

The background of the cover is a painting. It depicts a woman with a donkey's head, wearing a long, flowing blue dress. She is standing in a forest, looking up at a large, gnarled tree trunk. The scene is lit with soft, ethereal light, and there are small, glowing green lights in the foliage. The overall mood is magical and whimsical.

which lead to his major tragic achievements In King John and Henry IV the playwright develops a middle ground between the polarities of Henry VI in which the flat onedimensional characters essentially serve the purposes of the narrative and the tragedies in which the spectator s consuming interest is in the developing centralfigure whose critical moments they share Champion sees Henry V as the culmination of Shakespeare s e fforts in the English history play How Authors' Minds Make Stories Patrick Colm Hogan,2013-01-28 This book explores how the creations of great authors result from the same operations as our everyday counterfactual and hypothetical imaginations which cognitive scientists refer to as simulations Drawing on detailed literary analyses as well as recent research in neuroscience and related fields Patrick Colm Hogan develops a rigorous theory of the principles governing simulation that goes beyond any existing framework He examines the functions and mechanisms of narrative imagination with particular attention to the role of theory of mind and relates this analysis to narrative universals In the course of this theoretical discussion Hogan explores works by Austen Faulkner Shakespeare Racine Brecht Kafka and Calvino He pays particular attention to the principles and parameters defining an author s narrative idiolect examining the cognitive and emotional continuities that span an individual author s body of work

McCallum, 2013-01-11 What happens to traditional stories when they are retold in another time and cultural context and for a different audience This first of its kind study discusses Bible stories classical myths heroic legends Arthurian romances Robin Hood lore folk tales oriental tales and other stories derived from European cultures One chapter is devoted to various retellings of classics from Shakespeare to Wind in the Willows The authors offer a general theory of what motivates the retelling of stories and how stories express the aspirations of a society An important function of stories is to introduce children to a cultural heritage and to transmit a body of shared allusions and experiences that expresses a society's central values and assumptions However the cultural heritage may be modified through a pervasive tendency of retellings to produce socially conservative outcomes because of ethnocentric androcentric and class based assumptions in the source stories that persist into retellings Therefore some stories such as classical myths are particularly resistant to feminist reinterpretations for example while other types such as folktales are more malleable In examining such possibilities the book evaluates the processes of interpretation apparent in retellings Index included Studying Shakespeare's Contemporaries Lars Engle, Eric

Rasmussen, 2013-12-05 Studying Shakespeare's Contemporaries is an accessible guide to non-Shakespearean English drama of the late 16th and early 17th centuries Featuring works of prestigious playwrights such as Kyd Marlowe Jonson Webster and Middleton Lars Engle describes the conditions under which Renaissance plays were commissioned written licensed staged and published Plays are organized by theme and explored individually creating a text that can be read as a complete overview of English Renaissance drama or used as an indexed reference resource The Story of English Philip
