center of the political storm over the multi billion dollar ecological restoration of the Everglades Raising Cane in the Glades is the first study to situate the environmental transformation of the Everglades within the economic and historical geography of global sugar production and trade Using among other sources interviews government and corporate documents and recently declassified U S State Department memoranda Gail M Hollander demonstrates that the development of Florida s sugar region was the outcome of pitched battles reaching the highest political offices in the U S and in countries around the world especially Cuba which emerges in her narrative as a model a competitor and the regional other to Florida s self Spanning the period from the age of empire to the era of globalization the book shows how the sugar question a label nineteenth century economists coined for intense international debates on sugar production and trade emerges repeatedly in new guises Hollander uses the sugar question as a thread to stitch together past and present local and global in explaining Everglades transformation Diversity and Visual Impairment Madeline Milian,Jane N. Erin,2001 Discusses how cultural social and religious factors play an important role in the way an individual perceives and copes with a visual impairment and how it can affect their self esteem and social relationships
