Long Waves Of Regional Development:

Long Waves of Regional Development Michael Marshall, 1985 Long Waves of Growth, Hegemonic Power, and Climate Change in the World Economy Phillip Anthony O'Hara, 2025-10-02 This book investigates eras of major geopolitical and socioeconomic power development relative demise and potential renewal for four major political economies. It concentrates on the Dutch Golden Age of the late 1500s and 1600s, British hegemony of the 1800s, Pax Americana of the 1900s, and Chinese potential hegemony of the 2000s, as well as long wave patterns of change over successive centuries to the present and to some degree into the future. Dutch, British, US, and Chinese economies are situated within patterns of long term successive rise and fall and fall and rise of economic growth, hegemony, and climate change in the world political economy, including linkages between core, periphery, and semi periphery. Patterns of multiple crises tend to appear in between hegemonic periods, and climate change often undergoes complex dynamics through time while currently climate anomalies are emerging during mostly long wave downswings and polycrises in the world economy. Contemporary themes of the book include the ongoing competition for world domination between the US and China, the conflict over Ukraine, Taiwan, that some think may generate world war 3, the climate change crisis that continues to plague the world, and whether the world and its major economies are likely to undergo a Golden Age into the future. Chapter 7 of this book on US hegemony and long waves includes extracts of material that won the Myrdal Prize for Book of the Year Prize from EAEPE, as well as Journal Article of the Year from Curtin Business School. Ideas from parts of Chapter 9 emanate from a volume that won Book of the Year Award from CBS. A climate change paper that won Journal Article of the Year Awards from EAEPE and CBS informed ideas that are used in several parts of this book. The book outlines key stylized facts from the analysis and presents hypotheses for further investigation on the relationship between long term growth, hegemony, and climate change. The book uses the work of Kondratiev, Schumpeter, and company, themes in economic history, modern political economy schools, and the principles of political economy contingency paradigm to reformulate long wave hegemony and climate change hypotheses and empirics.

Local and Regional Development Andy Pike, Andrés Rodríguez-Pose, John Tomaney, Andrés Rodríguez-Pose, 2006-11-22 Local and regional development is an increasingly global issue. For localities and regions, the challenge of enhancing prosperity, improving wellbeing, and increasing living standards has become acute. For localities and regions formerly considered discrete parts of the developed and developing worlds, amid concern over the definitions and sustainability of development, a spectre has emerged of deepened unevenness and sharpened inequalities in the development prospects for particular social groups and territories. Local and Regional Development engages and addresses the key questions: what are the principles and values that shape definitions and strategies of local and regional development? What are the conceptual and theoretical frameworks capable of understanding and interpreting local and regional development? What are the main policy interventions and instruments? How do localities and regions attempt to effect development in practice? What kinds of local and regional development should we be pursuing This book addresses the fundamental issues of what kind of local and regional development and for whom frameworks of understanding and instruments and policies It outlines what a holistic progressive and sustainable local and regional development might constitute before reflecting on its limits and political renewal With the growing international importance of local and regional development this book is an essential student purchase illustrated throughout with maps figures and case studies from Asia Europe and Central and North America

The Long-Wave Debate Tibor Vasko,2013-03-09 The proceedings reflect the state of the art of long term fluctuations in economic growth as well as discussing promising areas of research in this field The unique combination of participants from East and West including the People s Republic of China is a guarantee for wide coverage and unusual insights The problems treated range from the identification of long term fluctuations in developing and developed countries in both East and West to their relationship to important economic variables profit prices money supply Particular attention is focused on structural changes and the role of technological development in the light of the long term fluctuation concept It is interesting to follow the treatment of this issue by scientists with different orientations The role of financial and monetary variables is also analyzed by leading researchers in the field Frontiers in Regional Development Y. Gradus,Harvey Lithwick,1996 In fifteen insightful new essays noted scholars in geography economics and public policy provide a comparative examination of the problems and prospects for development in frontier areas Blending theory with case studies the essays challenge the widely held notion that peripheral areas are marginal or backward Long Waves Od Regional Development Michael

Marshall,1987 New Firms and Regional Development in Europe David Keeble,Egbert Wever,2016-07-15 When originally published in 1986 this book was one of the first to deal solely with the urban and regional incidence and development implications of new firm formation in particular EU countries It reviews the extent of and reasons for geographical variation in numbers of new firms examines the nature of such firms and assesses the regional impact and policy implications in various EC countries Regional Development and Decentralization Policy in South Korea Ludwig Schätzl,Karin Wessel,Yong-Woo Lee,1997 This book investigates the interdependent relations between economic development regional development and spatial economic policy in newly industrialized countries using South Korea as a case study The analysis concentrates on three aspects a long term economic restructuring starting with labour intensive production followed by capital intensive and finally human capital and technology intensive production b the effects of the economic transformation process on regional development and c the significance of spatial economic policy for sectoral and regional economic restructuring Regional Planning John Glasson,Tim Marshall,2007-11-21 This comprehensive introduction to the concepts and theory of regional planning in the UK Drawing on examples from throughout the UK is the essential up to date text for students interested in all aspects of this increasingly influential subject Global Challenge and Local Response Walter B. Stöhr,1990 The volume grew out of research undertaken as a part of the UN University s

