This book systematically discusses the academic connotations of the concept of Modern Chinese Literature as well as its basic categories. The discipline founded upon this concept is influential both in China and throughout the world, and scholars engaged in teaching and research in this field number around ten thousand. The discipline was originally established in haste in an abnormal academic environment and with the passage of time such derivative disciplines as Contemporary Chinese Literature, 20th Century Chinese Literature, the Literature of Taiwan, Hong Kong and Macau, and World Chinese Literature have appeared. This book argues that these fields should be united in the area of New Literature in Chinese because they have a shared language, culture, and tradition. In today's multi-polar world where Chinese literature is so diversified, such an approach is obviously helpful.

Translating Chinese Art and Modern Literature Yifeng Sun, Chris Song, 2019-02-25

Translating Chinese Art and Modern Literature examines issues in cross-cultural dialogue in connection with translation and modern Chinese art and literature from interdisciplinary perspectives. This comprises the text-image dialogue in the context of Chinese modernity and cross-cultural interaction between modern literature in Chinese and other literatures. This edited collection approaches these issues with discrete foci and approaches, and the ten chapters in this volume are to be divided into two distinct parts. The first part highlights the mutual effects between literary texts and visual images in the media of book, painting, and film, and the second part includes contributions by scholars of literary translation.

A Companion to Modern Chinese Literature Yingjin Zhang, 2015-08-13. This wide-ranging Companion provides a vital overview of modern Chinese literature in different geopolitical areas from the 1840s to now. It reviews major accomplishments of Chinese literary scholarship published in Chinese and English and brings attention to previously neglected important areas. Offers the most thorough and concise coverage of modern Chinese literature to date, drawing attention to previously neglected areas such as late Qing Sinophone and ethnic minority literature. Several chapters explore literature in relation to Sinophone geopolitics, regional culture, urban culture, visual culture, print media, and new media. The introduction and two chapters furnish overviews of the institutional development of modern Chinese literature in Chinese and English scholarship since the mid-twentieth century. Contributions from leading literary scholars in mainland China and Hong Kong add their voices to international scholarship.

The Bloomsbury Handbook of Modern Chinese Literature in Translation Cosima Bruno, Lucas Klein, Chris Song, 2023-10-19. Offering the first systematic overview of modern and contemporary Chinese literature from a translation studies perspective, this handbook provides students, researchers, and teachers with a context in which to read and appreciate the effects of linguistic and cultural transfer in Chinese literary works. Translation matters. It always has, of course, but more so when we want to reap the benefits of intercultural communication. In many universities, Chinese literature in English translation is taught as if it had been written in English. As a result, students submit what they read to their own cultural expectations; they do not read in translation and do not attend to the protocols of knowing, engagements, and contestations that bind literature and society to each other. The Bloomsbury Handbook of Modern Chinese Literature in Translation squarely addresses this pedagogical lack Organised in a tripartite structure around considerations of textual social and large scale spatial and historical circumstances its thirty plus essays each deal with a theme of translation studies as emerged from the translation of one or more Chinese literary works In doing so it offers new tools for reading and appreciating modern and contemporary Chinese literature in the global context of its translation offering in depth studies about eminent Chinese authors and their literary masterpieces in translation The first of its kind this book is essential reading for anyone studying or researching Chinese literature in translation

A Comparison Between Ancient and Modern Literature of China Leila B. Stuart, 1975

Contemporary China David Der-wei Wang, Dewei Wang, 2020-11-14 Contemporary discussions of China tend to focus on politics and economics giving Chinese culture little if any attention Why Fiction Matters in Contemporary China offers a corrective revealing the crucial role that fiction plays in helping contemporary Chinese citizens understand themselves and their nation Where history fails to address the consequences of man made and natural atrocities David Der Wei Wang argues fiction arises to bear witness to the immemorial and unforeseeable Beginning by examining President Xi Jinping's call in 2013 to tell the good China story Wang illuminates how contemporary Chinese cultural politics have taken a fictional turn which can trace its genealogy to early modern times He does so by addressing a series of discourses by critics within China including Liang Qichao Lu Xun and Shen Congwen as well as critics from the West such as Arendt Benjamin and Deleuze Wang highlights the variety and vitality of fictional works from China as well as the larger Sinophone world ranging from science fiction to political allegory erotic escapade to utopia and dystopia The result is an insightful account of contemporary China one that affords countless new insights and avenues for understanding
