Reparations Or Confiscation Overdue V. I. Umenyiora, 1999 A Wake-Up Call! V. I. Umenyiora, 2017-03-22 A Wake Up Call was written by V I Umenyiora because we have political problems in Nigeria and indeed Africa My Heads of State from 1980 on made a public pronouncement inviting Nigerians home and abroad to submit solutions they consider will help solve some if not all of the problems I succeeded in this because they are using parts of the solutions I submitted in my previous books Following are some of the major solutions the author proposed In his first publication Nigeria survival or disintegration ISBN 978 2335 28 2 1988 you ll find Option A 4 taken verbatim from the pages he recommended need for finger name reader machines for use to simplify the exercise which is in use now in Nigeria He also proposed a need for a National Orientation programme for Nigeria to be installed in 1992 civil service reform or strengthening to serve the political parties irrespective of which one is in power in the country the need for recapitalisation of banks to help business organisations raise adequate funding for their enterprises to cushion the effect of SAP which not only debased the local currency but truncated all capital investments economically by the citizens He also proposed the need to curb corruption including an asset detection mechanism for Nigeria to help politicians public servants in declaration of assets as required by the Constitution It was pointed out there was a need for a common pool approach in 1988 1989 and 1993 and in particular on the 4th June 2015 correspondence to the president against corruption The author points out that banking reform government corruption affordable housing infrastructure repair and environmental concerns are only some of the problems being faced in Nigeria This is the Challenge to What You Can Do for Your Country Long Overdue Charles P. Henry, 2009-09 In the wake of recent successes in South Africa and New Zealand new models for reparations have recently found traction in a number of American cities and states from Dallas to Baltimore and Virginia to California By looking at other dispossessed group Native Americans holocaust survivors and Japanese internment victims in the 1940s Henry shows how some groups have won the fight for reparations As Hurricane Katrina made apparent the legacy of racial segregation and economic disadvantage is never far below the surface in America Long Overdue provides an up to date survey of the political and legislative efforts that are now breaking the surface to move reparations into the heart of our national discussion about race Past Due Angela Zera Allen , Courtney Carmichael , 2021-10-22 After centuries of theft murder oppression discrimination exclusion and broken promises experienced by Black Americans and American Indians at the hands of the U S government U S courts and many racist White people reparations are due They are past due But why Who is responsible for this reckoning What would it look like These are some of the questions you may be asking yourself In Past Due authors Angie Allen and Courtney Carmichael try to answer these questions as reporters might Drawing on history current factual realities their own personal stories and insights from a wide range of activists writers scholars and other experts they share their findings and experience to help create better understanding Past Due is full of easy to use links to learning more and a roadmap to making reparations

Sweeping government policy and corporate policy change is essential for making reparations But Angie and Courtney hope that Past Due will inspire more White Americans to examine their individual roles past and future Reparations for Victims of Genocide, War Crimes and Crimes against Humanity Carla Ferstman,Mariana Goetz,2020-02-17 Reparations for Victims of Genocide War Crimes and Crimes Against Humanity Systems in Place and Systems in the Making provides a rich tapestry of practice in the complex and evolving field of reparations which cuts across law politics psychology and victimology among other disciplines Ferstman and Goetz bring their long experiences with international organizations and civil society groups to bear This second edition which comes a decade after the first contains updated information and many new chapters and reflections from key experts It considers the challenges for victims to pursue reparations looking from multiple angles at the Holocaust restitution movement and more recent cases in Europe Asia Africa and the Americas It also highlights the evolving practice of international courts and tribunals First published in a hardbound edition this second fully revised and updated edition is now available in paperback Contemporary European History ,2005 Return of Confiscated Property United States.
