Questions of Tradition Mark Salber Phillips, Mark Phillips, Gordon J. Schochet, 2004-01-01 Tradition is a central concern for a wide range of academic disciplines interested in problems of transmitting culture across generations Yet the concept itself has received remarkably little analysis A substantial literature has grown up around the notion of invented tradition but no clear concept of tradition is to be found in these writings since the very notion of invented tradition presupposes a prior concept of tradition and is empty without one this debunking usage has done as much to obscure the idea as to clarify it In the absence of a shared concept the various disciplines have created their own vocabularies to address the subject Useful as they are these specialized vocabularies of which the best known include hybridity canonicity diaspora paradigm and contact zones separate the disciplines and therefore necessarily create only a collection of parochial and disjointed approaches Until now there has been no concerted attempt to put the various disciplines in conversation with one another around the problem of tradition Combining discussions of the idea of tradition by major scholars from a variety of disciplines with synoptic synthesizing essays Questions of Tradition will initiate a renewal of interest in this vital subject

The Origins and Development of African Theology Gwinyai H. Muzorewa, 2000-04-05 The Origins and Development of African theology is a very informative survey of African theology over approximately the last twenty years The author is widely read on the subject as far as English publications go and highlights the salient issues with balanced objectivity The literature both as discussed in the substance of the book and in the bibliography is also a valuable source for further study of African theology John Mbiti author of Prayers of African Religion

General History of Africa International Scientific Committee for the drafting of a General History of Africa, 1985-12-31 One of UNESCO's most important publishing projects in the last thirty years the General History of Africa marks a major breakthrough in the recognition of Africa's cultural heritage Offering an internal perspective of Africa the eight volume work provides a comprehensive approach to the history of ideas civilizations societies and institutions of African history The volumes also discuss historical relationships among Africans as well as multilateral interactions with other cultures and continents      African Americans in Global Affairs Michael L. Clemons, 2010 A long overdue introduction to the multifaceted nature of African American participation in global affairs      Reclaiming the Human Sciences and Humanities Through African Perspectives Helen Lauer, Kofi Anyidoho, 2012 This compilation was inspired by an international symposium held on the Legon campus in September 2003 Hosted by the CODESRIA African Humanities Institute Programme the symposium had the theme Canonical Works and Continuing Innovation in African Arts Humanities      The International Journal of African Historical Studies, 1986      Guarding the Guardians Mathurin C. Houngnikpo, 2016-04-22 The relationship between civil society and the armed forces is an essential part of any polity democratic or otherwise because a military force is after all a universal feature of social systems Despite significant progress moving towards democracy among some African countries in the past decade all too many African militaries have yet to accept core democratic principles regulating civilian authority over the military This book explores the theory of civil military relations and moves on to review the intrusion of the armed forces in African politics by looking first into the organization and role of the army in pre colonial and colonial eras before examining contemporary armies and their impact on society Furthermore it revisits the various explanations of military takeovers in Africa and disentangles the notion of the military as the modernizing force Whether as a revolutionary force as a stabilizing force or as a modernizing force the military has often been perceived as the only organized and disciplined group with the necessary skills to uplift newly independent nations The performance of Africa's military governments since independence however has soundly disproven this thesis As such this study conveys the necessity of new civil military relations in Africa and calls not just for civilian control of the military but rather a democratic oversight of the security forces in Africa      Civil War and Democracy in West Africa David Harris, 2011-12-13 In the aftermath of explosive civil wars in Africa during the 1990s and 2000s the establishment of multi party elections has often been heralded by the West as signaling the culmination of the conflict and the beginning of a period of democratic rule However the outcomes of these elections are very rarely uniform with just as many countries returning to conflict as not Here David Harris uses the examples of Sierra Leone and Liberia to examine the nexus of international and domestic politics in these post conflict elections In doing so he comes to the conclusion that it is political rather than legal solutions that are more likely to enhance any positive political change that has emerged from the violence This book is thus of significance to Western and African policy makers and also to students and scholars who wish to engage with the critical issues of conflict resolution and reconciliation both in Sierra Leone and Liberia in particular and in the wider region in general      African Mythology Christiano Farrezi, African mythology is a vast and complex field that encompasses the myths legends and spiritual beliefs of numerous cultures across the continent Unlike mythologies from other parts of the world that often center around a single pantheon or narrative African mythology is a tapestry of stories that vary widely among regions tribes and languages These myths serve not only as captivating tales but also as the foundation for many African cultural values ethics and social norms Through mythology African societies have historically explained the mysteries of the universe human existence and the relationship between the physical and spiritual realms The myths often act as a bridge that connects the people to their ancestors guiding them through life s challenges reinforcing traditions and celebrating the wonders of nature and the supernatural Myths hold a central place in African culture weaving through every aspect of life from religious practices and ceremonies to moral lessons and social structures They serve as more than just entertainment they are the backbone of cultural identity teaching values history and spiritual wisdom In many African communities myths are used to instill societal values such as respect bravery honesty and the importance of community over individualism These stories also shape the rituals and ceremonies that mark significant life events including birth initiation into adulthood marriage and death Myths give people a sense of belonging and identity linking them to their ancestors land and the unseen forces that govern their world Through these narratives individuals are reminded of their place in a larger cosmic order where human actions and natural elements are interconnected

Destination Africa, 2021-07-05 This work challenges received ideas of Africa as a marginal continent and place of exodus by considering the continent as a centre of global connectivity and confluence Flows of people goods and investments towards Africa have increased and diversified over recent decades In light of these changes the contributions analyse new actors in such diverse fields as education trade infrastructure and tourism They show the historicity of many current mobilities towards Africa and investigate questions of agency and power in shaping encounters between Africans and others in Africa today In this way the volume contributes significantly to debates on Africa s position in global mobility dynamics and provides a firm basis for further research Contributors are G rard Amougou Alice Aterianus Owanga Eric Burton Jean Fr d ric de Hasque Mayke Kaag Guive Khan Mohammad Fabien Nkot Miriam Adelina Ocadiz Arriaga Ute R schenthaler Alexandra Samokhvalova Stefan Schmid Sophia Thubauville Di Wu I, Too, Am America Theresa A. Singleton, 1999 The moral mission archaeology set in motion by black activists in the 1960s and 1970s sought to tell the story of Americans particularly African Americans forgotten by the written record Today the archaeological study of African American life is no longer simply an effort to capture unrecorded aspects of black history or to exhume the heritage of a neglected community Archaeologists now recognize that one cannot fully comprehend the European colonial experience in the Americas without understanding its African counterpart This collection of essays reflects and extends the broad spectrum of scholarship arising from this expanded definition of African American archaeology treating such issues as the analysis and representation of cultural identity race gender and class cultural interaction and change relations of power and domination and the sociopolitics of archaeological practice I Too Am America expands African American archaeology into an inclusive historical vision and identifies promising areas for future study

Religion and Global Politics Sheriff Folarin, Olusola Ogunnubi, 2022-06-21 Religion and Global Politics Soft Power in Nigeria and Beyond examines the deployment of religious soft power in African states and the potential it has for transforming perceptions of the continent The contributors refocus the attention on religion away from the misery discourse of conflict and violence towards the domain of international relations diplomacy and foreign policy in Africa Through this shift the contributors analyze the ways in which religion has impacted the external relations of African states Religion and Global Politics introduces the theme of religion to the discourse of African international relations and politics to provide a thorough examination of religion s influence on politics in the daily lives of African people Japan-Africa Relations T.