European Perspectives Project It addresses the consequences of the failure of large scale industrial enterprise and the inability of central government policies to cope with the results of economic restructuring in a series of comparative case studies showing how local communities throughout Europe East and West rural and industrial have responded to economic dislocation and decline and how these local initiatives have become the basis for economic regeneration Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Long Waves Or Catastrophes in Regional Development Peter Nijkamp,1982 Handbook of Regional Innovation and Growth Philip Cooke,Bjørn Asheim,Ron Boschma,Ron Martin,Dafna Schwartz,Franz Tötting,2011-01-01 Today economic growth is widely understood to be conditioned by productivity increases which are in turn profoundly affected by innovation This volume explores these key relationships between innovation and growth bringing together experts from both fields to compile a unique Handbook The Handbook considers innovation from fresh perspectives encompassing topics such as services innovation inward investment and innovation creative industry innovation and green innovation It is divided into seven sections dealing with regional innovation and growth theory dynamics evolution agglomeration innovation worlds innovation system institutions and innovation governance and policy This definitive compendium on regional innovation and growth will undoubtedly appeal to teachers students researchers and practitioners of innovation and growth dynamics worldwide

Growth and Development in the Global Political Economy Phillip O'Hara,2004-03-01 Recent institutional changes have seen the increasing dominance of globalization and neoliberalism in the world economy As markets have been deregulated privatization and unproductive government spending have been promoted Yet the greater volatility of capitals the emergence of many financial crises a decline in trust and environmental problems have cast doubt on the effectiveness of neoliberal globalization This book studies the impact of neoliberal globalization on growth and development in the world economy It scrutinizes whether new social structures of accumulation or modes of regulation have emerged to promote long term socioeconomic performance in the global economy during the early years of the twenty first century Special reference is given to the specific performance of neoliberal governance transnational corporations global institutions of money trade and production international relations of war and terrorism financial institutions and the family community environment It is a comprehensive analysis of the degree to which institutional development has managed to promote socioeconomic performance in the global economy It also presents a thorough policy program of action for long wave upswing in the world economy It will be especially useful for those scholars and students concerned with issues of governance global political economy institutions and macroeconomics

Transportation, Knowledge and Space in Urban and Regional Economics Kakuya Matsushima,William P. Anderson,2018-04-27 This collection of 16 original research chapters by international scholars addresses the complementary roles of transportation and knowledge and their spatial manifestations in modern urban and regional economies The authors provide research from North America Europe and Asia While the studies employ sophisticated methods and theory there is a strong element of practical applications and policy implications in each chapter as well This book will be of interest to communities of research and practice in urban and regional economics and planning regional science and economic geography transportation research planning and management and the knowledge economy

Paths of Enterprise James Curran,Robert A. Blackburn,2005-08-04 While small scale enterprise has expanded rapidly in recent years the way ahead looks uncertain Drawing together recent research and thinking on small business activities from several disciplines this book gives a comprehensive picture of the current situation and assesses the future It evaluates the impact of such diverse influences as technological innovation demographic change changes in orgh environment women and entrepreneurship and by analysing trends in employment levels banking policies and government schemes it explores ways to survive in an increasingly hostile environment

Regional Development in an Age of Structural Economic Change Piet Rietveld,Daniel Shefer,2024-02-22 First published in 1999 this volume addresses various themes in regional development studies from the perspective of structural economic change Particular attention is paid to factors having long run implications for regional development such as innovation and knowledge production Innovation and research and development activities appear to take place at particular locations This has implications for long run spatial and sectoral developments Another factor is transport infrastructure its impact on efficiency and equity is surveyed Other themes covered relate to the role of tourism and adjustments in urban economies The books aims to offer a balance between modelling and non modelling approaches In addition to country specific contributions some are offered at the European level

Broadening Our Knowledge on Cluster Evolution Dirk Fornahl,Robert Hassink,Max-Peter Menzel,2018-02-02 Although clusters are regarded as important elements in economic development the strong focus in the literature on the way clusters function is contrasted with a disregard for their evolutionary development how clusters actually become clusters how and why they decline and how they shift into new fields and transform over time Although recently new cluster life cycle approaches emerged both empirical evidence and theoretical contributions on this topic are still limited This book therefore contributes to broadening our knowledge on the life cycle and evolution of clusters both empirically and theoretically It contains chapters on inter firm relations as drivers of cluster transformation as well as chapters on the heterogeneity of firms and firm capabilities during cluster evolution and on the role of institutions in stimulating the emergence and growth of clusters Case studies stem from different industries and technologies such as biogas film and television new media and medical technologies and from different countries such as Sweden Austria Switzerland and South Korea All chapters underline that cluster evolution does not only depend on internal dynamics but that external relations are an integral part of cluster dynamics This book was previously published as a special issue of European Planning Studies

OECD Regional Development Studies Regional Competitiveness and Skills OECD,1997-12-12 Regional policies are increasingly focusing on human resources and their orientation towards market demand and improvement of partnerships This volume casts a new light on these issues providing a useful source of information and inspiration for regional actors and their national partners
