whatever you geology gentlemen might say as to what its origin might have been every lover of nature must agree that it is a very beautiful little hill covered as its slopes are with graceful weeping birches and other trees The bushes that still remain show that in earlier times it must have been thickly wooded with great oaks which probably gave shelter to the ould auncient Druids when engaged in their superstitious mysteries At the period to which the greater part of my story belongs that is in and about that of the reign of King James the III the blue smoke that curled up from among the trees betrayed the existence of a cottage that sat perched upon the brow of its western extremity looking towards the Castle of Drummin This little dwelling was much better built and in every respect much neater than any of those in the surrounding district and its interior exhibited more comforts as to furniture and plenishing of all sorts and those too of a description superior to any thing of the kind which a mere cottager might have been reasonably expected to have possessed
