The Practical Real-Time Enterprise Bernd Kuglin, Heinz Thielmann, 2005-08-15 Speed as a factor for success Our modern industrial society lives life in the fast lane The catchwords faster shorter more powerful reflect what we experience in almost all aspects of our lives Whether at home or at work we are constantly on the move and in a rush In our private lives we find rapid exchange of inf mation most entertaining and we are fascinated by the wide range of inf mation that pours in on us from all around the world mainly via the new media It gives us the feeling of being a part of the action everywhere and all the time Seldom are we aware that the only reason this flood of inf mation often referred to as overstimulation does not lead to overkill is that we manage to organize our time effectively There are many parallels to this in the business world Here too a great deal of time pressure is exerted from outside goals are set ever higher and deadlines become tighter In other words demands on our time demand faster reaction Crucial information travels around the globe across all time zones in a matter of seconds In fact instead of CET or CEST it would make sense to have a single time zone for the worldwide network called GST for Global Simultaneous Time In business more so than in p vate life we are almost constantly online

The Concept of a Real-Time Enterprise in Manufacturing Daniel Metz, 2013-10-01 Enterprises have to react instantly to changing market conditions and disturbances that occur during execution of value creation processes Depending upon the processes context the goal is to significantly reduce lead times reaction times and time to market among others The vision of a real time enterprise RTE which is able to sense and analyze events from internal and external sources and perform adequate re actions has been envisaged by manufacturing enterprises Daniel Metz presents a framework based on EDA and CEP towards the realization of RTE in manufacturing The framework closes the vertical integration gap and further establishes feedback in near real time among enterprise levels As such the framework provides a holistic and closed loop control of manufacturing processes and encompasses results and insights from management engineering and computer science The framework has been implemented for a small and medium sized foundry in Germany The developed control approach has led to a significant increase in manufacturing processes efficiency i e performance quality and availability

Business Intelligence for the Real-Time Enterprise Malu Castellanos, Umeshwar Dayal, Timos Sellis, 2009-08-03 In today s competitive and highly dynamic environment analyzing data to understand how the business is performing to predict outcomes and trends and to improve the effectiveness of business processes underlying business operations has become cri cal The traditional approach to reporting is no longer adequate users now demand easy to use intelligent platforms and applications capable of analyzing real time bu ness data to provide insight and actionable information at the right time The end goal is to improve the enterprise performance by better and timelier decision making enabled by the availability of up to date high quality information As a response the notion of real time enterprise has emerged and is beginning to be recognized in the industry Gartner defines it as using up to date information getting rid of delays and using speed for competitive advantage is what the real time enterprise is all about Indeed the goal of the real time enterprise is to act on events as they happen Although there has been progress in this direction and many companies are introducing products toward making this vision a reality there is still a long way to go In particular the whole lifecycle of business intelligence requires new techniques and methodologies capable of dealing with the new requirements imposed by the real time enterprise

