Learning to Live Together David A. Hamburg, Beatrix A. Hamburg, 2004 With a view to deepening our understanding of sources of hatred and prejudice this book uses a developmental and evolutionary perspective to explore and explain the process by which our beliefs are conveyed to the youngest members of society Discussing the psychological obstacles to peaceful relations between groups the authors focus on the developmental processes by which we can work to diminish ethnocentrism prejudice and hatred which children learn from a very early age Until now scholarship and practice in international relations have gravely neglected crucial psychological aspects of these terrible problems and have not yet explored the educational opportunities related to them Addressing these promising lines of inquiry and innovation this book fosters a more humane and less violent development in childhood and adolescence Educators religious leaders developmental and social psychologists will find this a valuable resource as will a socially concerned segment of the public who are looking for practical ways to work for peace

Infancy to Early Childhood Robert N. Emde, John K. Hewitt, 2001-04-19 Behavioral genetics is a fast growing multidisciplinary field which attempts to explain the influence of genetic and environmental factors on behavior through the lifespan The preferred investigative technique for teasing out the differences between genetics and the environment is the longitudinal twin study This book is the first complete publication from the MacArthur Longitudinal Twin Study MALTS that is by far the most ambitious and comprehensive longitudinal twin study to date The goal of such an in depth study was not to merely provide thorough descriptions of developmental change between the ages of one and three years but to offer an original theoretical framework that explains how change occurs in different domains and how genetics and the environment influence those changes This rigorous study will set the agenda for developmental psychology and behavioral genetics for decades to come

UnSelfie Michele Borba, 2016-06-07 Hailed as an absolute must read Jean Twenge and a book that will change your kids lives Jack Canfield UnSelfie by Dr Michele Borba explains what parents and educators MUST do to combat the growing empathy crisis among children today including a 9 step empathy building program with tips to guide kids from birth through college and beyond Teens today are forty percent less empathetic than they were thirty years ago Why is a lack of empathy which goes hand in hand with the self absorption epidemic Dr Michele Borba calls the Selfie Syndrome so dangerous First it hurts kids academic performance and leads to bullying behaviors Also it correlates with more cheating and less resilience And once children grow up a lack of empathy hampers their ability to collaborate innovate and problem solve all must have skills for the global economy In UnSelfie Dr Borba pinpoints the forces causing the empathy crisis and shares a revolutionary researched based nine step plan for reversing it The good news Empathy is a trait that can be taught and nurtured Dr Borba offers a framework for parenting that yields the results we all want successful happy kids who also are kind moral courageous and resilient UnSelfie is a blueprint for parents and educators who want to kids shift their focus from I me and mine to we us and ours

Socioemotional Development in the Toddler Years Celia A. Brownell, Claire B. Kopp, 2010-06-03 This volume explores the key developmental transitions that take place as 1 to 3 year olds leave infancy behind and begin to develop the social and emotional knowledge skills and regulatory abilities of early childhood Leading investigators examine the multiple interacting factors that lead to socioemotional competence in this pivotal period covering both typical and atypical development Presented is innovative research that has yielded compelling insights into toddlers relationships emotions play communication prosocial behavior self control autonomy and attempts to understand themselves and others The final chapter presents a systematic framework for socioemotional assessment
