Realism Idealism And International Politics A Reinterpretation:

Realism, Idealism and International Politics Martin Griffiths, 2021-12-24 First published in 1992 Martin Griffiths book provides a reinterpretation of the terms realism and idealism in international relations and a thorough critical examination of three key figures in international theory Hane Morgenthau Kenneth Waltz and Hedley Bull This is an important book proving a compelling basis for conceiving international politics as a rule governed arena among states It will be of great interest to scholars and students of international relations Realism, Idealism and International Politics Martin Griffiths, 2013-01-11 This book defends realism in the study of international politics and demonstrates the heuristic and evaluative utility of Robert Berki's interpretation of political realism and political idealism It argues that realism is not a meaningless term nor redundant and necessarily rhetorical in politics Ethics, Justice and International Relations Peter Sutch, 2013-04-15 This topical and timely book critically explores contemporary liberal international relations theory In the fifty years since the declaration of human rights the language of international relations has come to incorporate the language of justice and injustice The book argues that if justice is to become the governing principle of international politics then liberals must recognise that their political preferences cannot be the preconditions of global ethics The hierarchy of international political ethics must be constructed afresh so that the first principles of justice are accessible to all agents as political and ethical equals This book will be essential reading for students and scholars in politics international relations political theory and ethics

The Eighty Years' Crisis Ken Booth, Michael Cox, Timothy Dunne, 1998 This book uses the agenda of E H Carr and most obviously extends the title of his classic book The Twenty Years Crisis as the point of departure to discuss aspects of the world historical crisis from the end of the First World War until the end of the 1990s This crisis identified by 80 years of destructive wars inequalities in life chances and today's casualties of the global political economy has shaped both the practices of international politics and the way they have been conceptualised and reconceptualised by specialists in International Relations A distinguished group of contributors have written about the development of the academic discipline of International Relations in the inter war years the Cold War and post Cold War eras ethics power and nationalism the conditions of peace and the roles of law and peaceful change and finally considering future prospects about globalization and the end of the old order

Inventing International Society T. Dunne, 1998-08-17 Inventing International Society is a narrative history of the English School of International Relations After E H Carr departed from academic international relations in the late 1940s Martin Wight became the most theoretically innovative scholar in the discipline Wight found an institutional setting for his ideas in The British Committee a group which Herbert Butterfield inaugurated in 1959 The book argues that this date should be regarded as the origin of a distinctive English School of International Relations In addition to tracing the history of the School the book argues that later English School scholars such as Hedley Bull and R J Vincent made a significant contribution to the new normative thinking in International Relations

The Art of World-Making Harry Gould, 2017-06-26 On its face The Art of World Making focuses on honouring the career of Nicholas Greenwood Onuf and his contributions to the study of international relations of equal importance however while using Onuf's work as their touchstone the contributions to this volume range widely across IR theory making important interventions in some of the most important topics in the field today The volume considers the place of Constructivism and Republicanism in the field of international relations and the contestation that accompanies the question of their place in the field asking What explains the dominance of some forms of Constructivism and the relative lack of influence of other forms What can rule oriented Constructivism the focus here provide our field that other forms of Constructivism have been unable to Into what new and productive directions can Constructivism be taken What are its gaps and what are the resources to remedy those gaps What can Republicanism tell us about ongoing issues in international law global governance liberalism and crisis Drawing together essays from some of the leading scholars in the field space is given after each chapter for a detailed and highly personal response piece to each contribution written by Onuf This unique volume will be essential reading for students and scholars of international relations

An Introduction to International Relations Richard Devetak, Anthony Burke, Jim George, 2007-11-13 Leading Australian scholars introduce a range of theories actors issues institutions and processes that animate international relations today

The Global Covenant Robert Jackson, 2000-08-03 The Global Covenant a ground breaking work by one of the leading scholars in international relations rejuvenates the classical international society approach and brings it into contact with the new era of world politics This major study presents a comprehensive analysis of the most important international issues of our time including peace and security war and intervention human rights failed states territories and boundaries and democracy It profitably draws on diplomatic and military history international legal studies and international political theory to address basic methodological questions and to present the elements of a human sciences approach to the study of world politics The Global Covenant endeavors to justify the world wide state system as a foundation of political freedom and envisions the future of international society in the 21st century

International Law and the Cold War Matthew Craven, Sundhya Pahuja, Gerry Simpson, Anna Saunders, 2020 This is the first book to examine in detail the relationship between the Cold War and International Law

Coping and Conformity in World Politics Hugh C. Dyer, 2009-12-16 This book introduces the conceptual frameworks of coping and conformity to provide a new analysis of the ethical and political demands of international life The book also aims to address wider issues of freedom and necessity individualism and communitarianism and cosmopolitanism agency and structure and the legitimacy of governance and institutions