The Concept of a Real-Time Enterprise in Manufacturing Daniel Metz, 2013-11-27 Enterprises have to react instantly to changing market conditions and disturbances that occur during execution of value creation processes Depending upon the processes context the goal is to significantly reduce lead times reaction times and time to market among others The vision of a real time enterprise RTE which is able to sense and analyze events from internal and external sources and perform adequate reactions has been envisaged by manufacturing enterprises Daniel Metz presents a framework based on EDA and CEP towards the realization of RTE in manufacturing The framework closes the vertical integration gap and further establishes feedback in near real time among enterprise levels. As such, the framework provides a holistic and closed loop control of manufacturing processes and encompasses results and insights from management engineering and computer science. The framework has been implemented for a small and medium sized foundry in Germany. The developed control approach has led to a significant increase in manufacturing processes efficiency i.e. performance, quality and availability. The Practical Real-Time Enterprise Bernd Kuglin, 2005-02-21. The basic idea of the real time enterprise is to become quicker. A business which wants to become a real time enterprise has to acquire three main abilities. Internal and external data is integrated quickly and in real time in a well organized company data pool. Analyses of information in the company data pool can be obtained in real time across function boundaries and at the touch of a button. The number of working steps performed in batch mode is shifting dramatically in favor of immediate completion in real time. The issue of communications or real time communications plays a special role here. Studies have shown that processing times sometimes double when necessary communication events are handled in batch mode in the business process and not in real time. In other words, when an activity cannot be completed and lies around for days because an urgently needed partner cannot be contacted. The necessity of acquiring these three abilities has implications for the process related technical and organizational aspects of a business that are dealt with in detail in this book. Enabling Real-Time Business Intelligence Malu Castellanos, Umeshwar Dayal, Renée J. Miller, 2010-07-23. In today's competitive and highly dynamic environment, organizations need new solutions to enable them to solve modern business problems and to make decisions using integrated, trustworthy and up to date data. Modern real time enterprises need to act on events as they happen. They need new, easy to use, intelligent solutions capable of analyzing heterogeneous real time enterprise data to provide insight and actionable information at the right time. To enable real time enterprises, we need fundamental advancements in the science and engineering that underlie intelligent information management, including the management of streaming data, the modeling analysis and management of unstructured data along with the integrated use of unstructured, semi structured and structured data. We need new models and paradigms that raise the level of abstraction used in such critical technologies as ETL, data warehousing and event and business process modeling. The series of BIRTE workshops aims to provide a forum to discuss and advance the foundational science and engineering required to enable real time business intelligence and the novel applications and solutions that build on these foundational techniques. Following the success of our first workshop BIRTE 2006 held in Seoul, Korea in conjunction with VLDB 2006 and our second workshop BIRTE 2008 held in Auckland, New Zealand with VLDB 2008, our third workshop was held in Lyon, France on August 24, 2009 with VLDB 2009. Moving Forward with the On Demand Real-time Enterprise Chuck Ballard, Fabio Hasegawa, Gord Owens, Soren Pedersen, Klaus Subtil, 2006. Having more and more current information is fast becoming a requirement for business survival. The need permeates the enterprise because it enables proactive decision making for problem avoidance rather than reactive problem impact minimization. And that is the key. Thus the need for and focus on is real time Companies no longer have the long strategic time frames in which to plan design and manage their business processes Yearly revenue goals and measurements are fast becoming quarterly goals and measurements Investors and share holders are more demanding They are more critical and less forgiving of missed performance goals And these demands are coming at a time when the volume of data is growing there is an increase in business mergers and acquisitions the use of strategic outsourcing is growing and there is an increasing requirement for faster and faster turnaround on information requests This has put an enormous burden on the information technology IT organizations And most of this change is centered around business intelligence because that is the environment responsible for providing information for management decision making This IBM Redbooks publication explores the techniques and capabilities for evolving to a real time enterprise It also demonstrates approaches for that evolution and provides examples to help guide you in developing your strategy and implementation methodology to become a real time enterprise Network World ,2003-11-10 For more than 20 years Network World has been the premier provider of information intelligence and insight for network and IT executives responsible for the digital nervous systems of large organizations Readers are responsible for designing implementing and managing the voice data and video systems their companies use to support everything from business critical applications to employee collaboration and electronic commerce In Real Time Sandor Boyson,Lisa H. Harrington,Thomas M. Corsi,2004-07-30 The age of the real time supply chain has finally arrived Thanks to an emerging technology construct the Internet based mega portal companies can now connect instantaneously with suppliers distributors manufacturers customers and alliance partners around the world Online access to up to the minute information enables companies to improve communication and project management across the entire supply chain promote collaboration across departments and enhance customer service and financial operations The results are stunning for example a recent survey reports dramatic increases in revenues and customer retention and decreases in operating costs and product cycle times Drawing from extensive primary research this book presents detailed examples of how organizations as diverse as Coca Cola Bottling Company Dell and the U S Department of Defense are creating information and communication hubs online and reaping the rewards The authors explain the basic technical and organizational infrastructure necessary for launching a mega portal and how its successful management can have profound impact on every area and function of the extended enterprise from strategy to logistics product development to customer service As competition heats up from every direction the ability to design and manage your supply chain with precision and speed becomes a business imperative In Real Time offers a practical blueprint for building implementing and sustaining supply chains in today s rapidly changing environment Business Intelligence for Telecommunications Deepak Pareek,2006-11-29 Bringing together market research reports business analyst briefings and technology references into one comprehensive volume Business Intelligence for Telecommunications identifies those advances in both methods and technology that are being employed to inform decision making and give companies an edge in the rapidly growing and highly competitive market. CIO, 2003-03-01 Federal information systems integration and consolidation United States. Congress. House. Committee on Government Reform.

Trends in Software Methodologies, Tools, and Techniques Hamido Fujita, Volker Gruhn, 2004 Software is the essential enabler for the new economy and science It creates new markets and new directions for a more reliable flexible and robust society It empowers the exploration of our world in ever more depth However software often falls short behind our expectations Current software methodologies tools and techniques remain expensive and not yet reliable for a highly changeable and evolutionary market Many approaches have been proven only as case by case oriented methods This book presents a number of new trends and theories in the direction in which we believe software science and engineering may develop to transform the role of software and science in tomorrow's information society. This book is an attempt to capture the essence of a new state of art in software science and its supporting technology. The book also aims at identifying the challenges such a technology has to master and Conceptual Software Models Declarative Representation for Software Development Requirement Representation and Formalization Formal Specification and Language Interpretation Legacy Systems and Language Conversions Software Quality and Development Measurement and Software Development Practices Models examples. Each of these chapters contains well reviewed and selected papers so the reader can enjoy the state of the art on the need on such new emerged technology.
